Parking Reform Urged

In an effort to lessen the congested parking situation in Zebulon Tom Monk, President of the local Chamber of Commerce, has written the following letter urging merchants and professional men to park in off-street parking areas behind their places of business:

Shopping Aid

"To make our town a more convenient place in which to shop, it is requested that all business and professional men begin parking their cars in back of their stores or in off street parking areas. By everyone cooperating in this way more parking space will be available for our customers when they visit our town or drive uptown for shopping. It is further requested that all business and professional men encourage their employees to park their cars in the same manner.

Improvement Predicted

"In a very short while I feel certain that your customers will comment on the ease in parking in the town of Zebulon."

Whitestone Lodge Passes Resolution Praising H. Eddins

Departed from this life February 10, 1955. Whereas God has seen fit to call to his eternal reward Brother Hubert Eddins, we bow in humble submission to His will knowing that He doeth all things well.

Brother Eddins was an outstanding Mason and his memory will live on in White Stone Masonic Lodge No. 155 A. F. & A. M. He instructed numberless candidates in the rites of the secrets of masonry who will carry on where Brother Hubert left off.

Brother Hubert you have instilled into young masons that you have coached an eternal monument to your memory that will be more enduring than one carved from stone. Every one you taught masonry to will be a living monument to teach others who are following and tell of your untiring efforts to help those who needed your help.

Would that you could have been present with us when we assembled together to pay our last tribute of respect and to lay away your earthy body back to mother earth who gave it.

Large Group Present

No greater crowd of Masons ever assembled in your lodge in the memory of a departing Brother. Many came from other Lodges to pay their last respects to you and to take part in the funeral rites.

Not only have you trained others, you have three sons who are Past Master Masons and son-in-laws who are Masons too. You held honored offices in our district.

A host of friends and the array of lovely flowers spoke an expression of love and sympathy.

Brother Hubert, when our time comes to join you over there we feel like that you will be waiting to welcome us with the Grand Honors of Masonry. A true Mason is a Christian.

Brother Eddins is survived by a devoted wife, three sons, five daughters, and seven grand children.

Scouts to Participate In Circus at Fairgrounds

Plans are being made for a large boy scout circus in Raleigh, said local Scoutmaster James Debnam last Friday.

All scout troops in the Oconee-chie Council will congregate at the State Fair grounds Saturday, April 23, for the annual affair.

Troops in this area are now choosing projects which they will undertake that day.

The local troop will attempt to erect a camp table and a rope making machine.

There are many other projects too that will be undertaken by other troops, and among these are the building of one and two lash bridges and the making of special fire-igniting equipment.

Since preparations are already underway for the circus other scout activity will be less than usual this month, according to Mr. Debnam, although the local troop is planning to make arrowhead kerchief slides, hoping to have them completed by April.

The boys will spend much time in March cutting down timber and hewing the logs into proper length and shape for the circus.

Roberts Farm on Pool Road Named As Mystery Place

Bill Roberts and Sam Hall, current tenants of the M. T. Roberts' farm on Pool Road one mile west of Wendell, are planning to irrigate this year and have recently developed three ponds as water sources.

The Roberts' place was pictured as No. 29 of the Msytery Farm series in last Tuesday's Record and was identified Wednesday by Carl Kemp, employee of the J. M. Chevrolet Co. in Zebulon.

Mrs. M. T. Roberts, still living at the old homeplace, moved there forty-five years ago with her husband. The land was already under plow at that time and was known as the old Anderson place.

The home now is a large house surrounded by wide fields, gently rolling, and looking across the highway to rows of tobacco barns and more fields, all of which are part of the farm.

Mrs. Roberts is the mother of eight children, six boys and two girls. They are Bradley, Rudolph, Waddell, Ed Jones, Bill, Clarence, Mrs. Frances Ferrell and Mrs. Rachel Wadford.

Clarence Roberts, the youngest son, an employee of the Liggett-Myers Tob. Co., is still a resident of the home.

Mrs. Roberts, although claiming no hobbies—"just follow the usual routine," she said—is kept busy with her membership in the Farm Bureau, the Grange, Eastern Star, Mother's Circle, Missionary Society and the Methodist Church in Wendell.

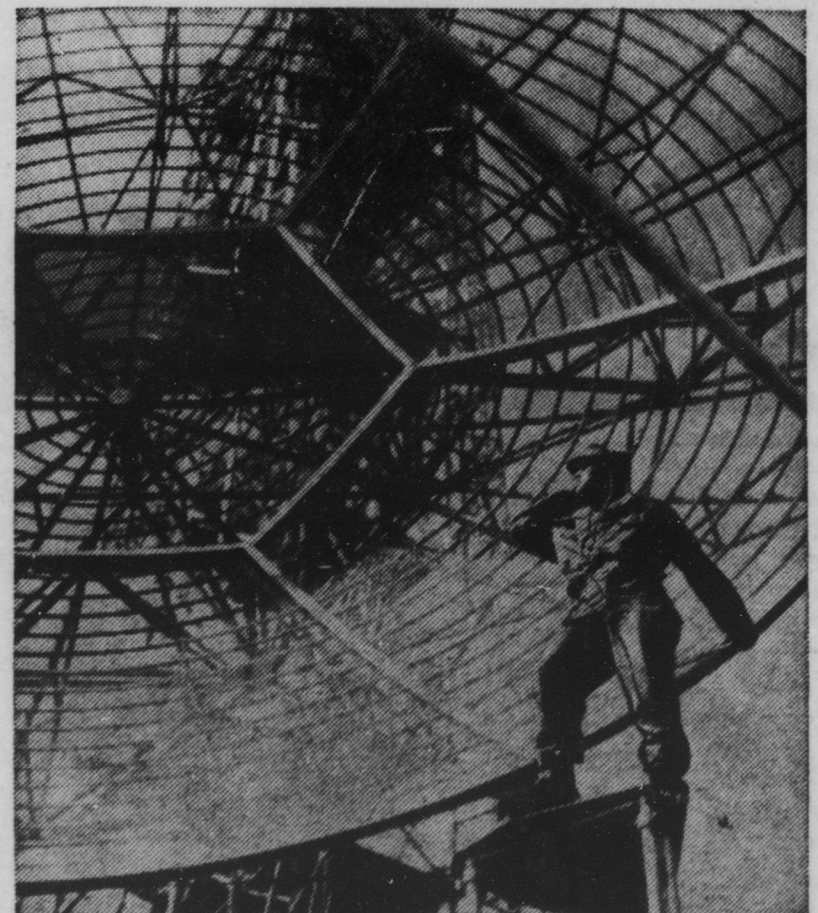

Tillage methods on the 183 acre farm include the use of one mule and a tractor.

Principal crops are tobacco and corn, and less frequently cotton.
