Homes Equal Highways In Accidents, Lions Told

Dr. Charles Camerson of the State Board of Health told the local Lions Club last Thursday night in Wakelon cafeteria that as many accidents occur in the home as on the highway.

Calling casualties in the home "unnoticed accidents" because of the quality of glamour associated with highway calamities (sirens, whistles, high speeds and such), the speaker named several inter-related factors that contribute to the domestic death and injury toll.

Some of these factors, he said, concern socio-economic background, psychological makeup and domestic hazards.

Background Important

These factors, according to Dr. Camerson, are interrelated because one's background might contribute to psychological negligence. Because of temperament a person could be not only negligent in leaving hazards about, but psychologically he could be less alert to these hazards; in this manner he might be more liable to a serious accident which could result in permanent injury or death.

Also in this connection, he said, a person's temperament might cause him to become incensed with his wife, take to the highway in an anguished state and kill or maim someone by driving recklessly.

Further emphasizing the importance of socio-economic background with respect to accidents, the speaker said that, for example, the accident rate is higher among the colored than among the white, higher in large families than in small families, higher among the poor than among the rich.

Much Poisoning

Factor contributing predominately to the death of children between the ages of one and five is poisoning he declared, pointing out that parents often left harmful substances within reach of their children, such as floor wax, cosmetics and aspirin.

Only cancer and heart disease cause more deaths than accidents in the home, he told the group.

Ed Hales, chairman of the local school board, appeared at the meeting, and urged support of the forthcoming School Appreciation Night, April 26.

Roland Gaddy, new member of the club who replaced Bill Marley at Carolina Power and Light Company here, was presented his Lions International pin by Mayor Worth Hinton.

Legion Auxiliary to Sell Poppies In Community Saturday, May 28

By Mrs. Dabney Gill

Memorial poppies which will be worn here on Poppy Day, May 28, to honor the nation's war dead have been received by the American Legion Auxiliary from Fayetteville where they were made by disabled war veterans.

The bright red flowers are made of crepe paper with wire stems in replica of the wild poppies of Europe which bloomed "between the crosses, row on row" of World War cemeteries in France and Belgium.

Source of Revenue

Funds derived from the poppy sale constitute the largest source of revenue for the rehabilitation and child welfare work of the American Legion Auxiliary.

The dimes, quarters and dollars dropped into the contribution boxes Saturday, May 28—Poppy Day, will enable the Auxiliary to carry out a constructive program of aid to the disabled and to the dependent families of veterans throughout the year. Poppy Day is the one day when the public is privileged to contribute towards this great work.

All for Welfare

When the American Legion Auxiliary adopted the poppy it pledged the profits 100 percent to welfare relief for service men and women and their families, thus fulfilling the true meaning of the poppy, an emblem of faith, faith which is being kept with all who died, through service to the living.

So won't you, the public, help us on this one day to keep this faith with those who gave so very much. Wear a Poppy to Honor the Dead and Aid the Disabled.

Interest Picks Up in Board of Commissioners Race; Frank Wall, Bunn Issue Statements

Politics picked up considerably in Zebulon this week.

Two candidates for the Board of Commissioners here, Frank Wall and W. B. Bunn, had statements yesterday regarding the personal reasons for their candidacy.

Other candidates, Philip Massey, G. K. Corbett, and Vance Brown—although thus far having issued no formal comment, expressed the hope yesterday that townspeople will give them an opportunity for service on the Board on election day, next Tuesday.

Bunn's Statement

"I am offering myself as a candidate for the office of Town

Commissioner of Zebulon because I believe that my experience will be beneficial to the town.

"If our town prospers, we all prosper. We rise and fall upon our decisions, if elected. I will render my best judgment to all issues that come before us.

"I will appreciate the vote of any person eligible to vote. I would be especially for the little man, because if he doesn't make good, then our whole economy drops into an abyss. Then none of us can make a living.

"Believing in God, and treating your fellow man as you would have him treat you — this rule applied has meant to me whatever partial success I have had. Whether elected or not, I intend to stand on this rule.

"I urge everyone to vote for his choice of candidates next Tuesday, May 3."

Wall's Statement

"Monday, April 25, I filed for reelection as town commissioner, pending the election on May 3.

"I had said previously that I would not be a candidate in this election, and I had meant that in all honesty and sincerity.

"It now seems, on the surface, that I have been insincere. However, this is not the case, in that my decision to run was made only Monday. I had not deliberately withheld my candidacy with any intention of filing at the last minute.

McFAYDEN SPEAKS

School Appreciation Night Is Held

Henry McFayden, director of research and publicity for the N. C. Education Association, told some two hundred persons attending the School Appreciation Night program last Tuesday in Wakelon cafeteria that our public school system is the "most wonderful discovery" ever made.

Mr. McFayden was the principal speaker at the event which was sponsored by the local school board, preparatory to a visitation by an evaluating committee representing the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools next year.

The speaker said that much has been expected in the past from public schools, much has been received, but that much will have to be given in the future, citing the teacher shortage as our greatest handicap.

He said that one million children are enrolled in the public schools of North Carolina today and that in five years there will be an increase of one-hundred fifty thousand students. Teachers are not being trained in accordance with the future demand.

A former principal of Albemarle High School, Mr. McFayden referred to his experience there explaining that a school is almost a perfect cross-section of any town and is no better or worse than its community.

Our "dream" in this country, he said, is achievement of an equality of persons, indicating that this dream, although short of fulfillment, comes near the ideal in public school.

Persons attending the banquet heard a report by Principal Franklin Jones preceding the talk by Mr. McFayden in which he commended local teachers for their work during the past year, thanked local businesses for their support of various school projects and (See McFAYDEN, Page 8)

CHURCHES PLAN ZEBULON RELIGIOUS CENSUS

The Baptists and Methodists of the Zebulon Community are taking a Friendly Community Census this Sunday afternoon, May 1. The ministers are asking the townsfolk to stay at home until one of the census-takers comes to your home.

Those helping with the census are asked to meet promptly at 2:00 o'clock at the Methodist Church for instruction and assignment. After covering their section they are to report back to the church.

Leatherman Coming

Monday through Thursday at 8:00 each evening the Rev. Harold Leatherman of Knightdale will preach in the Revival Services at the Zebulon Methodist Church.

There will be a nursery for the babies, songs and stories for the children and good preaching and singing for all.

Neighborhood prayer meetings have been held in preparation for this week of services.

Revival Services

Revival Services at the Zebulon Methodist Church will get under way Sunday evening at 7:30 when a group from Louisburg College will present a program especially for the young people and their parents, but of interest to everyone. The Rev. Wade Goldston, Pro- (See CENSUS, Page 8)
