Ruth Temple Is Winner Of High 4-H Club Honor

Ruth Temple, 19 year old daughter of Mr. J. M. Temple of Route 1, Zebulon, has recently been awarded one of the highest honors to be earned by a 4-H Club Member. She is the winner of the Danforth Foundation Scholarship to attend the two weeks Danforth Camp, Camp Miniwana, at Stony Lake, Michigan, August 1-14.

Ruth received the award on the basis of her leadership and accomplishments in her 4-H Club work, school, church, and community. During her two weeks stay in Michigan on the shore of the beautiful Lake Michigan, she will be associating with girls ages 16-21 from all parts of the United States and Canada. The purpose of the camp is to offer four fold development training; mentally, physically, socially, spiritually. The camp was formed and is sponsored by Mr. William H. Danforth, President of the Purina Chow Company in Kansas City, Missouri.

Ruth's leadership record is very outstanding. She has been president of her local 4-H club for three years and is currently president of the Wake County 4-H County Council. She has held other offices in her club and county such as secretary, reporter, committee chairman and junior leader. In her school work, she was Student Council President, president of her local chapter of F.H.A. and County Chapter. She has held offices in her class. In her church work, Ruth teaches Sunday School, directs the Junior Choir, serves as Assistant Church Pianist and Organist, and was local and sub-district President of M.Y.F. Units. These are only a few of the many activities Ruth has led and with her ability many North Carolinians will receive great values from her experiences in Michigan.

As she boards her plane at Raleigh-Durham Airport on July 31, Ruth will be traveling unded the sponsorship of the Zebulon Farm Bureau and the Zebulon Rotary Club. These two organizations presented her checks to cover the round-trip plane fare.

Christian Advocate Sent Methodists

The Zebulon Methodist Church is sending the North Carolina Christian Advocate to every family in the church. The Advocate is the church paper published each week.

The purpose of sending the Advocate to each family is to get the members more mindful of the church and of its total program.

This item was placed in the over-all budget of the church. When the members pledge and pay to the regular budget they will take care of this item.

The church wants to encourage its membership to read the church paper and attend church and church school regularly.

Traffic Violations Crowd Docket In Zebulon Court

Traffic violations dominated the regular session of Zebulon Recorder's Court Wednesday, July 27, as Judge Irby D. Gill heard a total of some thirty cases.

Willis Holder, twenty-year-old Negro from Route 1, Zebulon was found guilty of parking at night without lights; he was ordered to pay $10 fine and court costs.

Rosby Jackson, 39, Raleigh Negro, was found guilty of displaying and representing to be his own, a license not belonging to him. He was sentenced to 60 days in jail and assigned to work on the roads, suspended on condition he pay $50 fine and costs of court.

Jackson was also found guilty on a second count of driving without a valid operator's license, and received a 30 day jail sentence, suspended on payment of $25 fine and court costs.

Jessie Robert Hicks, of Route 2, Wendell, was found not guilty of following too closely to another vehicle.

Jerry Ray Bobbitt of Route 4, Zebulon, was sentenced to pay $100 fine and $16.50 in court costs upon conviction of driving drunk.

William Dunstan, 40, of Route 2, Zebulon, was found guilty of driving without brakes and was fined $15 plus payment of $16.50 in court costs.

Roy Mangum, Negro, 19, of Rt. 4, Zebulon was convicted of careless and reckless driving and received a 30-day jail sentence, suspended on payment of $25 fine and (See COURT, Page 4)

Welfare Board Chairman Named

A new chairman has been named for the Wake County Welfare Board which includes members W. A. Brame of Wendell, also a member of the State Paroles Board, and Mrs. Robert M. Cornick of Raleigh.

Raleigh Attorney Howard Manning was named earlier in the week to head the three member board which meets monthly to set county welfare policies, pass on decisions, and to approve or disapprove all cases that are presented to it for public assistance.

America by 1975 will see the number of work hours per capita decreased by about 15 per cent while product per man-hour is expected to rise at about 2½ per cent per year. These figures are from a report of the President's Materials Policy Commission cited by the National Association of Manufacturers.

Such a rise in man-hour productivity exceeds the historical average, but continued high employment and an increase in capital per worker even greater than that of recent years will make this possible.

Indication of the possible conservative pattern of these forecasts comes from U. S. Bureau of the Census figures which show that in 1954 — through the month of November — America's annual population increase was fifty per cent above the average increase of each year since 1947.

Rev. John Parker Corinth Speaker

At the vesper service last Sunday evening in the beautiful new sanctuary of the Corinth Baptist Church, the Rev. John Parker, associate pastor of the White Oak Baptist Church in Johnston County, counselled the new Junior Board of Deacons "to never cease to grow in Grace, to always be up-standing and God-like, to serve with patience and understanding, to grow in wisdom and understanding, and to always be about their Father's business."

The Rev. Mr. Parker's text was from the New Testament, and his topic was entitled "The Deacon's Experience of Grace."

The Rev. Alfred Parrish, pastor of the Corinth Church, closed the evening's service with a commentary on "The Deacon's Relationship to the Church." He instructed them "to serve faithfully and dutifully the many obligations that will be required of them, but never with a bossy or dogmatic attitude, but with love and goodness.

Those ordained to serve on the Junior Board were E. J. Corbett Jr., Wilbur Pulley, Ray Hocutt, Jesse Dwight High, Marion Johnson, and Dewitt Creech.

Clyde Parrish New Athletic Director At Wendell High

Clyde Parrish, athletic director and coach of the large consolidated Langley-Bath-Clearwater High School in Langley, South Carolina, has accepted the head coaching position at the Wendell High School according to an announcement from Wendell School Principal, H. Doug Hall.

The new Wendell coach is a native of Laurinburg, where he was an outstanding high school athlete. He attended Wake Forest College before going into service and upon his return completed his education at Presbyterian College in South Carolina.

Parrish was college president of his freshmen and sophomore classes and received the coveted trophy in recognition of his scholastic and athletic abilities. After his discharge from service Coach Parrish accepted the position as athletic director and head coach at the large L. B. C. High School and has achieved an outstanding record with his athletic teams.

His football teams have twice won the S. C. District 3 B football championship and this past year tied for the State Championship of South Carolina. The basketball and baseball teams have likewise advanced to the District Championship on several occasions and he has also coached the track team.

Parrish's best coaching performance in North Carolina occurred in 1950 when he coached the Laurinburg American Legion Baseball team to the State Finals where they lost 2-1 to Gastonia in the seventh and deciding game of the North Carolina Championship Series.

The new athletic coach is married, has one daughter, and expects to move to the Wendell community about the middle of August.

Jasper R. Perry Funeral Thursday

Jasper R. Perry, 47, of Zebulon, died Wednesday in Mary Elizabeth Hospital, Raleigh. Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Glather Walker Perry; three sons, William Perry, Walker Perry and Ernest Perry; his stepfather, J. B. Bagwell; four sisters, Mrs. Herbert Bailey, Mrs. Leonard and Mrs. Sam Emory, all of Raleigh, and Mrs. A. F. Joyner of Rocky Mount; five half-brothers, John L. Sherwood, and Floyd Bagwell, Don Bagwell and B. M. Bagwell. (See PERRY FUNERAL, Page 5)

Uncle Ferd's Almanac

Three years ago today Mrs. Elsie Privette was named the most courteous clerk in Zebulon by a secret committee of the local Chamber of Commerce. For my money, she still qualifies for the honor.

Thirty years ago today some of the younger folks of the community were entertained by Miss John T. O'Dear at a picnic supper at Lake Myra. Some of the young ladies present were Misses Lucia Flowers, Eleanor Blackley, Mildred and Justine Davis, Vivian Dawson, and Dorothy Jones. Among the young men in the company were Dr. L. M. Massey, M. W. Page, Merritt Massey, Dewey Massey, Floyd Lamn, and Horace Winstead.

Twenty-three years ago today Astor Richardson left Zebulon for Oxford Orphanage, where he was a senior during 1932-33. Astor was a brother of Ed and Mike Richardson. Like them, he was handsome, debonair, and a good athlete. I hated to see Astor go back to Oxford because he and I had pitched as partners many a game of horse shoes behind Corbett's Barber Shop and also Eddie's Cafe. We won most of the games, and that was just about the only source of revenue available to me in 1932.

Eight years ago today you could get bread for 11¢ a loaf at Phillip's Grocery, and you could get coffee for 25¢ a pound. This was in 1947, mind you, not 1937. It just does not make sense to me that it costs the Brazilians four times as much to produce coffee now as it did in 1947, but it may be that I am wrong. However, I do note that more coffee merchants are driving Cadallacs these days than are (1) lawyers, (2) newspapermen, or (3) tobacco farmers.

North Carolina became a royal province (along with South Carolina) 226 years ago today, when the King of England bought ⅓ of the interest of the eight Lord Proprietors.

The first steamboat on Lake Michigan reached Green Bay, Wisconsin, 135 years ago today. A great portion of America was thereby opened to development by the steamboat, which many people thought was the work of the devil and certainly not here to stay. They were probably right, since it appears that the steamboat along with everything else (including you and me) will some day be replaced by the H-Bomb.

Bad Wind Blows Dust, Causes False Fire Alarm

Tobacco-conscious farmers in the Zebulon area reported two barn fires to the Town Fire Department, one of which was not a fire at all, the other of which was extinguished before firemen could arrive on the scene.

The false alarm came as the result of a gust of wind which lifted a miniature dust storm Tuesday morning around a barn on the Rayo Bailey farm about four miles south of Zebulon. Workmen in the fields saw the large cloud of dust, and mistaking it for smoke rising from the barn, lost no time in contracting the local fire department.

The second call was turned in early Wednesday afternoon by members of the Mrs. Morris Hood farm on highway 96 a few miles south of Zebulon. It was reported that the blaze probably started from the burners in the barn, but farmhands succeeded in killing the fire before any appreciable damage was done.
