Project Accepted By Wakelon PTA At First Meeting

The first 1955-56 session of the Wakelon Parent-Teacher Association, postponed a week because of Hurricane Ione, was held in the school auditorium at 7:45 Monday night. Mrs. Eldred Rountree, president, presided at the meeting and at a session of the executive committee held prior to the PTA meeting.

The Rev. B. A. Asbury led a devotional program, following a group song. Mr. Asbury suggested that critics of the school program and the school administration might better spend time helping with local projects than finding fault with school officials and their efforts.

Miss Carolyn Hinton played a piano solo, and Mrs. Ed Ellington served as pianist for the group song. Mrs. Frank Massey read minutes of the final 1955 spring PTA meeting and executive committee sessions. The minutes were approved.

Open House Planned

An open house will be held following the October meeting, and parents will be invited to visit and inspect the classrooms where their children are enrolled. Another open house will be held in the spring.

Principal Franklin Jones spoke briefly to parents and faculty, inviting school patrons to take meals at the school cafeteria, which he said had been recently screened.

The 1955-56 PTA project will be the acquisition of new curtains for windows and stage in the school auditorium. Expected cost is $1100. Mrs. James Creech will head a committee to raise funds for the project through a barbecue supper scheduled from 5 to 8 a.m. on Friday, October 28.

Treasurer's Report

Mrs. Armstrong Cannady, PTA treasurer, reported a balance of $10.69 on hand, which, she observed, is presently far from the goal of $1100 for the curtains. Membership dues will shortly swell the total, she added.

Following the meeting, parents attended a reception in the school cafeteria. In the receiving line were PTA officials and faculty members, and other officers of the PTA assisted in serving refreshments.

Lions Plan Talent Show on Saturday

The Rain Drops Quartet of Kenly heads the list of talented groups which will appear on the Lions Club Talent Show tomorrow night in the Wakelon auditorium. The curtain will part at 8 p.m.

Winners last Saturday night were O. B. Perry, Sonny Coley, the Renfro Quartet and the Maiden Duet.

Others on Program

Others appearing this week are the Gospel-ettes Trio of Rocky Mount, Miss Elsie Noble of Nashville, little Carolyn Pippin, the Rhythm Masters of Fremont, the Woodall Trio of Smithfield, Glen Martin of Pearces, Carl Denton of Corinth Holders, Langford Baker of County line, the Veron Fuller Band of Youngsville, the Baker Quartet of Hopkins Chapel, the Sand Hill Playboys of Sanford, little Lambie Penn of Danville, Va., and several others.

Baptists to Hear Pope A. Duncan

(From LIGHT AND TRUTH)

During the summer, the Future Development Committee of Zebulon Baptist Church appointed Seven Committees of Seven to aid in its work. One of the suggestions that came from these Committees — and it came from all of them — was that the church needed to be spiritually revived and rededicated. It was suggested that all the members needed to be given an opportunity to reaffirm their faith openly if the church's life was ever to deepen.

The Future Development Committee took this suggestion under advisement, and shortly decided that this was the first step that should be taken. It was felt that the other aims of the church could never be accomplished without a genuine dedication on the part of the members, and that if we were a dedicated people, we would move forward readily in our program. The Board of Deacons concurred in this belief, and recommended to the congregation that a

UNC Work Rearranged To Aid Zebulon Project

The World Comes to Zebulon project received the enthusiastic endorsement of the School of Public Health of the University of North Carolina, according to the Rev. Harry Smith, who met last week with local committee members. Most of the foreign students who are expected here November 4 are enrolled in the School of Public Health.

Football Game Tonight

The Wakelon football team, with its reserves toughened by play against Cary and Wendell, will seek its first victory of the 1955 season tonight on the local grid-iron against Aurelian Springs. Kickoff is set for 8 o'clock.

The Halifax County eleven will meet the Bulldogs following the annual senior barbecue supper, to be served in the Wakelon cafeteria.

Coach Charles Hester substituted freely during the Cary and Wendell games to give his reserves experience. With several of his first string sidelined for tonight's contest, the reserves are expected to see plenty of action.

The Wakelon Band will play when time is out and during the halftime intermission.

Zebulon Farm Bureau Plans To Hold Membership Drive

An intensive one-day membership drive will be conducted by the Zebulon Farm Bureau beginning at day break Thursday, October 6, and continuing throughout the day, it was announced yesterday by Robert Ed Horton. Before the day is ended, the local Farm Bureau expects to exceed its membership quota of 550.

"Every farmer and business man should be a member," Mr. Horton said, in announcing the membership campaign. He called attention to the accomplishments of the North Carolina Farm Bureau during the past year.

The Farm Bureau is an independent farm organization, built and financed by farmers who work through it to obtain a fair share of the national income.

At the present time Farm Bureau includes 1,609,461 families located in all 48 states and Puerto Rico. It is the largest and strongest farm organizations in the world. During the past five years its membership has nearly doubled, increasing from 919,493 in 1949 to its present total.

In North Carolina the Farm Bureau secured equalized tax on farm machinery with that of other production machinery; prevented state tax on cigarettes and other tobacco products; successfully opposed discriminatory tax on feed, seed, insecticides and fertilizers; and worked for adequate agricultural and research appropriations.

This work was in addition to the leadership taken in many other projects which assisted farmers earn a better living. Representatives of the North Carolina Farm Bureau appeared at all legislative hearings whenever the farmers' welfare was affected.

In September, 1953, the license for the North Carolina Farm Bureau Mutual Insurance Company was approved by the Commissioner of Insurance. By October 2, 1953, the new company had written its first automobile policy and by April, 1954, its first comprehensive personal liability policy.

Biggest Yet, '55 Five County Fair Plans Completed

The 1955 Five County Fair promises to be the best ever staged in this community with thousands of dollars in premiums offered and a new and better carnival on the midway. The gala show begins on Monday, October 10, when exhibits will be accepted, and continues through Saturday, October 15.

The famous Greater Virginia Shows will be on the midway, with a host of thrilling rides and exciting shows. Free acts will be staged with afternoon and evening performances.

Begins October 10

The schedule this year begins on Monday, when exhibits may be placed on display. By Monday night the rides and shows will be in operation.

Exhibits will be accepted in the exhibit hall until 10:30 Tuesday morning, and must remain on display until 10:00 Saturday morning. All exhibits must be a 1954 or 1955 product grown or made in one of the five counties composing the fair.

Visiting Day Tuesday

Tuesday, October 11, will be visiting day at the fair when old friends and neighbors meet.

Wednesday will be colored people's day with colored school children admitted free during the afternoon.

Thursday is listed as Farmers' Day.

White school children will be admitted free on Friday, October 14, during the afternoon.

Last Day October 15

The gates will open at noon on the final day, Saturday, October 15, and will remain open until midnight. Premiums for winning exhibits will be paid Saturday, October 15, after 1 o'clock p.m.

Because of several printer's errors which appeared in the premium list which was mailed last week, those attending the fair this year are advised to observe the dates in this article rather those listed in the fair catalogue.

Local Girl Named Home Economist With Jacksonville's CP&L Office

Miss Virginia Ihrie, a native of Zebulon, has been appointed home economist for Carolina Power and Light Company's Jacksonville area. She replaces Miss Emily Burrage, who was transferred recently to the company's Henderson district.

Her appointment, effective October 3, was announced today by J. L. Covington, Jr., local manager for CP&L.

From the company's Jacksonville office, Miss Ihrie will work with homemakers in Morehead City, New Bern and the adjacent territory. Customers are invited to ask for her assistance in matters concerning the most effective and efficient uses of electric service. She will be available for talks and appearances before civic organizations, as well as for group demonstrations by electrical appliance dealers and other agencies.

Miss Ihrie, a 1954 home economics graduate of Jacksonville State Teachers College at Jacksonville, Ala., joined CP&L in July and has just completed a 12 week training period. Prior to her employment by the company she was a home economics teacher at Piedmont, Ala.

She is a Methodist and her hobbies include swimming, dancing and cooking.
