Recklessness Cause For Bad Reputation

Zebulon's reputation as a breeding ground for speeders and race-track for speeders has spread over the country, according to a salesman who stopped at the Zebulon bus station last week. "This town is the worst place I have ever traveled through and tried to drive in," Bill Martin, a salesman from Minneapolis, Minn., reported.

Mr. Martin's work carries him into 47 different states, and he reports "this town has the craziest drivers I have ever run into."

The salesman reported he was the second to reach the scene of the wreck which killed four east of Zebulon, and said: "After seeing the terrible wrecks here I can't understand why something has not been done about it (reckless driving). I've had cars pass me going through Zebulon that I knew were going 60 to 70 miles per hour."

Was Safer in Burma

His World War II service in Burma, where he served with the late Thomas Brannon of Zebulon, was safer than driving in Zebulon, Mr. Martin continued.

The salesman's comments coincided with the observation in Charlotte of a Firestone Tire and Rubber Company executive who remarked to the editor upon learning the editor hailed from Zebulon: "That's the place where all the speeding and wrecks take place."

Strong Support Is Given United Fund

Aaron Lowery, United Fund Chairman, reported that he is well pleased with the progress of the United Fund Drive. He said that all the workers had gone to work in full force for solicitations.

"Everybody seems to be willing and wanting to help all they possibly can," Mr. Lowery stated.

Mr. Lowery said that there are no figures available at present on the drive. He hopes to have something to report soon.

"Everybody seems to be conscious of the value of this drive and is offering to help all they possibly can. It looks as if we should reach our goal."

He further reported that to those of you who have not yet been contacted, you are urged to contact a solicitor of the campaign and give all you can.

"Everything is going very nicely and favorably," Mr. Lowery said.

community have done nothing to slow teenage drivers. A resident of East Sycamore Street reported Sunday a Pontiac driven by a girl raced a red Ford past her home, ignoring the danger to small children on each side of the street.

Arrival of reinforcements for the State Highway Patrol recently had only a temporary effect on speeding, according to witnesses. In Zebulon and the surrounding community, speeding goes on.

Wakelon Bulldogs Lose to Fuquay

Wakelon Bulldogs received a walloping from Fuquay Springs here last Friday night. The final score was 34-0.

Fuquay began to take the lead early in the game, scoring twice in the first stanza. Quarterback Bill Huber passed 20 yards to Kenneth Haire for the first score, and Benny Honeycutt crashed over from the two for the other.

A 56-yard drive climaxed Fuquay's second period offensive play, Garland Stuart scoring from the nine yard line.

The visitors capitalized on a Wakelon fumble to set up their third period score. Honeycutt went over from the 5 for the touchdown.

The final Fuquay tally climaxed a 40-yard drive, with Huber going the final five yards.

Defensive standouts for Fuquay were Billy Mize and Arthur Halley. Leading Wakelon for the defense was Talmadge Alford.

Better Hurry!

At the present rate of enlistments, Zebulon's National Guard unit will be filled to authorized strength within a month. Lt. Jack Patter announced last night. He urged men 17 to 18½ to volunteer now to avoid being placed on a waiting list.

PARKWAY. The National Park Service, a wing of the Department of Interior, is expected to make a new effort to impose a system of tolls on the Blue Ridge Parkway shortly after the first of the year.

The Department of Interior will probably make its new bid for tolls on the Parkway on the old argument that national parks should help pay their way through token payments by those people who use and enjoy them.

Recently, considerable talk has been coming out of the Department to the effect that the national parks aren't equipped to handle the ever-increasing crowds of tourists and visitors who use them.

STOPPED. Efforts by the Department last year to start collections of tolls was stopped by an order written into Interior's appropriations law. The order instructed the Department to withhold collection of any tolls or fees until the House Appropriations Committee could conduct a thorough study of the matter.

Only recently, Interior filed a lengthy report with the House Appropriations Committee outlining (See WASHINGTON, Page 2)

Luncheon Is Held

Following the morning session a luncheon was held for the representatives at the Smithfield Country Club. Favors at each plate and the door prizes were expressive of Smithfield's main industries that have to do with cotton, hogs and tobacco.

A special entertainment treat was provided by the hostess club in the ballad singing of Mrs. Charles Williams of Raleigh.

Mrs. Tucker reported that the Zebulon Club did not receive any prize for its entry this year. The club last year tied for first place with its entry.

She further reported that the Zebulon Club is trying very hard to establish a Garden Center, which is to be located at the Whitley Furniture Company.

In the center there will be displayed flower arrangements for each month of the year. Flowers in these arrangements will be ones that are suitable for the particular season and time of year.

For the past two months an arrangement has been on display at the Whitley Furniture Company.

Mrs. Tucker said that the Garden Club has a scheduled meeting next Monday night.
