Friendship Begun in 1886

In or about the year 1886, a small band of Christian workers decided to organize a church. Led by a very spiritual minded woman, Sister Eliza Lee, the church began to grow and flourish. After having attended the regular worship services at Pleasant Union Church, which she so faithfully attended, Sister Lee would, through her kind and generous hospitality, invite the preachers to her home for dinner. The people of the Emit community at that time decided to begin to conduct worship services. They selected the old one room log cabin school, Pig Pen Academy, for their first house of worship. The first preachers that conducted services in this Pig Pen Academy schoolhouse-church were the Reverends John Sasser of Raines Cross Roads; Daniel Davis of Wilson County; Pat Lucas, Henry Renfrow, Hardy Boykin, Ruffin Flowers, Ben Tippet, and Billy Anderson of Wendell. The Pews of the church were boards lying across sawed off blocks of wood. The congregation began to grow rapidly and the Pig Pen Academy soon became inadequate to meet the needs of the people, so under the leadership of Sister Lee, a drive to erect a new and larger church was begun. The site for the new church was given by Brother and Sister Bennett Strickland. Sister Lee, although she was aged (See CHURCH, Page 6)

Thanksgiving Services Planned for Thursday

To All Ye Pilgrims:

Inasmuch as the Great Father has given us this year an abundant harvest of Indian corn, wheat, peas, beans, squashes, and garden vegetables, and has made the forests to abound with game and the sea with fish and clams, and inasmuch as He has protected us from the ravages of the savages, has spared us from pestilence and disease, has granted us freedom to worship God according to the dictates of our own conscience now I, your magistrate, do proclaim that all ye Pilgrims, with your wives and ye little ones, do gather at ye meethouse, on ye hill, between the hours of nine and twelve in the daytime, on Thursday, November ye 29th, of the year of our Lord one thousand six hundred and twenty-three, and the third year since ye Pilgrims landed on ye Plymouth Rock, there to listen to ye pastor and render thanksgiving to ye Almighty God for all His blessings.

Faculty Honored Guests of Club This Afternoon

The Senior Woman's Club will meet this afternoon at 3:45 o'clock in the club house for its regular meeting. At this meeting of the club, the honored guests for this occasion will be the Wakelon School faculty.

The speakers for the occasion will be Franklin Jones, principal of the local school and Mrs. Raymond Pippin, the school's librarian.

This being National Education month and also "Know Your Library" month as designated by Governor Hodges, the club's theme will be woven around the two.

Mr. Jones will speak on the education facilities of the school in connection with the district, community and state. Mrs. Pippin's talk will explain the function of the school library in connection with the services it renders to both the school and community.

Mrs. Exum Chamblee, president of the Senior Woman's Club, said that this is the first time that the local school has ever had a full time librarian, and it is a service that the patrons of the school and surrounding community should be proud.

The community library, housed in the Woman's Club, was begun as a Finer Carolina Project. This library now boasts of more than 1,061 volumes, according to Mrs. Frank Wall.

Mrs. Wall stated recently that the committees working with the community library are desirous of obtaining a permanent home for this library some time in the future. She said that the space is very limited for the addition of more books.

According to the Gallup survey, six out of ten Americans have not read a book in the past year.

They report that 26 percent of the college graduates are in this group; 57 percent of those with high school diplomas, and 82 percent of those whose schooling stopped at the end of the eighth grade. Yet all these people can read — at least the Bureau of Census records them as literate.

Since ours is a monetary, rather than a barter economy, our government and banking institutions must provide an adequate supply of money. As our economy grows, naturally our money supply should grow in approximately the same proportion to handle the increase in the volume of transactions.

From 1910 to 1955 the nation's money supply increased from 10 billion to 130 billion dollars — a thirteen-fold increase — while the physical output of goods and services tripled in that period. Prices have risen three-fold since 1910. To finance the war the government had to borrow from the banks. Since the war the money supply has increased about 3 per cent per year which is about the same as the long-term growth rate in our physical output. Continued growth of the money supply at this rate can be considered normal rather than a prelude to runaway inflation.
