COLORED NEWS

The Sunshine Group had their regular meeting Sunday at 4 p.m., at the home of Mrs. Vernetta Harris. One of the features of the well attended meeting was a Bible Quiz.

The Christmas Saving Club will have the first meeting of the year tonight at the home of Misses Clara and Marjorie Reid. The Club is hoping to get off to a good start with many new members.

Beaver's Chapel Congregational Christian Church had its regular preaching service Sunday. The sermon was delivered by the pastor, Rev. R. D. Bullock who used as a theme, "Reaching out for Greater Things." He said that, "Our discussion is centered around Paul's letters to the church at Philippi. His letters are full of encouragement to continue to follow Christ, and to rejoice in the Lord always.

Saul realized that he helped to persecute the church, and also held the coat for the men to stone Stephen. But he states he could forget those things and reach forth unto things which are before him. The things that help us are those that are before us and not behind us. It would be helpful to us if we made an inventory of both the good and the bad. We should strive to do twice as much good this year and eliminate all the bad.

First, to press forward for the prize we need a firm foundation to meet unseen as well as the seen in life.

Second, our foundation should be builded on good character. This will enable us to face temptation.

Third, our character should be based on the Truth. The Truth will set us free.

Fourth, the Truth should be firm with Grace. Grace is sufficient to preserve us from all evils."

Music for the service was rendered by the church choir with Mrs. Christine Locke, pianist, assisted by Ocie L. Taylor.

Yates Johnson at Mary Elizabeth Hospital Monday.

Mrs. Ivon Pearce visited the Dalton Pearce at Bunn last Friday afternoon.

The John Sellers and Earl are moving to Rocky Mount.
