Frank Kemp Trial To Be Held Today

The trial of Lions President Frank Oliver Kemp will get underway today in Raleigh City Court. Kemp is charged with conducting a lottery in connection with the awarding of a 1956 Chevrolet as an All-Night Sing door prize.

Kemp was arrested January 9 in Raleigh by Police Chief Tom Davis, after appearing in that city before the Raleigh Lions Club. Kemp was a guest of that club to explain the project the Zebulon club has undertaken and was asking assistance.

The Zebulon Lions Club has undertaken a project of raising an estimated $4,000 to outfit the Wakelon High School band with uniforms. Tickets are being sold and have been sold to an All-Night Sing as a means of acquiring this money.

Kemp said that the Sir Walter Lions Club of Raleigh will attend the trial in a body. Other Lions clubs throughout the state are rallying in their support of the local club and will be present at the trial.

Home Importance Discussed by Davis At Woman's Club

(This was a talk made by Mr. Davis at the last meeting of the Zebulon Woman's Club.)

By Theo. B. Davis

Some one has asked, "What is the most important thing that ever happened to me. Many answers may be given, yet all realize that all those happy occasions would never have been had it not been for the first—one's birth. Only two people so far as we know ever lived without having a father and a mother. All others of the race came out of the unknown usually one at a time till today, though billions have passed on, yet more babies are born till the earth's population increases by thousands upon thousands each year.

Almost everything beyond the works of God in nature has been produced through the minds and by the hands of people who began life as babies. Not only the race, but "the world moves forward on the feet of little children." The hand that rocks the cradle may rule the world, but a Supreme being poured the contents of that cradle. And God gave the responsibility of caring for and training of the little ones to fathers and mothers. No new life comes without parents to produce, preserve and propagate the possibilities of children.

Every home is, or should be big business. It is an organization whose capital stock is life. There is both dependence and independence, and especially cooperation. As goes the home, so goes the community, the State, the nation and the world. If there is harm (See HOME, Page 8)

Rural Fire Department to Open Membership Drive February 1 Thru April 1; Equip't Needed

Plans are being made by the Rural Fire Department for another membership drive.

These plans were laid at the Rural Fire Truck meeting held Tuesday night in the Zebulon Municipal Building. The members present voted to open another campaign for the purpose of securing more members and reenlisting delinquent members.

This drive will begin February 1 and continue until April 1. Those wishing to join should contact Aaron Lowery, secretary, at Lowery's Insurance Agency.

During the business session, presided over by President H. H. Eddins, the discussion of the evening concerned how to get the support of the active members, the enlistment of non-members, how to secure dues from delinquent members, and the purchasing of new fire fighting equipment.

Lowery will send a second letter to the members who have delayed or refused in sending dues to the Department. If after a period of 60 days a member has not paid any dues, he will be stricken from the roll.

Calls by the department upon non-members during 1955 numbered 20. The charges for these calls totaled $500. None of these charges has been collected.

Discussion revealed that the by-laws of the constitution of the department state that these charges can be collected. The attorney for this unit also states that judgment can be rendered against these persons who received service calls and have refused to pay.

Willie B. Hopkins, fire chief, said that accurate records of the rural fires have been kept. He also said that the department could very well use another truck and more fire fighting equipment.

Hopkins made the statement that the town of Zebulon had heretofore been bearing the expense of the gas and oil used by the rural truck. From now on these charges will be made to the Department.

He also said that some of the members of the fire fighting crew are conscious of the fact that they need an insurance on themselves in case they get burned or injured during a call. Many of the members feel that they should get a reimbursement for damage to their clothing.

Ed. Kitchings, assistant fire chief, urged the department to purchase an auxiliary tank and truck. He said that there can never be too much fire fighting (See DRIVE, Page 8)
