Zebulon Post Office To Become 1st Class July 1; Changes Due

By William B. Henderson

Executive Vice President, Parcel Post Association

(The following report on the effect of Zebulon becoming a First Class Post Office July 1 was made for the Zebulon Record by The Parcel Post Association, Washington, D. C.)

29 Wendell Grads Get Sheepskins

Dr. Amos Abrams, prominent North Carolina education leader, addressed the Wendell seniors Thursday night.

The following seniors were presented diplomas: Jarvis Douglas, Ralph Harris, Roger Harris, Jimmy Hinnant, Charlie Holst, Carl Hull, Grady Johnson, Allen May, Billy Perry, Bobby Price, Robert Price, Shelton Raybon, Eddie Roberts, Dwight Sanderford, Ann Alford, Lucrece Bilisoly, Margie Bunn, Rebecca Byrd, Jeannette Hinnant, Julia Joseph, Jeanne Knott, Hazeline Lovelace, Carol Martin, Margaret Medlin, Mary Katherine Dean, Ann Raybon, Miriam Starnes, Nell Williams and Sarah Sue Winstead.

Miss Jeanne Knott presented the valedictory speech, and Miss Sarah Sue Winstead gave the salutatory.

Mrs. Elwood Perry was the class sponsor.

Officers Elected

The Woman's College 4-H Club has recently elected officers for the coming year. They are, Nancy Jean Kearns of Farmer, president; Mary Faye Jackson of Mount Airy, vice-president; Barbara Davis of Cornelius, secretary; Ruth Temple of Zebulon, treasurer; Elsie Prevatte of Lumberton, historian and reporter; Pat Bost of Eagle Springs, song leader; Barbara McDonald of Rockingham and Sue Ormand of Dover, publicity co-chairmen.

Zebulon will become a First Class Post Office July 1. When the gross receipts of your post office crossed the $40,000.00-a-year mark, that indicated growth and progress.

But those who use parcel post (and that's almost everyone in town, I guess) won't be so happy about the parcel post service now that Zebulon rates a First Class Post Office. Packages your neighbor mail to other First Class Post Offices must be much smaller than before. Mailers may often have to make up two or three parcels to do the job one package used to. The same situation will face most people sending parcel post packages to Zebulon.

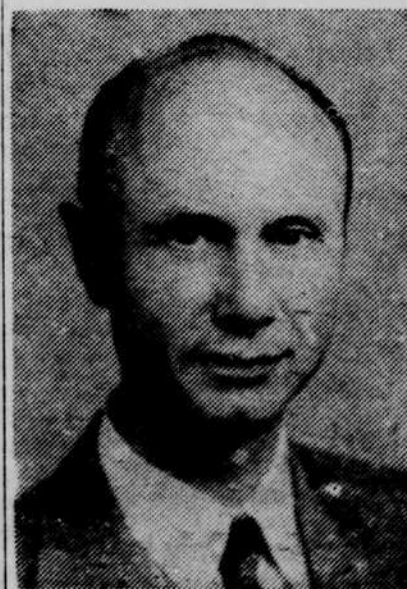

After July 1 parcel post mailing will be a much less convenient, a more complicated, and a more expensive procedure in Zebulon. Bear in mind, though, it isn't the fault of your Postmaster or the Post Office Department. They, too, dislike such unnecessary complicating of package mailing.

This confusing and damaging mess is the result of Public Law 199—a Law which Railway Express had lobbied through Congress a few years ago. The objective was clear. Cripple the parcel post service. Force more people to use Railway Express.

Many towns and suburbs and most farmers don't have Railway Express or other small package delivery service. These millions of people depend heavily on parcel post—and it means much to them. Why and how Railway Express is crippling parcel post is outlined in more detail in the enclosed bulletins.

It will probably be your unpleasant task to break the news to the folks in Zebulon as to what they may expect after July 1 when they send or receive parcel post packages. Your warning could save them considerable shock and anxiety. (See POST OFFICE, Page 9)
