Wreck Victim Holds His Own

The condition of Eddie Bullock seems to be improving, according to information given by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Bullock of West Horton Street.

Eddie, 17, and a Junior at Wake-lon High School, was critically injured last Thursday when the 1947 Ford Sedan he was driving over-turned after he had rounded a curve on the Middlesex-Wendell highway, approximately three-quarters of a mile east of Maupass Bridge. He was the only occupant of the car.

He was thrown approximately 50 feet into a field when the car over-turned an undetermined number of times, according to his parents. He (See VICTIM, Page 4)

Hospital Site May Be Favorable to E. Wake; Informant Hopeful

Baptist Minister Announces Plans

The Rev. Beverly A. Asbury announced his plans to the Zebulon Baptist Church at the services last Sunday morning.

He told the congregation of his appointment and tentative acceptance as chapel director and assistant professor of religion at Westminster College at Fulton, Mo.

This position will be effective September 1. He will leave his present post as pastor of the church June 20.

During the month of July the Rev. Asbury will attend a chaplain conference as a representative from Westminster College. This conference is to be held in Montreat.

He will be the speaker from July 24 to 27 at the annual minister's institute in Atlanta, Ga. This institute is sponsored by Morehouse College and the Southern Baptist Mission Board.

There is still a possibility Mr. Asbury might be given a Fulbright scholarship for study in England. (See ASBURY, Page 4)

Information received by this paper indicates that a decision is soon due on the location of a site for a Wake County hospital.

A selection of the hospital site has been a much argued subject since the hospital bond issue.

The informant said he feels like the site selected will be on Poole Road at the south end of Peartree Lane.

He further added that he thinks this will be the site that will be most satisfactory to the people in south and east Wake County, as well as the doctors in Raleigh.

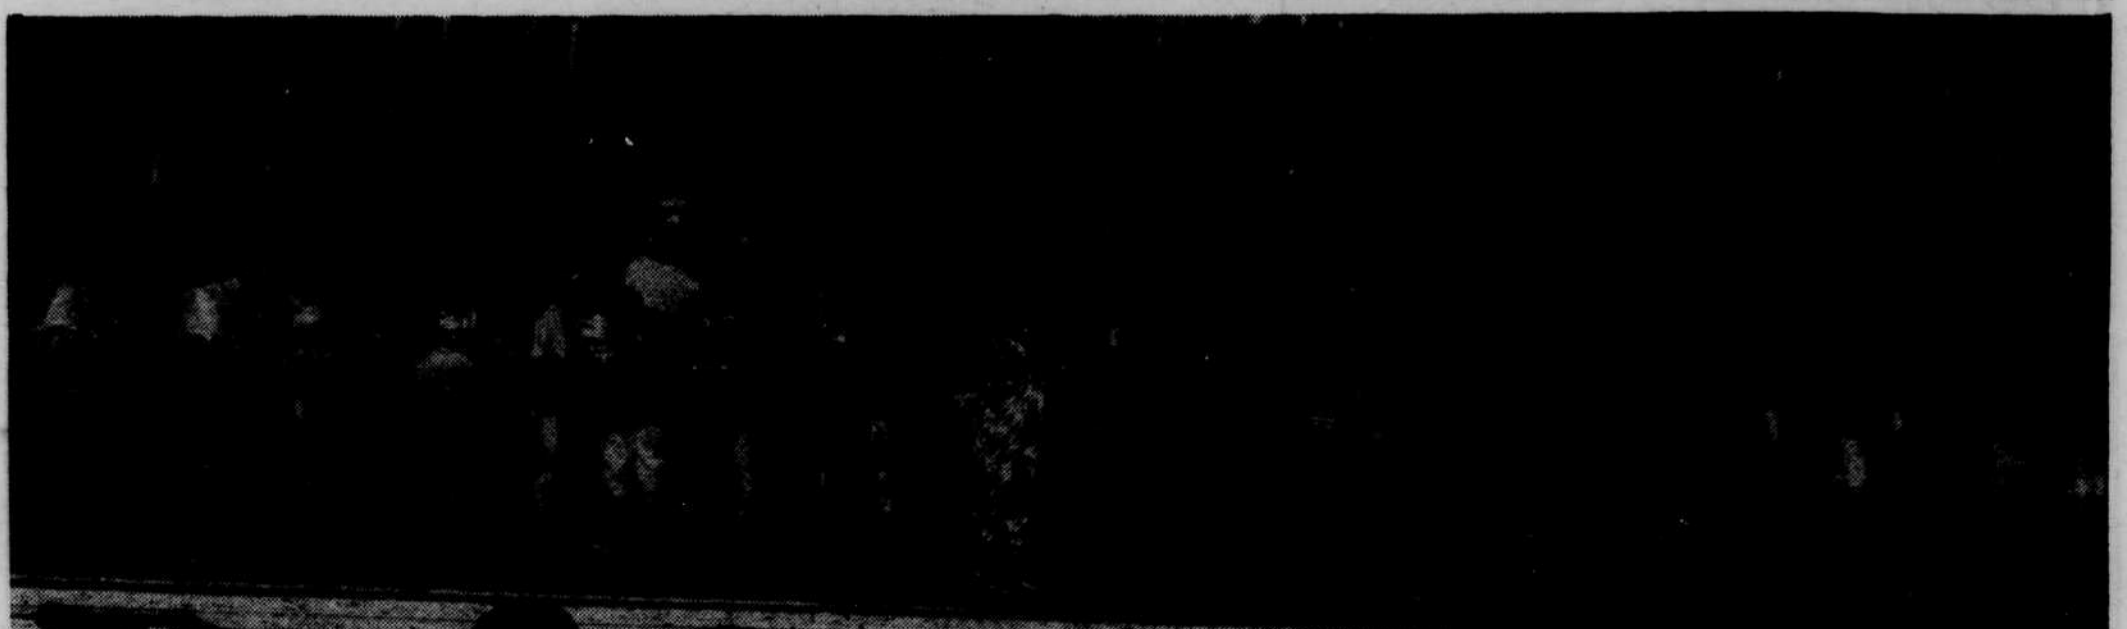

Right now, he said, this site is easily accessible and will be more so when the belt line is built around Raleigh. The new future belt line will skirt this property he said.

He stated that he feels this is the happy solution for everybody concerned.

Something definite will be forthcoming soon he said, possibly within the next 10 days or two weeks.

The property, connection of utilities and necessary site preparation will cost approximately $125,000, this person revealed.

He said "it appears to us — the site selection committee — that this is the solution to the site problem."

Pictured above are performers who participated in Mrs. H. C. Wade's dance recital given May 18 at Wakelon High School auditorium.

The recital participants presented terpsichorean numbers in tap soft shoe, ballet and other forms of creative dancing.

Reviews of the evening's performance were laudatory, and a retired professional teacher who attended said it was "a recital of the highest caliber, equal to that of city studio dance recitals."

At the end of the recital, Mrs. Wade presented awards to her five, six, seven and nine pupils. It was estimated that more than 600 persons attend the recital.—Photo by J. L. McGee.
