Local Church Group Attends Seminar At Winston-Salem

Members of the Zebulon congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses returned from a four-day seminar in Winston-Salem, North Carolina. Some seventeen states representing 250 congregations assembled in the four-day training program. The convention was one of forty being held this summer by the group through the United States and Canada.

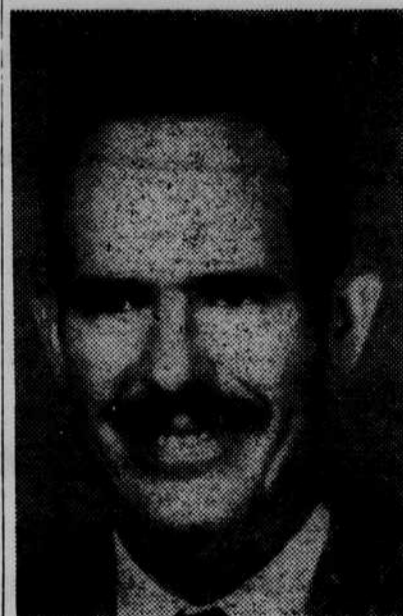

Speakers at the conclave laid stress on fulfilling the requirements and obligations of the ministry. Warning was given to avoid the materialistic way of life so prevalent in the world today. Emphasis was placed on seeking the things of God (fruits of the spirit such as love, joy, goodness, peace, mildness, long suffering, kindness, self-control, against which there is no law.)

One of the highlights of the assembly came Saturday night when 5,371 witnesses amidst prolonged and repeated applause enthusiastically adopted a strongly worded petition addressed to Nikolai Bulganin, premier of Soviet Russia, read by N. H. Knorr, President of the world-wide directive agency of the group, the Watchtower Bible and Tract Society. The petition asked for the release of the thousands of Jehovah's Witnesses imprisoned in Soviet Russia.

Before an aroused audience Knorr requested the Communist head of state "to allow a delegation of Jehovah's Witnesses to proceed to Moscow "to discuss their status and "visit our Christian brothers" known to be imprisoned in more than fifty slave camps "from European Russia to Siberia and northward to the Arctic Ocean, even on the Arctic island of Novaya Zemlya." A notorious attack

Town Board Appoints Davis as Solicitor

Ferd L. Davis

Succeeds Late A. R. House

The Zebulon Board of Commissioners, meeting at the town hall Monday night, elected Ferd Davis as town attorney and solicitor of the local Recorder's Court to succeed the late A. R. House who died at his home here July 27.

Davis, who was admitted to state and federal bars in 1953, is a member of the Wake County Bar Association, the N. C. Bar Association, and the American Bar Association. He is a member of the Public Service Committee of the NCBA, and drafted the 1954 NCBA resolutions calling for the judicial redistricting plan adopted by the 1955 legislature.

The new solicitor is a past president of the Zebulon Chamber of Commerce and Rotary Club, and is presently military government officer of the 30th Infantry Division. He holds B.S. and LL. B. degrees from Wake Forest College, and is a graduate of the University of Miami's Meteorology School, Pan-American Airways Navigation School, The Infantry School, and the Army Command & General Staff College at Fort Leavenworth, Kansas.

Davis served as a member of the Board of Conservation & Development during 1949-53. Prior to World War II, he served as editor of the N. C. Highway & Construction Journal.

Modern Abattoir to Be One of Finest in State

In about thirty more days Colonial Frozen Foods of Zebulon, Inc. will have one of the finest abattoirs in the state of North Carolina.

Construction on the abattoir has been underway for approximately 30 days already, W. M. Sutton, manager, said, and it is expected to be completed in about another month.

The construction of this slaughtering house will cost approximately $20,000 about $4,000 more than it was expected to cost, according to the manager.

The building will be constructed of brick and cement reinforced with steel girders. It will have a concrete floor and roof. The whole structure will be fireproof.

All animals will be brought into the building and held in a "holding room" until they are ready to be slaughtered. Other partitions to the building will include an "off-all," killing room — one for beef, one for swine — conveying hoists to carry the dressed animals to the chill room, a lard rendering plant, and smoke house.

Sutton said that continuous running water will flow down the sides of the abattoir to wash away the refuse of the slaughtered animals. This is to be an addition not outlined in the original plans.

Colonial Frozen Foods was granted a permit to erect the abattoir by the Town Commissioners at the May meeting.

Illness of Examiner Causes Day Change

Due to the illness of License Examiner Clarence Hocutt the examining office will not be open on Mondays, it has been announced by Joseph P. Price, Supervising Examiner of Troop "B."

Price said that the office will be open only on Tuesdays until Hocutt is well enough to assume his regular duties.

The office at Zebulon formerly stayed open each Monday and Tuesday of the week for the renewal or acquisition of operator's license.

Notification of Hocutt's return to his duties will be listed in this paper.

Civil Defense Discussed At Auxiliary Meeting

The president of the American Legion Auxiliary stressed the importance of Civil Defense at the Auxiliary's regular monthly meeting last Friday night in the home of Mrs. Pat Farmer.

Mrs. Farmer told the women present that "it is time that the community became more conscious of the need of Civil Defense."

She also brought out the pertinent fact that Zebulon is too complacent in its Civil Defense program, and it should wake up to the fact there may come a time when it will have to use the practices the program advises.

Mrs. Dabney Gill, Child Welfare and Rehabilitation, reported on aid given veterans and their families since the last meeting.

Mrs. Gilford Bufkin, Scrapbook

chairman, read notes of thanks received by the Auxiliary.

Library chairman Mrs. Raymond Pippin reported on the progress that is being made in the library and discussions followed concerning ways in which the Auxiliary can improve the community library.

The president asked the opinion of the members present about the appointing of a program committee for the next year to insure more interesting programs. The following committee was appointed: Mrs. Sidney Holmes, Mrs. Ralph Bunn and Mrs. Melvin Lanier.

After delicious refreshments were served by the hostess, the meeting adjourned to meet in September in the home of Mrs. Dabney Gill.

Late Attorney's Will Is Probated

The estate of Attorney A. R. House has been probated in Wake Superior Court, and its value was estimated at $28,307. Mr. House's widow, Mrs. Mary Dunford House, was named as beneficiary. An estimated $10,000 was in bank deposits. A $5,000 insurance policy, not payable to the estate, was also recorded.

House died July 27 after suffering a heart attack at his home here.

Legion Told Public Health Responsibility Of the Individual

The American Legion met Wednesday night at Hilliards Drive in for the regular August meeting.

Sprite Barbee told the Legionnaires that Public Health is the science of preventing disease, prolonging life and promoting physical and mental efficiency through organized community effort. Public Health Departments employ doctors, nurses and technicians in this effort and through the efforts of a Sanitation Officer laws are enforced and an educational program is carried on, said Mr. Barbee. True sanitation is the responsibility of the individual and cannot be legislated. Legionnaires were reminded by Mr. Barbee that Sanitation is a way of life. It is the quality of living that is expressed in the clean home, the clean farm, the clean business and industry, the clean neighborhood, and the clean community. Sanitation being a way of life, it must come from within the people; it is nourished by knowledge and grows as an obligation and an ideal in human relations.

Commander Sutton reminded Legionnaires that the annual membership drive of the Legion was now beginning and he urged all eligible veterans to sign up immediately.

Recreation Commission Has Summary of Program

The Recreation Commission, headed by chairman George Henry Temple, met Tuesday night at the Zebulon Baptist Church for the purpose of summarizing the year's work of the Commission.

Temple said that he feels the summer program has been highly successful. He said that the cooperation has been most enthusiastic and directors Charles Hester and Dave McGuire conducted a well-rounded and unusually good summer program.

Fire Loss Heavy

A fire of undetermined origin destroyed a tobacco barn filled with tobacco Monday morning. The barn was located on Route 3, Zebulon, on the James Mills farm.

The Rural Fire Department was called to the scene, but the call was too late to save the barn. The Department was able to save the shelter, an oil drum filled with 250 gallons of fuel oil, and tobacco sticks.

Department officials reported that an adjoining barn was saved from the conflagration.

The total loss amounted to approximately $2,000.

sive, and the directors have been of the highest caliber.

Temple and Mrs. Creech are now serving the end of their tenure. Former principal of Wake-High Franklin R. Jones was serving on the Commission but will be replaced, as will Temple and Mrs. Creech.

During the business session the Commission made recommendations for replacements which will have to be approved by the Town Board of Commissioners.

Director Hester is now in the process of compiling a resume of the summer recreation program for presentation to the Commission and for publication.
