Artisan Says Woods Are Methodist Board Like People - Need Love Give Resolution

A piece of wood in Jack Hinton's hands has no worries. It turns into a thing of beauty.

Hinton said that he has no preference in woods. He enjoys working with them all. He somewhat detests the gum woods, but finds that handled with care they can also turn out all right.

He is an excellent refinishing man, and 90 percent of his work now consists of refinishing and repairing furniture. He said he loves working with antiques and a great deal of his work is redoing these age-old articles.

"You have to be very careful with antiques," Hinton said. "You have to love them, cherish them, and care for them as you would an elderly person."

Hinton was born December 6, 1894, in Morganton. He is the son of the late Henry Clay Hinton and Emily Elizabeth Jones Hinton. There were only two children by this union, Hinton and a brother. Bonnie P., who resides in Spring

His father was a skilled blackand Jack observed and learned the art of working with metals. This art carried over later into woodworking, Hinton believes.

He arrived in Zebulon January 3, 1915, Hinton said, at 5:15 p.m. aboard the Norfolk-Southern. He describing how delicious and good ican name." it was to a tired and hungry young man.

Why did he come to Zebulon, he was asked. He said he was enticed ship papers. They became fullhere by E. H. Moser, then prin-fledged American citizens the ing 1956 town license tags. cipal of Wakelon School.

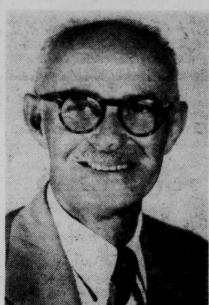

"And I consider Mr. E. H. Moser to be one of the finest school men in the whole of North Carolina," Hinton said.

Hinton had been a star athlete at Bunn High School, and came to Zebulon because they offered a finer selection of sports. At Wakelon he remained a star athlete all the while there.

Hinton, lithe and fast, played center on the basketball team. At that time the games were played on a dirt court out in the open, he said. He recalled some of his teammates with affection, these being Roger Watkins, Ivey Jones, Early Brantley and Cliff Pippin.

He was supposed to graduate in the class of 1917, but the United States entered the war and he didn't wait to be inducted. He enlisted in the army December 17, 1917, and was sent to Fort Thorn- August 25 when Smith entered one as, Kentucky, as a member of the of the ladies' rooms on the fifth aviation section of the signal floor of the N. ## 1956-57 Goal Set at $6,000

The Zebulon United Fund budget was set Monday night by the Fund's budget committee to the tune of $6,000. This exceeds last year's budget by $500.

President of the Fund Ralph Talton said that he is satisfied with the budget set for 1956-57, but he feels that Zebulon could and should support a budget of at least $8,000.

The 1955-56 goal of $5,500 was not reached. Only 70 per cent of the total amount designated was

Talton stated that it is the Fund's aim this year to educate the people of the Fund's purpose. Each agency will be publicized as to its needs, its operation, and the required amount for it to function
