Wakelon's Indebtedness

Wakelon School Principal John J. Hicks has revealed that the total indebtedness of the school as of July 1, 1957, is $3,326.45. The debt, incurred during the principalship of Franklin R. Jones, and has been reduced approximately $3,400, according to Principal Hicks.

The indebtedness now is:

Johnson-Lambe Co.	$ 654.00
E. R. Poole Music Co.	90.65
National School Supply	212.20
Lewis Sporting Goods Co.	288.85
Southern School Supply	104.43
Total	$1350.13
Accounts Payable
Beta Club	73.11
School Cafeteria	1903.21
Total	$1976.32

Principal Hicks reported that "if at all possible" he hopes the remainder of the indebtedness can be paid off during the next school year.

Town Bookkeeper To Be Appointed Next Mon. Night

Mayor Wilbur Debnam said the town has not yet employed a bookkeeper.

He said there have been five applications for the position thus far. Four of these have been female applicants and one male applicant.

The Mayor said the Town Board will consider the applications at the September meeting next Monday night, and he "feels reasonably sure" an appointment will be made at that time.

Local Man Cleared Of Murder Charge

William Gordon Lynch was freed of a manslaughter charge in Johnston County Superior Court last Thursday afternoon when a jury returned a not-guilty verdict.

The manslaughter charge resulted from a highway accident in December, 1955, which fatally injured 12-year-old Virginia Annette Moore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Billy Moore of Route 1, Zebulon.

The girl was struck by a car driven by Lynch when she rode a bicycle out of a driveway and started to cross the road in the path of the automobile. She died hours later in Rex Hospital at Raleigh.

Highway Patrolman N. H. Parrish investigated the accident, but made no arrest at the time. Lynch was not blamed for the death by a coroner's jury.

At the February term of Superior Court in 1956, the Grand Jury returned "not a true bill" in the case against Lynch.

At the June, 1956, term Solicitor W. Jack Hooks drew a new bill against Lynch on the basis of additional evidence. The Grand Jury this time returned a true bill.

The trial jury last week did not deliberate long in returning the acquittal verdict.

Lynch was represented by Attorneys William Wellons and Albert A. Corbett.

He is married to the former Nona Mae Alford and is the father of one child, a daughter. The family lives in Johnston.

Principal Voices More Promising Year Ahead

Desks at Wakelon School are being polished, floors reconditioned, and the campus trimmed and put into good looks.

All this is being done for the more than 800 students who will enter Wakelon when it opens Wednesday, September 4, at 9 o'clock.

Principal John J. Hicks expressed that this coming school year "looks a lot more promising and hopeful than last year this time."

A pre-school registration for all new students entering the school for the first time will be held Friday, August 30, and Monday, Sept. 2, from 9 to 12 in the principal's office.

High school students who did not register for subjects last spring or those who may wish to change their subject schedule for the 1957-58 school year are also asked to come on the above dates and register.

Parents of pupils who will enter the first grade this year are asked to see that their children have received immunization shots. Birth certificates are also required of those children entering school for the first time who did not attend the pre-school clinic.

Principal Hicks said he urges all parents of children who walk

Former Zebulon Native Heads VPA

A former Zebulon native has been appointed the new head of the Virginia Pharmaceutical Association.

Josiah W. Chamblee of 4204 Cuthshaw Avenue, Richmond, was elected president of the Association at its seventy-sixth annual convention held in Roanoke June 21-24.

Chamblee, who owns and operates the Stuart Circle Pharmacy in Richmond, attended Wake Forest College. He later received his Ph. D. degree from the Medical College of Virginia.

He is the son of the late, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Chamblee, and is married to the former Virginia Carpenter of Richmond. They have two daughters, Mrs. Donald E. Seim of Richmond, and Marietta, a recent graduate of Wake Forest College. There is also a grandson, Stephen Wesley Seim.

The new head of the Association is active in the civic affairs of his city, being a member of the Optimist Club, the Officers Club and the Virginia Boat Club. He and his family are ardent Baptists.

He is brother to Mrs. John Terry and Exum Chamblee and Durward Chamblee of Zebulon.

FREEZE LIFTED

The freeze on recruiting for Battery A, 113th FA Battalion, has been temporarily lifted and eligible men are being accepted for enlistment in the National Guard, Capt. Jack Potter announced yesterday.

Wakefield Pastor Leaving For Duties in Maryland

On September 8, the Rev. J. Vernon Brooks will assume his duties as pastor of the First Baptist Church of Essex in Baltimore, Md.

The Rev. Mr. Brooks, who has served as minister of Wakefield Baptist Church for the past four and one-half years, submitted his resignation to the church body August 4.

He is a graduate of the University of Richmond with a bachelor of arts degree, and in January of 1957 he was awarded the bachelor of divinity degree from Southeastern Baptist Seminary at Wake Forest.

Mrs. Brooks is the former Evelyn Atkins of Roanoke, Va. There is one child, a daughter, Bonnie 14.

The Brooks family will vacate the Wakefield parsonage next Tuesday.

Hearse Lamp Turned Into An Attractive Light Post

Minister Wedded To Doctor's Girl

The above photograph is of Mrs. Beverly A. Asbury, wife of the Rev. Asbury of Westminster College, Fulton, Mo. She is the former Sandra Seabaugh, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Rusby Seabaugh of Cape Girardeau, Mo. The marriage took place August 10 at Cape Girardeau.

We can vouch that Ray Goodwin has one of the most handsome and unusual lamp post lights in Zebulon. And you'll agree, too, when you've heard the tale.

Seems that Ray, who is an engineer with the local division of Carolina Power and Light Co., was out at the John Kemp homestead in Wakefield and discovered this old discarded horse-drawn hearse kerosene head lamp.

Ray took the light fixture and, with his ingenuity and tool-skill, mounted it on a cedar post, and added an incandescent light to replace the kerosene light.

He erected the lamp post in his yard, and it is truly a handsome addition. But it becomes even more fascinating and intriguing when you learn that the lamp fixture used to adorn the horse-drawn hearse of a by-gone era.

Shopping for a supply of shoes to last two growing daughters for the next two years in a foreign country had Mrs. Bill Green in a tizzy recently.

Mrs. Green was in Raleigh outfitting the Green daughters, Lisa, two years, and Claudia, nine months, with a supply of footwear.

When these wear out, what is she going to do? She is going to send back outlines of the children's growing feet in an order for more shoes.

The Greens will be living in Pakistan, where Bill will be in charge of English-speaking newspapers for the U. S. Information Agency.

Mrs. Green said, while here, she was anxiously looking forward to living in Dacca. She said she knew living over there would be "very exciting."

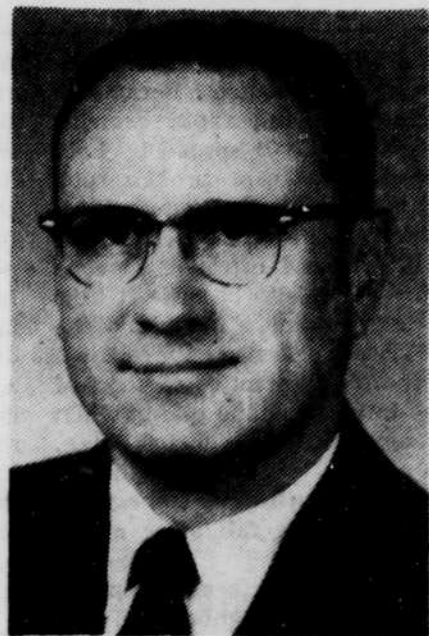

Bill, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Green, is a well-known newspaperman, having worked in the past on papers in Shelby, Durham and Morganton.

When J. K. Barrow was flying home from Boston some time ago, the pilot of the private plane informed him that the Mayflower II could be seen in the distance moored in an Eastern seacoast harbor.

The pilot asked his passenger if he would like to have a good look at the replica ship which brought the Pilgrim fathers to America,
