HEAVY REGISTRATION

Shepard Expects 900

Shepard School had the heaviest registration of pupils in the school's history when its doors were opened Wednesday, Sept. 4, for the 1957-58 school year.

According to Principal Garland L. Crews, approximately 900 students expected to enroll during the first month of school, making the enrollment the school's largest in its history.

"The staff is eager, enthusiastic and full of vigor to tackle the work and problems which await them," Principal Crews said. "The continued support and interest of the total program by the parents and patrons will be appreciated by all of us who work with the youth of Eastern Wake County."

The principal said he and the faculty members anticipate the best year in its history. Two special teachers have been added to the staff, and new offerings in the curricula will be available to the pupils for the first time.

The staff of the school is comprised of 31 full time instructors, a secretary and three custodians. Fourteen of the staff members attended universities throughout the nation where they did graduate study during the summer.

Seven faculty members of the school studied during the summer on all-expense fellowships provided by the Phelps-Stokes Foundation. The school has been a member of the Instructional Improvement Project of this foundation for two years. Funds have been provided by the Ford Foundation to continue this curriculum improvement for another year.

Two of the school's staff completed requirements for graduate degrees during the summer. This number has grown now to six members who hold degrees above the bachelor degree level.

Approximately 35 pupils live in adjacent counties of Franklin, Nash and Johnston. The pupils will be

Women's Clubs to Have Talent Search

Got talent? Are you a vocalist, instrumentalist, humorist, monologist, magician, pantomimist or belly dancer?

Then you may want to enter the annual auditions in the statewide "Tar Heel Talent Search" to be held Sept. 21 at the Senior High School at High Point.

Persons from Zebulon and the surrounding communities who would like to enter or who want further information are asked to contact Mrs. A. S. Hinton, president of the Senior Woman's Club, or Mrs. Ralph Bunn, president of the Junior Woman's Club.

The Woman's Club of High Point sponsors this annual event, and is asking women's clubs throughout the state to publicize the affair.

Mrs. Hinton, who released this information, said if the talent from here is sufficiently qualified, the women's clubs of Zebulon would consider sponsoring the person or act.

Contestants must be residents of North Carolina, amateurs, and the minimum age limit is 12 years. Finalist will appear in a "Tar Heel Variety Show" on Friday and Saturday evenings, Oct. 18 and 19, at the High Point Senior High School. Participants must also be available for further performances.

Police Chief Hopkins Speaks Piece About Dogs

According to Police Chief Willie B. Hopkins, the dog situation in Zebulon is still "bad."

The police chief said the town has had no report of the survey conducted with the Wake County Health Department.

"The good this will do as far as getting rid of the dogs," Chief Hopkins said, "It isn't worth a hoot!"

The chief listed three suggestions for relieving the town of the dog nuisance.

1) Create an ordinance. At present there is no ordinance to prohibit dogs running loose in the town.

2) Construct a city dog pound.

Tonight at 7:30 o'clock, the doors of a new recreation center will open to the people of Zebulon and community.

The grand opening of Bunn's Recreation Center is to be held tonight and the public is invited to come by and see the latest in recreational facilities offered to the people of this vicinity.

Mr. and Mrs. Bernice Bunn, owners of the recreation center, said they have long contemplated building such a center for the public's use.

"It has been a dream for a long time," Mrs. Bunn said, "and now it is complete and we are very happy."

The center is located in a building owned by Bunn on the first block of West Horton Street. It is adjacent to Gay's Dry Cleaning business establishment.

The upstairs of the building has been completely renovated. New walls and ceilings have been constructed of plaster and plywood in natural finish.

The dimensions of the main reception hall are 47½ by 44 feet. There is a stage that may be used for entertainment purposes. This measures 10½ by 32 feet. On each side of the stage are dressing rooms.

There is a kitchen with modern

Declines College Faculty Position

Mrs. Doris H. Privette has declined the offer of a post as a faculty member of Atlantic Christian College in Wilson.

Mrs. Privette was offered a position as a professor in the college's growing business department recently. She said she refused to accept the position because of personal reasons.

The popular Zebulon woman is a member of Wakelon School, serving as head instructor in the school's business curricula.

3) Employ a dog catcher. Dogs that were caught would be thrown into the pound for three days, the chief suggested, and if they were not claimed within that time they would be put to sleep.

Persons who claimed dogs which had been impounded would be required to pay a fee of $2 to the city for picking the dogs up and a $1 a day for their board.

"I feel the three suggestions would clear up the terrible situation we have here in Zebulon," the chief said. "On every hand we get complaints from the townspeople about dogs running loose, gathering in yards, barking all night and disturbing the peace."
