

THE ZEBULON RECORD

Volume XXX. Number 88.

Zebulon, N. C., Thursday, November 28, 1957

Theo. Davis Sons, Publishers

'SCUSE KNEE, PLEAS. The two gentlemen seem to be quite taken with the . . . er, ah, lady in the middle. In fact, the gentleman on the right is so taken he is heisting milady's skirt, exposing a glamorous gam with rolled hose. Reading from left to right is Harry W. Bacchus, the lady and Ruric Gill, Jr. The lady? None other than W. A. Allman, dressed in women's paraphernalia. The photograph was made during Zebulon's Golden Anniversary parade, in which W. A. participated.

Thanksgiving Prayer

O, Lord, you have heard many prayers.
You have heard Moses and the Israelites.
You have heard David, too.
So now hear all the nations
In the world, Lord,
As they cry out in the Wilderness of today
For help in making the United Nations
A working world of nations.

This prayer was written by Eddie Bremson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Bremson of Raleigh. Eddie is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Phillips of Zebulon. He is 10-years-old and is in the sixth grade at Frances Lacy School. The prayer was picked the best from 150 others composed by the students of the Raleigh school.

Annexation Plans Nixed For 32-Acre Subdivision

The mayor and members of the town board of commissioners have abandoned plans for increasing Zebulon's residential area by incorporating a 32-acre sub-division.

The plans for the annexation were abandoned when the families of Garland Godwin and Bodell Winstead refused to consent to sign the petition.

Both the Godwin and Winstead families, who reside on East Lee Street, would have been in the first area of the contemplated sub-division to be developed.

The sub-division would have

Stated Communication

There will be a stated communication of Zebulon Lodge, 609 AF&AM, Tuesday, December 3, in the Masonic Hall. At this meeting there will be the election of officers for the coming year. Prior to the meeting there will be a supper at 6:30. All Master Masons are cordially invited.

stretched from Lee Street to Franklin Street and from Arendell Avenue to Poplar Street.

The major portion of the property is owned by Bell and Holden, Raleigh realtors. It was reported that they were going to develop this property on which they were to build low-cost homes.

This area for annexation was looked upon favorably by the mayor and town board.

The 32-acre site would have had 25 building lots.

The mayor and town board gave permission to John A. Edwards, the town's consulting engineer, to make cost estimates for water and sewer lines to the property. The combined costs for the three sections would have been $27,125.44.

Section I, to have been developed first in the annexation, would have cost approximately $10,051.-31 for water and sewer lines. Section II, $6,135.75; and Section III, $10,938.38.

In order to incorporate this area now there must be an act of the N. C. State Legislature.

Baptists To Hold "M" Night Next Week, Dec. 2

Plans for the big Baptist "M" Night mass meeting for all Baptist churches in the Raleigh Association to be held Monday, Dec. 2, at 7:30 p.m., have been completed, Bennett Straughn, Training Union director for the Association, announced today.

The meeting, in which 82 Baptist Churches are participating, will be held at Memorial Auditorium in Raleigh. Dr. J. Winston Pearce, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Deland, Fla., will be the featured speaker. His subject will be "Inherited — a Trust and a Challenge." Hal Shoemaker, music director of Tabernacle Baptist Church in Raleigh, will direct the music.

"M" Night or Mobilization Night is a special time for launching the Training Union program in Baptist Churches for the coming year. Started in 1946 by the Training Union Department of the Baptist Board, Nashville, Tenn., this type of meeting has created widespread interest throughout the Southern Baptist Convention. Last year 965 such meetings were held with 438,609 persons from 17,798 churches attending.

Farmers Urged To Attend Weed Meet In Raleigh

A county-wide tobacco meeting will be held Tuesday night, Dec. 3, at 7:30 p.m. in the Wake County Office Building. Mr. R. R. Bennett, Extension Tobacco Specialist, Mr. F. A. Todd, Extension Plant Pathology Specialist, and Dr. H. E. Scott, Extension Entomology Specialist will discuss the production of acceptable market type tobacco, tobacco diseases, and insect control. The results of 1957 experiments will be available at this meeting.

We understand that these men have to cover the other tobacco producing counties in North Carolina and will not be available to Wake County again until next February. Please plan to attend and bring your neighbors.

BAZAAR

December 3 is a date to remember.

This is the date of the Mercer-Sexton Circle's fourth annual dinner and bazaar to be held in the Fellowship Hall of the Zebulon Methodist Church.

The dinner will consist of turkey and all the trimmings with a dessert of fresh coconut cake and coffee. Tickets are now on sale for this meal which will be served from 11:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m.

Persons who wish to secure tickets should see Mrs. Lawrence Liles, Mrs. I. B. Richardson or Miss Sarah Eaton.

The bazaar sale will be held from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. Available will be many novelties, toys, clothing and other items which will make useful household objects or appreciated gifts.

Help the United Fund reach its goal. Give now!

Lions To Observe 8th Birthday Thurs.

G. Paul Carr

G. Paul Carr To Be Speaker

G. Paul Carr of Hillsboro, District Governor of Lions District 31-G which includes 10 counties in Piedmont North Carolina, will pay his official visit to the Zebulon Lions Club on December 5, President Hardin Hinton has announced.

The local club will be observing its eighth anniversary on this date. For the celebration Ladies Night will be held with a banquet in Wakelon School cafeteria followed by a dance and Christmas party in the club's unfinished building on East Lee Street.

The district which embraces the local club includes 30 clubs in the 10 county area of Wake, Durham, Chatham, Orange, Person, Granville, Vance, Franklin, Alamance, and Caswell counties.

As representative of the largest international civic organization in the world, Carr will speak to the local Lions, bring greetings from the top leadership of the worldwide association, and be available for counsel and consultation with directors and officials of the club.

The International Association of Lions Clubs has a combined membership of over 566,000 members in 83 countries and territories of the world. There are over 14,000 of these members in North Carolina clubs, which have as their aim service to their community with special emphasis on aid to the blind as their major project.

Carr in private life is Superintendent of Schools of Orange County and has been active in Lionism for a number of years, having served in virtually all club and district offices up to the position of Governor to which he was elected in Asheville last June. He is a native of Duplin County, a lay leader in the Methodist Church and an alumnus of the University of North Carolina.

Navy Recruiter Award Winner

Chief Construction Electrician Roger Baker, USN, assigned to the Navy Recruiting Headquarters in Raleigh, received the first Recruiting Outstanding Service Award presented in the North Carolina Navy Recruiting area. Chief Baker is a native of Zebulon and resides with his family at 409 N. Church Street.

In competition with some sixty other Navy Recruiters throughout North Carolina, Chief Baker earned the award by virtue of his initiative, ambition, leadership, and attention to duty.

The presentation award was made by Lt. Commander A. E. Hammarlund, USN, Officer in Charge of Navy Recruiting and Naval Officer Procurement throughout the State and Chief Warrant Officer M. S. House, USN Assistant Officer in Charge for Enlisted Procurement.

This sage saying is on a sign in the Town Clerk's office, predominantly displayed for all to yard, thinks by the inch and see: "He who speaks by the yard, thinks by the inch and should be dealt with by the foot."

Cemetery Has Thefts; Reportedly Lover's Lane

Mrs. G. Kermit Corbett was out-raged.

"Whoever it was was the sorriest somebody imaginable," she said, her indignation growing.

Why she was so out-raged and name-calling was over the fact that some person had been to the grave of her son in the Zebulon cemetery and stolen the flowering shrubbery.

"I don't know who it was," she said, "but I think he was the commonest, sorriest, most low-down person at all."

Mrs. Corbett said the azalea plants she had planted at the grave of her son had been taken up by the roots. She had no idea who it could have been.

"I wish you would tell them," she said to the reporter, "that if they are that anxious for shrubbery I will see that they get some. Just ask them to come to me and I will give them some or buy them some and give them."

Mrs. Corbett said she had never heard of such vandalism. She could not get used to the idea anyone would go to a grave and rob it of its beauty.

"Not only that," Mrs. Corbett continued, "but just a short while ago my daughter-in-law and I placed two vases of cut flowers on the grave. And, the next time we were over there, just a short time, the vases were gone."

Could you, she wanted to know, wonder how any person could take vases and use them on the mantle or in the home that had been stolen from a grave?

"I don't believe it was any of the colored people that live next to the cemetery," she said. "I believe they have more respect for the dead than that. It was some common, sorry white person."

Reports have seeped out there is a good lot of vandalism going on at the Zebulon cemetery.

One citizen said they did not believe that there are enough patrols made by the town's law enforcing body.

It has been reported that certain sections of the cemetery are lovers' lanes. A number of persons said they have seen cars parked in the cemetery at night, and tire tracks are visible where automobiles have been.