Garden Club Hears Two Wendell Matrons Lecture

For the second time this garden club year guest speakers have addressed the club even though the members passed a resolution at the beginning of the club year to do the programs themselves.

Monday night, Feb. 10, Mrs. John Glover of Wendell and Mrs. William J. Ammons of Hephzibah lectured to the club on the mechanics and construction of flower arranging.

Mrs. Glover showed the club members different styles and designs of containers in which arrangements could be made effectively.

"The soft, dainty flowers — roses, pansies, etc. — need to be arranged in fine containers, such as silver or exquisite crystal," Mrs. Glover said.

The containers Mrs. Glover exhibited were loaned to the speaker by Whitley Furniture Co., Inc. The major portion of them were beautiful and handsome pottery of modern design.

The major portion of the program was used by Mrs. Ammons, who lectured on arranging.

The essence of her talk was to enjoy yourself when you make flower arrangements.

"If it gets to be downright drudgery," she said, "stop! You cannot create under those conditions."

Mrs. Ammons demonstrated by making some arrangements. Pertinent points of her address were: work down in making an arrangement, keep the main line simple, save the choice blooms for the focal point, and do have fun doing it.

"Fit your arrangement into your home," Mrs. Ammons said. "Don't use a severe, modernistic arrangement in a room filled with victorian furniture; or don't put a colonial design in an ultra-modern type house."

She said, too, that the type of container is important for an arrangement.

Following the addresses, a short business session was conducted with the president, Mrs. Carsey Tippet, presiding.

The meeting was in the home of a club member, Mrs. Eldred Rountree, with Mrs. Floyd Edwards, co-hostess. They served a refreshment course of cherry tarts with scoops of vanilla ice cream, nuts and coffee.

RECREATION

An organized summer recreational program is being planned for the children who live in the vicinity of Corinth-Holders School.

"This will be our first experience with such an organized summer recreational program," Principal Ottis C. Freeman said, "and we are anticipating a very successful program."

Officials of the PTA considered the supper an overwhelming success and voiced thanks to the public for its support.

Principal Freeman revealed that $1,231 was cleared from the supper, and will be applied toward the summer program.

"Twelve pigs, wood for the barbecuing, and a lot of hard work were given by the parents and patrons of the PTA," Principal Freeman said.

Donations and proceeds from the sale of tickets, drinks and bread totaled $100.23. This money was used to bring the children of the Free Will Baptist Orphanage of Middlesex to the supper. Donations for the expense of the chickens, potatoes and cabbage totaled $177.20.
