Open Letter To Dogs

Grab Your Tails and Run

Attention you mangy, flea-bitten, carrion-eating, suck-egg dogs. We feel we ought to warn you. You have had it. If you don't have a license, you had better skedaddle!

The ordinance prohibiting you from running up and down the streets and in the suburbs, disturbing the homo sapiens, is in effect.

The mayor and town board of commissioners passed such an ordinance by demand of your so-called best friend, man.

You just can't run around unlicensed, now, with no cares or woes. The populace of Zebulon didn't like you doing that. They didn't like your arrogance, your insolence, and your uppance in thinking you own the "biggest little town on earth."

You will have to put your tails between your legs in submission. Man has to be submissive, too, you know. He has to knuckle under to the federal and state governments by paying taxing taxes. He has to obey the laws of the highways, and if he doesn't have the proper driver's permit or auto license, he has to pay the penalty. He has to do a lot of things he doesn't like to do. But it is for the welfare of his fellow citizen.

So, in closing, you will have to abide by the ordinance the mayor and town board of commissioners set up. You will have to have a license for free travel - and only four of you have been licensed so far, according to a report received from the town offices.

You are not to disturb your neighbors or owners by uncultured voicings in the night, trespassing into neighbor's yards, chewing up the morning or afternoon papers, carrying off door mats, or over-turning garbage cans.

There are so many things you must be aware of. So many things. Or it's into the dog pound you go. And you won't like that, for it won't be pleasant. The pound will be located on East Vance Street at the old court house building. It will be just a dinky little affair, only 12 ft. long, 6 feet wide and 5 feet high.

You won't like it there. The treatment you will get won't be good for your personality. You will become warped, full of resentment, sour at the world.

We don't want these things to happen to you. We love you, but to love in this world nowadays, it seems, one has to conform, reform and become regimented.

Here's hoping for a pleasanter, happier existence for you. A licensed existence. For the mayor and town officials say the ordinance will be enforced. How well, we can't say. But to be safe, get yourself a license, now, today!

So long and happy hunting.

NO CLUES

Police Officer Willie B. Hopkins , has reported there are no new developments in the cases of thefts from Zebulon Supply Co. and Parrish Grocery and Market.

Lifts 1000 Lb. Trailer And Takes Off Wheels

If you have to steal, don't do it from a person who has a brother who is a law enforcement officer.

Constable James Richardson last Saturday night apprehended the thief who stole two tires and two wheels from his brother, I. B. Richardson of Route 4, Zebulon.

Constable Richardson said his brother reported the theft occurred on Monday, March 3.

McKenzie Wright, Negro about 30, Rt. 4, Zebulon, admitted the theft of the tires and wheels, Constable Richardson said.

Wright, according to the officer, said he took the wheels off Richardson's farm trailer parked underneath the barn shelter. The trailer weighs more than a 1.000

"He claimed he picked up the trailer himself and disengaged the wheels," Constable Richardson

Wright, when apprehended, had one of the tires on his 1949 automobile. Under questioning, he took the constable to his home and the other tire was found behind the refrigerator. The tire was covered with an ironing board.

Constable Richardson said Wright said after he took the wheels off the trailer he took the tires off the rims and walked one and one-half miles and threw the rims into Herbert Perry's farm Wright posted a $500 bond. He will be given trial at Zebulon Recorder's Court.

H. Cloid Wade, Jr., 23, has risen from the ranks of WUNC-TV at Chapel Hill to become a full-time studio manager.

"Working in television is very fascinating," Wade said. "I like it very much."

Wade's duties as studio manager of the Chapel Hill unit of the Greater University's television station-there are others at the Woman's College and N. C. State College-are to see that the television productions got underway at the appointed time set for them, the responsibility of seeing that the crew members are at their proper stations, such as the continuity script girl, the cameramen, lighting technicians, audio technicians, and all the persons who help to engineer the productions.

"And that is quite a job, seeing that everything goes well during a televising schedule," he said.

After his discharge from the Army in June of 1956, Wade enrolled in the business school of the University of North Carolina. He planned to take a degree in business administration, radio and television.

He still plans to get his degree, but at present his full-time position as studio manager will not allow him to take the prescribed courses at the University.

"One day I saw an advertisement in the Daily Tar Heel, the student body newspaper, wanting a production assistant at the University's television station. I applied and got the job."

Wade stayed production assistant for two months and was then promoted to the audio portion of the production department as boom man. His job as boom operator was the placement of the mike during a production.

"The boom is a mike attached to a long metal arm, sort of like a giraffe's neck," Wade said. "It can cover a 180 degree area to pick up voices during a production."

It wasn't long until he received another promotion, that of camera-

Too Large To Do Justice

Music Head To Quit June

Confirmation of the report in last week's issue of The Record that Dowd Davis, Zebulon Baptist Church minister of music, had resigned has been received.

On Tuesday, the following statement was released from the offices of the church, under the direction of the Rev. W. Arnold Smith, pas-

The statement reads:

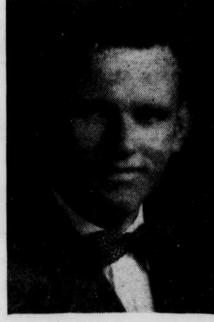

Mr. Dowd Davis, minister of music of the Zebulon Baptist Church, tendered his resignation to become effective as of the first of June, 1958. Mr. Davis, in his written resignation to the Board of Deacons two Sundays ago, stated that his decision to relinquish the duties of the music program was based upon the extent of the music program here. The program is too large, he feels, for him to be able to do justice to it and his Seminary studies at the same time.

Mr. Davis' resignation was received reluctantly and "we shall certainly hate to see him and his lovely family depart from our community."

Arrangements are underway to secure a replacement for Mr. Davis in the position of minister of music and organist of the Town's Thoroughfares Need Repairs, $12,000 Worth

The streets of Zebulon are in the worst shape they have been in in a very long time.

Town Manager Willie B. Hopkins revealed yesterday that the town's thoroughfares have suffered severely from the wintry weather that has held Zebulon in "All the streets are in need of repair," Hopkins said. "The freezing, then thawing has caused untold damage."

He estimated that it will cost approximately $12,000 to make the repairs.

Church, Sycamore, North and Wakefield streets suffered most and are in need of repairs the most. These four streets were the first which were hard topped in town.

Hopkins said $7,500 is ready to be applied for street replacement. He did not know where the other funds would be gotten for payment, but he did not believe the town would float a bond issue.

Repaying of the streets is expected to start within the next two weeks, Hopkins said.

"We are waiting for the weather to become more settled," he said.

Hopkins could not say whether the street repairing will be contracted or whether it will be done by the State Highway and Public Werks Commission.
