Postmaster Says Postal Rates To Go Up Beginning Aug. 1

Postal rates for Zebulon and the rest of the nation will go up the first of August, revealed Zebulon Postmaster M. J. Sexton yesterday. The postal rates apparently have been increased due to increased losses in operating the United States Post Offices.

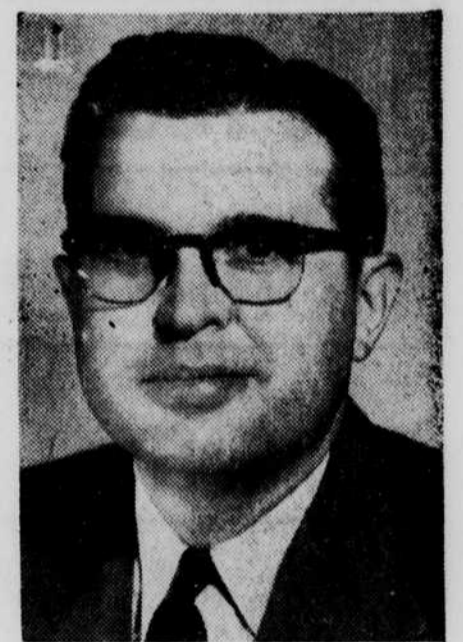

It will cost more to mail all first class matter. First class mail includes all drop letters, both local and out of town, post cards, all other matter wholly or partly in writing, whether sealed or unsealed (except manuscript copy accompanying proofsheets or corrected proofsheets), and all matter sealed or otherwise closed again inspection.

Previously, first class mail was sent at the rate of three cents per ounce, with the exception of post cards and local drop letters, which were mailed for two cents per ounce.

Articles sent air mail will cost one cent more an ounce than before August 1. It will now cost seven cents an ounce to send a letter air mail and five cents an

Jones Installed As Rotary President

HAYWOOD JONES

Haywood Jones was installed as president of the Zebulon Rotary Club at the June 25 meeting by Recorder's Court Judge Irby D. Gill. Mr. Jones succeeds Ed Hales.

Other officers installed were Aaron Lowery, vice-president; Vance Brown, treasurer; Pat Farmer, secretary; and Robert Daniel Massey and the Rev. Arnold Smith, directors. Serving another term as directors are Willie B. Hopkins and Howard Beck.

The new president was last year's club vice-president and has served on various committees during his years in the Zebulon Rotary Club.

At last night's meeting, his first as president, Mr. Jones assigned new committees for the following year.

Brenda Bunn and Andrea Temple will report on Girls' State activities, and Leary Davis and Tommy Kimball will tell of Boys' State.

80 Cases Tried In Local Court

Approximately 80 cases were heard at last week's session of the Zebulon Recorder's Court which had recessed for three weeks prior to the June 25 term because of the absence of Judge I. D. Gill and Solicitor Ferd Davis. Next session of the court, according to Clerk W. B. Hopkins, is set for July 9.

Cases heard or called last Wednesday. (Continued on Page 5)

ILLEGAL WHISKEY

Spirit Was Willing; Flesh Couldn't Quite Make It

Katie Mae Montague Baker Petford has a strong stomach, but she could not quite take 10 ounces of her own whiskey without stopping — and as a result, she faces trial for possession of non-taxpaid whiskey.

Sunday afternoon Patrolman B. K. Tucker and Constable James D. Richardson were searching for a Negro man who fled the scene of a motor vehicle accident earlier in the day, and walked into Kate's Grill on Barbee Street. They were apparently unexpected guests, since Katie Mae was holding a large glass of "white" whiskey in her hand as they entered.

Without batting an eye, Katie Mae turned up the glass and attempted to swallow the evidence—but the evidence was too strong. She gagged about a third of the way through, and handed the glass to a girl standing next to her. The dumbfounded girl simply stood with the glass in her hand until the constable took it from her with about 6 ounces of evidence remaining.

"If the flesh had been as willing as the spirit, I wouldn't have any evidence," Constable Richardson declared. "Katie Mae thought fast, but her body just wouldn't obey her mind's commands, and no wonder! That whiskey is the strongest I ever smelled."

The Negro woman will be tried on July 9 in the local recorder's court on charges of possession of non-taxpaid whiskey and possession for purpose of sale.

Battery A Cuts Enlisted Strength

Budget restrictions originating in Washington brought about a 7% reduction in enlisted strength of Battery A, 113th Field Artillery Battalion. The Zebulon National Guard unit was ordered to cut six men from its active enlisted rolls Tuesday.

The six men were part of 145 ordered cut from North Carolina's 30th Infantry Division by the end of the fiscal year which ended June 30.

Present strength of Battery A is seven officers and 80 enlisted men.

Men who want to enlist in Battery A may have their names placed on a waiting list, reports Captain Jack Potter, and they will be notified as soon as a vacancy occurs.

Town Board To Hold First Meeting Of Fiscal Year

The Zebulon Town Board will hold its first meeting of the town's fiscal year Monday night, July 7, Mayor Wilbur Debnam has announced.

The main point of business to be considered is the tentative town budget. After a tentative budget is established there will be a 20 day consideration period before it can be adopted. The budget will be published in the Record at least twice during this period, Debnam said.

Other business at the year's first meeting will be the appointment of town employees.

The mayor stated that nothing can be done toward securing new industry, namely a new Devil Dog plant, for the town until Joe Edwards, Raleigh engineer, finishes his survey of the town's water system and water potentialities. Edwards has been at work for approximately three months.

Jordan Carries Zebulon Precinct, Rest Of Wake

John Jordan, Jr., former State YDC president and a strong supporter of the late Senator W. Kerr Scott, carried Little River Township in last Saturday's balloting by approximately the same margin as he did the rest of Wake County, receiving better than 60 per cent of the votes both here and in the entire county.

Jordan defeated Thomas F. Ellis, Raleigh lawyer who was gen-

FARMERS TO VISIT COKER FARMS

Wakelon vocational agriculture teacher Paul Dew of Zebulon revealed that farmers from the Knightdale, Wendell, and Zebulon areas will have a chance to visit the Coker Seed farm at Hartsville, S. C., Monday, July 7.

A bus will leave Wendell High School Monday morning at 7:00. Anyone interested in taking the trip should contact either Dew, G. T. Horton, Wendell High School agriculture teacher, or Marsh (Continued on Page 2) erally supported by the Hodges faction, by about 2700 votes — 6860 to 4114. In Little River Township Jordan received 283 votes to 179 for Ellis, getting 237 in Zebulon and 46 in Mitchell's Mill.

The surprisingly heavy balloting was in part the result of a bitter campaign, in which Ellis was depicted as a turncoat Democrat who had failed to support the Democratic Party, and Jordan was attacked as being supported by Negroes. Apparently the voters resented the race issue being injected into the campaign; Jordan carried virtually every precinct with ease.

Former State Senator and Democratic Chairman J. Wilbur Rynn served as manager of the Jordan campaign. Backing Ellis were former State Senator James Poyner and supporters of Governor Hodges including Highway Chairman J. Melville Broughton, Jr.

On the local level considerable work was done by both Jordan and Ellis backers, with vehicles busy all day bringing voters to the polls.
