New Official Car

Town Board Orders Car And Names Community Librarian

Policemen and town officials now have a new official car at their disposal.

Police Chief Willie B. Hopkins accompanied Z. J. Robertson to Charlotte Tuesday to purchase the car.

The town government in its regular meeting Monday night approved the purchase of a 1959 Chevrolet from J. M. Chevrolet Co., owned by Robertson. The 4 door, 8 cylinder model is being sold to the town for $1,772.01.

Commissioner T. B. Hepler made the motion to purchase the automobile.

Mrs. Gilford Bufkin received full approval of the board to become the librarian of the community library.

Mrs. Bufkin's name was submitted to the board by members of the American Legion Auxiliary, who sponsor the library. Monday night, Mrs. Bufkin said she has not made up her mind about accepting the position.

Mrs. Elizabeth Ellett made the motion to employ Mrs. Bufkin as town librarian and it was approved by all members of the board present.

Each three-quarter inch water and sewer taps made to homes in the future will cost $70 each, totaling $140. These taps are to go to the curb line water meter. A clean-out plug will also be installed in this process.

The tap is not to exceed 55 feet from the main line, and there will be a $25 charge for all water taps replaced because the line is not furnishing adequate water to the owner's premise.

All water taps in size over three-quarters of an inch will be made for the total cost of $70.

Music Teacher Has A Little Daughter

The former piano and public school music teacher of Wakelon is the mother of a daughter.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hawkins announce the birth of a daughter, Perri Lynn, July 23, in Rock Hill, S. C., hospital. Mrs. Hawkins is the former Patricia McCormick of Rock Hill.

Mrs. Hawkins has notified Principal John J. Hicks that she will be unable to head the school's piano department for the coming year.

Bank Teller Is Promoted To Rocky Mount Branch

Paul Weeks, popular young teller of Peoples Bank and Trust Co. here for the past three and one-half years, is being transferred to West Branch bank in the Englewood section on Highway 64, Rocky Mount.

Weeks was notified that he is to be transferred last week by W. H. Stanley, vice president of Peoples Bank and Trust Co. of Rocky Mount.

He is expected to assume his position as manager of the Rocky Mount branch the last of August.

Weeks is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Weeks, Sr. of Whitakers. He is married to the former Yvonne Blackwell of Oxford. Both he and his wife are graduates of East Carolina College with bachelor of science degrees in business administration. They have a 20-months-old son, Paul Douglas III.

Weeks expressed mixed feelings about leaving Zebulon. He is happy about the promotion, but is sorry to be leaving the many friends

Electric Power To Be Off Sunday

Electric power will be off the Wake Electric Cooperative's Emit substation from 4:30 to 5:30 Sunday morning, August 9, to make emergency repairs. This power interruption will affect all Wake Electric members in Johnston and Nash counties and members in Wake County as far north as N. C. Highway 96, west of Hopkins Cross Roads.

Boy Scouts Not To Take Part In United Fund Drive This Time

Zebulon's Boy Scouting program will seek no assistance from the 1959-60 United Fund.

This announcement was made this week by Armstrong Cannady, district commissioner of the Saponi District.

Cannady said the local scouts will conduct their own campaign to get funds for their program here.

Before the scouting program was withdrawn from the United Fund, questionnaires were sent out to friends of scouting. Forty of these questionnaires came back saying get out of the United Fund. Three came back urging them to stay in the agency.

Cannady said there is definitely no ill will toward the Fund. The scouting program is grateful for assistance given it over the years. But the scouts feel they can conduct their own fund drive and get the necessary assistance from people of the town who know of and are willing to help support the scouting program here.

The proportionate part of the Fund the scouts were to receive is approximately $800. Last year it was $781 and only $450 was raised.

It has been necessary each year for the scouts to solicit more money to carry on their program. Now, they feel they can conduct their own campaign and raise the necessary monies for their work.

Cannady said he is all for the community chest but he is more for scouting.

Former Teacher Now In Scouting Program

Robert Perry Moore, former eighth grade teacher at Wakelon for two years, has become a full time executive in the scouting program.

Moore is now attending the national training school for scout executives in Brunswick, N. J. After this 30-day training period he will be sent to the University of Michigan for a two-week advanced training program.

The former Wakelon teacher has accepted a position as district executive of Lee County, with headquarters in Sanford. The family will live in Sanford.

Moore organized and headed Troop 525 here and is reported to have done an excellent job. This troop was organized in February. He was succeeded by Howard Phelps.

Former Teacher Heads Lioness Club; Takes Active Civic Part

Mrs. Hardin Hinton

Her charm engulfs those she meets with a delightful warmth, sincere friendliness, and a deep quality of unselfishness.

This is Mrs. Hardin Hinton, newly installed president of the Lioness Club.

Mrs. Hinton expressed that she "feels highly honored" to have this important office of the auxiliary of the Lions Club bestowed upon

Buck Operates Esso Station

M. M. Phillips, better known as Buck, took over the ownership and management of the Esso service station at the corner of Arendell and Gannon Avenues Saturday, July 25.

This is the second time Phillips has been associated with this station. He left the station in 1948 after 10½ years to become associated with J. M. Chevrolet-Oldsmobile firm for 10½ years as salesman.

Phillips purchased the station from Eugene Privette. He is assisted at the station by his son, Mickey, and Bo Allen.

The new owner invites all his old friends and customers to stop by and see him as well as new customers. He promises the best service available.

Head Coach Moves To Jones County

Vaughan Fowler, head athletic coach at Wakelon High School for the past two years, has accepted a position as football and track coach of Jones Central High School in Trenton, Jones County. He moved to Trenton last Friday after completing his work with the summer driver education program here.

Weather Holds Up Work On The Local Hospital

With the great amount of rain and inclement weather, construction on the local Wendell-Zebulon Hospital has been held up, according to H. C. Wade, board member of Wake County Hospital Authority.

Wade reported that he doesn't know too much about the progress being made on the local hospital, having worked more recently with the larger hospital going up near Raleigh.

her. She took the oath of office May 27. Ex-Lions President Crafton Hudson installed her.

This ex-school teacher possesses the many necessary attributes a teacher should have: warmth, keen understanding, deep feeling, a freshness of approach and love.

She said she thoroughly enjoyed teaching. It was the only thing she wanted to do, ever. Even when she was a little girl, she would collect her many dolls, or gather together her little friends, and hold "school."

Right now, though, she takes care of her husband, manages two devastatingly handsome and intelligent children, and runs her home with the utmost efficiency.

The switch from teaching to homemaker was not difficult for Mrs. Hinton. She has the ability to make the best of any situation. And running a home, she has found, has been one of the most pleasant aspects of her womanhood.

She enjoys cooking, and does a modicum of sewing. Her many culinary secrets she gathered from her mother, who is an excellent cook. Chocolate pies are her specialty, possibly because they are her family's favorite dessert.

Summer finds her gleaning the many vegetables from her garden and putting them in the freezer. Her family never goes lacking for something to eat. Any variety of garden vegetable can be whisked from the freezer and put on the table to be relished at a moment's notice.

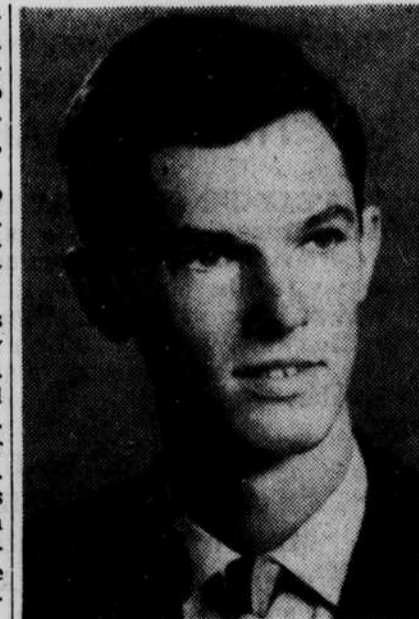

She sews some. Just the necessary type of sewing—replacing buttons and patching rips and darning. But she doesn't particularly care for the needle.

Mrs. Hinton's spare time is used nursing her flowers and shrubbery into healthy and beautiful blossoms and plants. She finds the out of doors quite thrilling and loves to stay out as much as possible, often with a spade, hoe or shovel gripped firmly between her hands.

She finds little time to sit down to her spinet piano and less time to look at television. At the piano she plays hymns best, she says. But she and her daughter, who is becoming an accomplished clarinetist, often play together.

Mrs. Hinton's religious and civic work is divided between her church and the Junior Woman's Club, Lioness Club and PTA. She teaches the Beginners in the Zebulon Baptist Church, of which she is an active member, serves on the Junior Board of Deacons, sings in the soprano section of the chancel choir, is program chairman of the Mary Kemp Circle of the WMS, and is past leader of the Sunbeam group.

She said she thoroughly enjoys
