Farm Bureau Endorses Soil Testing Program

Zebulon Farm Bureau endorsed the soil testing program at its regular meeting Tuesday evening. This program was promoted by the Raleigh Chamber of Commerce in cooperation with the agricultural agencies in the county.

The endorsement urged farmers in the School district to take soil samples in order to learn more about their soils. Soil boxes have been placed in Wakelon Agriculture Department, Hales Farm Supply Co., Zebulon Gin Co., Massey Store, O. E. Brannon's store, W. I. Hopkins store, Cecil Hopkins store, P. V. Horton store, W. P. Hopkins store, A. W. Perry store, Duke's Lake store, and Carl Brannon store for the farmer's convenience.

Soil testing boxes may be gotten from any of the above places and returned to the places for pick up to be taken to the soil testing laboratory.

E. Y. Floyd, director of the Plant Food Institute of North Carolina and Virginia, was guest speaker for this meeting. He gave an informative talk on fertilizers and farm income.

Floyd urged members to test their soils and follow lime and fertilizer recommendations. Figures were presented to show that the net farm income of Wake County could be increased by five million dollars by proper fertilization.

The Plant Food Institute director summarized his speech with two main ways of raising the farm income in this community. They are: test soil and lime and fertilize according to recommendation to get maximum yields; and farmers should plan to produce more of the products used in the home.

Lunchroom Audit

School Cafeteria In Very Good Shape, Report Shows

A report of an audit of Wakelon School lunch operations revealed no errors or deficiencies, according to Mrs. Anne W. Maley, State School Lunch Supervisor.

Mrs. Maley said, "The principal and manager should be congratulated on the fine job they are doing at this school."

The audit of the lunch program at Wakelon School was made for the period of September 1, 1959, through December 31, 1959.

Mrs. Maley said that it was considered that the records had been maintained in accordance with program requirements.

"The 92 per cent participation and the admirable operating balance are results of very fine management," Mrs. Maley said.

Total income reported for this period was $16,277.60. Broken down it reads: payment for children's lunches, $13,557.61; payment for adult's lunches, $675.08; reimbursement claims, $1,658.49; and special milk reimbursement claims, $386.42.

Expenditures for this period amounted to $16,271.15. Cost of food was $11,704.58; labor, $3,828.49; equipment, $252.60; other items, $485.48.

Average monthly expenditures were $4,068.

The records did not indicate the receipt of donated goods or services.

School officials stated that they had been furnished monthly lists of abundant foods and school lunch specials.

United States Department of Agriculture commodities had been received and used during the period of audit. Storage facilities were considered adequate. The general surface condition of commodities was good. The school officials informed the auditor that, in their opinion, the items in stock were not excessive for needs.

Fifty-two thousand two hundred sixty-three students bought lunches during this period. Free lunches were served to 3,020.

The potential income from the number of paid lunches served, multiplied by the prices charged, (25¢ for adults) amounted to $14,182.47, as compared with the

Not Much Influenza Seen By Doctors; Just Old Colds

Unseasonably mild temperatures, rain and dampness are producing a lot of common colds.

Influenza doesn't seem to be striking at the populace in and around Zebulon.

According to reports from three doctors, they haven't seen much or any influenza cases.

Doctors B. D. Thomas, George F. Tucker and Durwood S. Stallings, Jr. admit they have seen a lot of colds but not too much of the flu bug.

Dr. Stallings said he hasn't seen any Asian type flu, but he has doctoring the A and B types of influenza.

Dr. Thomas said he hasn't seen too much flu but a lot of colds. He said it is hard to differentiate between the old fashioned and Asian influenza without a battery of blood tests.

Dr. Tucker said he hasn't seen too much flu, and that that he has seen he doesn't think there was any of the Asian type. He, too, said it is hard to tell the difference between the two without blood tests.

Asian flu was felt here two years ago, and caused quite a number of serious and wide-spread illnesses.

The local doctors declare there is no influenza epidemic.

Absenteeism from contagious diseases has been "considerably higher in the last couple of months" at Wakelon School, Principal John J. Hicks reported.

Hicks said for the month from October 30 to November 30 there were 668 absences reported because of whooping cough, influenza, colds and chicken pox.

From December 1 to January 7, contagion reports at Wakelon School showed there were 661 cases of pneumonia, influenza and colds.

Principal Hicks said the majority of the illnesses were reported to be colds.
