Scout Troop

Blue Ribbon Winner

Scouts of Troop 525 received first award, a blue ribbon, for their showing at the Scout-O-Rama held at the State Fair Grounds April 30. A lean-to, built from veneer cores, composed the project with ropes used for lashing the logs together. The top was heavy duty felt held in-tact by strips.

Tents were pitched and a desirable camp-site formed to make it possible for boys to enjoy camping the year round.

Troop 525 was commended for its enthusiasm and willingness to carry out projects first class. Parents of these boys are proud that a good showing was made.

The Scouts and Scoutmaster Howard Phelps have extended heartiest appreciation to those who made this event possible. A grand time was enjoyed by all.

Attending were Tommy Whitley, Tommy Wood, Tommy Pate, Phillip Privette, Drew Cannady, Frankie Kannon, Mike McKagen, Dennis Croom, Dwight Stephens, Linwood Oakley, David Hawkins, Durwood Chamblee, Joe Chamblee, Bunny Bunn, and Gene Mangum.

Dr. Charles Flowers Speaks To Men

Dr. Charles Flowers, Medical Director for the Central Prison in Raleigh, was speaker for the Methodist Men on Monday night for their May meeting. Dr. Flowers, who has served in the capacity as Medical Director for the past six years told the group of the work of the medical staff at the prison and of his personal duties. He also enlightened the group as to the caliber of medical service and treatment given the prisoners. Much progress has been made during his tenure including an increase from two nurses to ten full-time nurses plus many other full-time employees and part-time employees. The operating room, X-ray lab and other facilities have been improved likewise.

Twenty men were present for the meeting and four new members joined. They were Gilbert Bullock, H. Clويد Wade, Jr., Richard Turlington, and Maurice Chapman. Frank Wall, president of the group, appointed H. V. Andrews, Jesse Pulley and Rev. W. K. Quick as a nominating committee to present a slate of officers at the June meeting which will be a family picnic to be held at the Park. Circle No. 1 of the WSCS served the group.

Town Worried Over Water Supplies; Have Meeting To Discuss

In a special joint meeting called by the mayors of Zebulon and Wendell, the two Town Boards met last night to consider the possibility of a water filtering plant that would meet the needs of the two communities. The call session was held at the Bank of Wendell.

Mayors Joe Henderson of Wendell and T. Ed Hales of Zebulon called the meeting in the interest of providing an adequate water supply to not only meet the needs of the two growing communities but to attract new and sizeable industry to the area. The meeting comes on the heel of a rumor circulated here last week that the Zebulon - Wendell communities were rejected last month by a large manufacturing firm seeking to locate in the area because of an inadequate water supply.

John Edwards of Raleigh, the engineer for both of these eastern Wake county towns, met with the group last night.

Edwards told the group that the two towns were fortunate to be situated two miles on either side of Little River and that the communities had enough water that could supply 1,500,000 gallons of water daily plus an unlimited storage of millions of gallons of water. The present Zebulon water supply is only 200,000 gallons daily and Mayor Henderson reported the Wendell supply was about the same. Zebulon has some 650 water customers and Wendell has service to about 550 homes. Wendell has some 300,000,000 gallons of raw water stored in the thirteen acre Rock quarry. Zebulon has a 20 acre lake of raw water on Little River.

Edwards proposed a centrally-located water filter plant on Highway 64—Business, midway between the two communities. A ten-inch water main would be run to each of the towns. This would mean the opening up of four miles of highway frontage to new industry and new housing. It would also make available four miles of property on the Norfolk and Southern Railway Line.

The cost of the filter plant and

More Than 200 Persons Attend Clinic Open House Sunday Between 4 and 6

More than 200 persons attended the open house Sunday afternoon of the B. D. Thomas Clinic.

The clinic, modern in both structure and equipment, is located on the boulevard just opposite Wendell-Zebulon Hospital.

The spacious foyer opens up into two reception rooms with soft Nile colored plaster and matching fibre glass curtains at the picture windows.

The reception counter, connecting the two waiting rooms, is made of birch, as is the receptionist corridor directly behind. This counter may be flooded with light from overhead with modern bullet light fixtures.

There are accommodations for both white and colored patients.

The examining rooms are done in a soft shade of green and gold, with matching curtains.

The consultation rooms have walls of walnut panel with beige draperies at the shoulder-high windows. The main consultation room is spacious.

The treatment and pediatric rooms are colored a soft shade and have white fibre glass curtains.

There is a fully equipped laboratory with birch cabinets formica covered. Cabinets have copper hardware.

All floors are hardwood except the entrance way and reception rooms which have vinyl tile.

There are two baths.

Music may be piped to all the rooms by the use of a high fidelity recording system. There is also an intercommunication network whereby doctor may summon nurses, and nurses may stay in full contact with office procedure.

The spacious and commodious building may be fully heated with hot air and air conditioned in the summer months. The exterior is constructed of brick and has overhanging eaves.

There are two outside back entrances which open onto a spacious parking area.

The building was begun in the early winter and the doctor and his staff moved into the clinic Easter weekend. His staff is made up of Mrs. Ainsworth Privette and Mrs. Valaria Perry.

At the open house ceremonies, Dr. and Mrs. Thomas greeted guests, who were introduced to Dr. and Mrs. George Tucker and Dr. and Mrs. Durwood Stallings, Jr. Dr. Zyba Massey presided at the register.

Dr. and Mrs. Charles Flowers invited the guests to the refreshment table, presided over by Dr. Dr. Thomas' mother, Mrs. D. D. Thomas of Sanford, who poured punch. Dr. and Mrs. L. M. Massey said goodbyes.

Assisting in the reception were Mrs. George Temple, Mrs. Helen Gregory, Mrs. Fred Chamblee, Mrs. Philip Olive, Mrs. Norman Screws, Mrs. Ainsworth Privette, Mrs. Valaria Perry and Mrs. Mary Reed.

Out of town guests attending were Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Davis of Hope Mills, Mr. and Mrs. Blanton Hartness of Henderson, Dr. and Mrs. Earl Brian, Dr. and Mrs. Fred Eastwood and daughter, Dr. and Mrs. James Moore, all of Raleigh, Dr. and Mrs. J.
