Wakelon PTA

Panel Discussion Planned

Wakelon School PTA is embarking on a long-range program. Its purpose is to find some of the answers being sought about today's family, schools, and community.

Mrs. Ed Hales, co-chairman with Mrs. Wilson Braswell, has announced the theme of the program for the next three months. It is "Strengthening the home—source of our nation's greatness through total education in family, schools and community."

The first program, to be given at the November meeting to be held Monday night, November 21, will encompass the family. It will be a panel discussion between parents of pre-school, elementary and high school children.

This program will be moderated by Mrs. Ruth Chamblee, woman's director of Radio Station WETC. Appearing on the panel will be Robert D. Massey, Mrs. James Creech, Mrs. Woodrow Pippin, Mrs. Andrew Jenkins, Maurice Chapman and Stanley Seago.

Sample questions which will be thrown at the panel by Mrs. Chamblee will be: How much help should parents give children in doing homework? How can parents present the evils of smoking and drinking to a teenager? Are allowances desirable?

The devotional will be given by members of the Beta Club.

The executive branch of the PTA meets at 7:15 with the regular meeting getting underway at 7:45.

Methodist Bazaar

The Woman's Society of Christian Service of Zebulon Methodist Church invites each of you to attend the bazaar and luncheon today (Thursday) from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. in the Fellowship Hall of the church. Early Christmas shoppers will be pleased with the bargains offered at the bazaar, aprons for Grandma, bridge or table cloths for auntie, and clothes and novelties for the children on your list. A turkey dinner with all the trimmings will be served from 11:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. Coffee and homemade cake will be served all day for 20¢, so the Methodist women invite you to go down and have a coffee break with them.

Open House Is Well Attended, More Than 300 Guests Present

More than three hundred persons saw the new accommodations of Screws and Hudson Funeral Home when the firm held open house recently.

The funeral home is now located on North Arendell Avenue in the home formerly owned by Mr. and Mrs. M. G. Crowder. Prior to moving, the business establishment was on West Vance Street adjacent to Whitley Furniture Co.

The interior of the home has been painted in muted shades of green and white with wall-to-wall carpeting.

Greeting the guests was C. V. Whitley, who introduced to the receiving line composed of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Screws, Mr. and Mrs. Crafton Hudson and Mr. and Mrs. Moore Hocutt.

Presiding at the register were Mrs. C. V. Whitley and Mrs. S. G. Flowers. They directed guests in-

Methodist Pastor Conference Board Vice Chairman

The Rev. William K. Quick, pastor of the Zebulon Methodist Church, has been elected vice-chairman of the North Carolina Conference Board of Public Relations and Methodist Information. The Rev. Mr. Quick succeeds Dr. Wade Goldston of Louisburg College.

The new commission of the North Carolina Methodist Conference was organized this year as a step forward toward setting up a Public Relations office for Methodist Information in the new Conference Headquarters Building on Glenwood Avenue.

Rev. Quick is also a Trustee of the Methodist Children's Home in Raleigh and vice-president of the North Carolina Conference Historical Society.

Swimming Pool to Be Reality in Zebulon; Campaign Beginning

Save your eensie, weensie, yellow, polka dot bikini. You'll need it next summer.

You'll need it to swim in the swimming pool which will be available to those who have memberships.

Thomas Monk, vice president of the corporation, has announced that an option on the land for the pool site has been taken.

Monk said the land will be purchased from C. V. Whitley for $3,150. He said Whitley is selling the site not at today's real estate value, but at the value of five years ago.

The site is between West North and West Glenn Streets, just behind and adjacent to the Community Park tennis courts. It measures 120 by 400 feet.

A group of interested citizens in the pool project have investigated other communities which have constructed membership-type pools during the past months and learned a pool is practical for Zebulon.

The group is working in conjunction with Charlie Stott, a professor in the recreation department of N. C. State College.

Monk said the cost of constructing a pool here will be approximately $30,000. It will have the very latest in filtering systems, large swimming area for adults, a kiddie pool for children, adequate bath houses and modern lighting.

Monk said the corporation already has received a charter from the State of North Carolina. It, he added, will definitely be a non-profit organization.

Memberships are now open, Monk said. Each membership will cost $150 and will entitle family use of the pool. It will be only the immediate members of the family who will have access to the swimming facilities. Persons from distant towns or cities who are visiting families which hold memberships also may use the pool. But people from neighboring towns who are visiting here may not use it.

Monk said 200 memberships are being sought. Memberships will be open for a short time after the deadline. Yearly dues will be $15.

The vice president said the Peoples Bank and Trust Co. has pledged its support to the project. The bank will make funds available to persons desiring membership. The corporation will have no say-so about loaning or borrowing.

Wakelon Bulldogs Divide Last Two Football Games

By Bill Quick

The Wakelon Bulldogs wound up their regular season play by trouncing Tri-County opponent Spring Hope. The final score was 40-6.

Led by halfback Ellis King's 26 points, four touchdowns and two extra points, the Bulldogs were never threatened and it looked as if they would completely shut out the visiting Raiders.

Spring Hope's lone touchdown came late in the fourth quarter by halfback Willis Bunn thereby preventing a shut-out.

Wakelon's initial TD came early in the first period after a kick had been blocked and recovered on the 36. Three plays later the Bulldogs struck paydirt on a 23 yard pass from QB Ron Clark to HB Ellis King. Parrish's extra point attempt was no good.

In the second quarter a 58 yard pass by quarterback Clark to Ellis King connected on the Spring Hope 12 with King scampering over into the end zone standing up. King converted and Wakelon moved ahead 13-0.

Before the half, Wakelon fans saw fullback Jesse Parrish carry in three plays from the Spring Hope 40 into the end zone, with the climatic run a 27-yarder. King again made good the extra point attempt and Wakelon went to the dressing room 20-0.

After watching a colorful half-time ceremony by the Wakelon High School Band, followed by the crowning of Homecoming Queen Harriet Page by co-captains Ed Pearce and Ellis King, the Bulldogs took up where they left off.
