Burlington Mills Executive Opens Furniture Store Here; Wife Native

Amos Estes

Amos Estes, owner of Zebulon Furniture Co., is a new-comer to Zebulon. But already he is growing very fond of his adopted town.

Estes is the son of the late Dr. and Mrs. Amos Estes, Sr., of Winnsboro, S. C. He was born in that South Carolina town July 16, 1928. He is next to the youngest of four children of the deceased couple.

He graduated from Jenkinsville High School and from Clemson College in 1951. He holds a bachelor of science degree in textile engineering.

His college was interrupted when he was called to military duty. He spent two years with the Army in Korea with the occupation troops.

After he was awarded his degree, he became associated with Burlington Mills in June of 1951. He remained with them until he came to Zebulon, rising from an apprentice with the firm to being in charge of the firm's Reidsville plant.

Why did he select textiles in which to get a degree? He doesn't know. And why, since his father was a general practitioner, didn't he become a doctor?

He might have become a doctor, except for one thing. He went with his father when he was sixteen on a delivery call. And he had to assist his father. That did it. He decided then and there he wasn't going into medicine.

Estes, who speaks quietly and thoughtfully, said he isn't a great sports lover. In high school he played a little football and in college he was a member of the track team.

His first love is fishing. Any time he has a spare moment and the weather permits, you can find him at some pond. He is especially fond of fresh water fishing. (Continued on Page 4)
