The promotion is scheduled for 10 more weeks, according to R. D. Williams, local theater manager. Each week the sponsoring merchants will have 100 tickets at their store which may be picked up any time. The tickets are free and you do not have to buy anything at the store.

The tickets are good for any of the Wednesday shows. Tickets are to be signed and deposited upon entering the movie and a drawing is held each week with 10 silver dollars given away. All tickets will remain in the box throughout the 13 weeks; however, you must be present to win.

A matinee began yesterday (Wednesday) for the continuation of this promotion, Williams said. Last Wednesday night 1,120 persons attended the night showing, Williams reported.

Free tickets available from the sponsoring merchants are Dunn Grocery, Hepler's Auto Supply, Paul V. Brantley Oil Company, Lowery's Insurance Agency, Zebulon Furniture, Massey Grocery and Service Station, Steve's Flower Shop, Joe Wood Texaco Station, Western Auto Store of Wendell, Hales' Farm Supply, Debnam Hardware Company, Peoples Bank and Trust Company, Whitley Furniture Company, Wendell Drug Company of Wendell, Todd Electric Company of Wendell, Meet and Eat Grill and Dairy Queen and Paul Brown Grocery.

Woman's Apartment Ransacked

The apartment of Mrs. Melba Flowers Perry was ransacked during the weekend. Mrs. Perry lives in an apartment in the Duke building on Arendell Avenue.

Night Policeman Wendell Perry reported that Mrs. Perry's brother reported the entry. Perry said the brother saw the lights on Sunday night in his sister's apartment and felt something was wrong since he knew his sister was not at home.

Perry, who said he is still conducting an investigation, said nothing was missing from the apartment.

Local Minister

Given Tribute By Baptist Organ

The following article was clipped from The Biblical Recorder issue of March 18. It is a tribute to a citizen of Zebulon, the Rev. A. D. Parrish, whom the author calls "both hero and prophet of the minds and hearts of thousands of people."

In the book, Selections from Carlyle, by K. W. Boynton, in saying "No Man Is a Hero to His Own Valet," Carlyle was quoting a Frenchman. I quote it here because it sounds similar to the saying of Jesus found in Matthew 13:57, "No Prophet goes unhonored except in his own country" (Phillips translation).

Whatever may be the meaning of the two quotations above, the Rev. A. D. Parrish of Zebulon is both a hero and a prophet in the minds and hearts of thousands of people. He has served, loved, and preached to them for more than a quarter of a century. He has spent his entire ministerial life in the county and adjoining counties. He has not just stayed at the same place either. He has accomplished, with the help of the people one of the greatest pieces of work in this section of the state.

Not many months ago the Antioch Church located off Highway 39 entered a new building that is a thing of beauty. Brother Parrish has served the Antioch Church for 24 years. The one word that best sums up his ministry at Antioch is "progress." The White Oak Church, Archer's Lodge, built a new church house during the 22 years that Parrish was pastor there. This building is a credit to the community and is a better structure than one can find in many towns of our state.

At Corinth Church, Brother Parrish has served as pastor for 14 years. Only a few months ago, the congregation entered a new building which is both an honor to the community and a credit to the pastor.

Antioch, Corinth and White Oak are all in the Johnston Association. Besides these three churches, Parrish was pastor at one time at Samaria for 10 years. (Continued on Page 3)

The ZEBULON RECORD

VOLUME 36, NUMBER 9, ZEBULON, N. C., THURSDAY, MARCH 30, 1961

Insurance Executive To Direct Cancer Crusade In Zebulon

Aaron Lowery, owner of the Lowery Insurance Agency, will direct the 1961 Cancer Crusade in Zebulon, it was announced this week by Graham Connell of Raleigh, the Wake County chairman.

Lowery, who has been active locally in many community projects, including the United Fund, is recruiting workers for the drive which will be held April 16 through 22.

"We lost 11 persons to cancer in the past year from the Zebulon area. Only 28 of our citizens made use of the free cancer detection clinic at Rex Hospital last year. It all too clear that we need plenty of education on cancer. We very much need money to carry on cancer research and service to patients, but our main job this Spring is to get people to go to their doctors in time," Lowery said.

Lowery said there were 172 lives lost to cancer in Wake County in 1960; there were 338 reported new cases of the disease; and there are over 600 active cases of cancer in Wake County now.

"The figure we don't know is how many Zebulon lives were saved from cancer last year. The national figures tell us that one person out of three is being cured today. This is due to education, early detection and early treatment. It is also due to the great strides already being made in cancer research," Lowery declared.

Lowery said that the facts show that much educational work is needed among housewives "who are curable in 75 to 90% of the cases." Also, he declared that 23 Wake County farmers were lost last year. However, there was no group of the population untouched by the disease; six children under 18 years were victims.

The Wake County Cancer Society is in business to go out of business, but meanwhile it is delivering every possible service to the people. The Society helps to maintain the free clinic at Rex, and makes appointments for it. It furnishes drugs, surgical dressings, hospital beds, wheel chairs and appliances to patients in need of such services. Also, the Society furnishes educational materials to all sources desiring them, and is prepared to conduct educational programs.

"We're undertaking this job to help save lives. That is our only reason for doing it. If Zebulon people realize it is not just another fund drive, but a real Crusade to get people to their doctors in time and to help finance the research that is saving people all around us, I believe we can do ourselves proud," Lowery concluded.
