Baptists Have Pastor

DAVID DANIEL

Sunday morning the congregation of Zebulon Baptist Church voted unanimously to call the Rev. David Eson Daniel. The church has been without a minister since the resignation of the Rev. Arnold Smith last September.

He is a graduate of Gaffney High School and received his bachelor of arts degree from Furman University in 1958 and a bachelor of divinity degree from Croser Theological Seminary in 1961.

He has served as assistant pastor of the Methodist Church of West Chester, Pa., and student assistant to the pastor of Upland Baptist Church, Upland, Pa.

At Croser he carried the highest grade average of any member of his class through each year of his work there and was recognized as one of the two outstanding men of his class.

Near Tragedy at Swimming Pool; Parents Cautioned by Life Guards

A near tragedy occurred last week in the swimming pool here when a youngster almost drowned.

According to chief life guard Carl Hull, Jimmy Snell, about 12, almost lost his life in the deep end of the pool.

Hull attributed the near drowning to the fact that Jimmy could not swim.

Hull said the youngster was in the deep end of the pool, which is 10 feet deep. The lad had "flippers" on his feet. These rubber flippers helped to keep him up. But when they came off, he had no protection.

Jimmy was rescued by Gene Mangum, and Hull cited Gene as a very "brave and courageous boy."

After Jimmy was pulled from the pool, Hull administered artificial respiration. He said Jimmy had very little water in his lungs.

Jimmy is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Haywood Snell and the (Continued on Page 5)

Zebulon Lions President's Ambition Was to Be Good, Forceful Lawyer

Picture Mr. Typical Lion as an American openly dedicated to patriotism, a business executive with an income of around $10,000, a husband and a father, and—most important—a gentleman, and you have Frank Thomas Scarborough.

Scarborough is the newly elected president of Zebulon Lions Club. This dedicated Lion in his fraternal and daily life exhibits the four cardinal principles of brotherly love, justice, charity and fidelity.

The genial, even-tempered new president of the Lions said the main project of his tenure will be to see that as much of the remaining indebtedness of the building is cleared. He said approximately half of the indebtedness had been paid.

He also plans to see that the committees function actively and properly. He believes that efficiently operating committees make a smooth running club.

There will be the usual money-raising projects: light bulb sales, broom sales, Kleenex sales and candy sales. These projects have put many a dollar in the Lions' treasury kitty.

But dollars are no measure of eye sights restored by means of operations or glasses, fulfilled scholars, joy and laughter which the Lions have made possible with their charitable programs.

Scarborough is justly proud of what the Lions have done—locally, State-wide, and nationally.

MARION FARMER

She puts 'em to sleep

Marian Farmer can put you to sleep. Not because of herself, for she is a charming, pleasant, intelligent and personable young woman. But professionally, that is.

Miss Farmer is the anesthetist for Wendell-Zebulon Hospital. She is on call 24 hours a day, and finds the job "extremely challenging."

Before she puts the patient into the dreamless sleep, she said, she seeks to explain to him the procedures that will take place, and what he may expect.

"One of the greatest things is trying to overcome the fear a patient gets," she said. "Many of them have never undergone an operation and they engender a terrible fright or fear. I believe if they understand what is going to take place, some of this fear is alleviated."

Following an operation, she checks the patient, making observations of his condition. She has the patient's interest very much at heart.

She could not recall her first patient whom she put to sleep. Patients who are obese are harder to anesthetize than the leaner ones, she remarked.

When she has a free moment she likes to do lazy fishing, play tennis, attend plays, participate in sports merely as a spectator, and read. Most of her reading is confined to anesthesia journals.

She came to Wendell-Zebulon Hospital June 12. She has an apartment in the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Campen.

Miss Farmer is a native of Lansing, a small town in Ashe County. She was graduated from Lansing High School and got her

R. N. from Johnston Memorial Hospital in Abingdon, Va. Later she graduated from Duke Hospital School of Anesthesia.

Why did she become an anesthetist? "It seemed like an interesting field," she said. And she has not changed her mind.

She worked at Watts Hospital in Durham and was the chief anesthetist of Montgomery Memorial Hospital in Troy before coming here.

Cancer Society Director Is Woman Of Many Talents and Attributes

MRS. AARON C. LOWERY

Mrs. Dorothy Winstead Lowery is a new member of the board of directors of the local Cancer Society, it was announced by Wake Cancer Society officials in Raleigh last week.

Mrs. Lowery and her husband, Aaron, a Zebulon insurance executive, were awarded a citation for their work in the recent Cancer Crusade in Zebulon.

The new director "feels very humble at being made a director," and will serve to the best of her ability, she said.

She cited that the closeness of cancer in her own and her husband's families and those of her friends has made her more aware of the dread disease and the ravaging things it can do to body, mind, and spirit.
