

The Town Crier

SPEAKER . . . E. C. Daniel, prominent druggist of Zebulon, was one of the principal speakers at a testimonial dinner June 29 honoring the "Pharmacist of the Year," J. C. Jackson of Lumberton. Jackson was presented the N. C. Pharmaceutical Association's "Mortar and Pestle Award." Daniel is a former recipient of the award.

FIRST COTTON BLOSSOM—The first cotton blossom brought to The Zebulon Record was found by Mrs. Charlie Debnam of Route 2, Zebulon, last Friday morning. Two blossoms were brought in—one pink and one white. Mrs. Debnam will receive a year's subscription to The Record for her promptness.

YOUTHFUL PREACHER . . . Jimmy Parrish, lay youth leader of Union Chapel Baptist Church, will be preacher at a Youth Revival to be held at Union Chapel July 14 and 15 at 8 o'clock each evening. The young people will be in complete charge of the two services, the Rev. George T. Stallings, pastor, has announced.

GOSPEL SING—Good old fashioned gospel singing is never out of style. And it won't be Sunday, July 16, down at Corinth-Holders School auditorium. The many fine quartets, choirs, trios, duets and soloists will get underway at 1:30 o'clock. There will be no admission charge. L. G. Hagwood, master of ceremonies, said. Corinth-Holders School is located six miles south of Zebulon, at the junction of Highways 96 and 231.

OFF A DIRTY CUFF . . . Isn't there a local couple making plans to take a round-the-world cruise? In 1967, we hear . . . And what couple has set their wedding date for September 3? . . . And isn't there a wife who is going to write a book about her husband? . . . And aren't there plans for a rest home for convalescents and the aged for the community? . . . And isn't an optometrist thinking about locating in Zebulon? . . . And what wife nips often her husband's liquor, then fills the bottle with water so he can't tell how much she's drunk?

Mrs. Aaron Lowery Cancer Society Officer

with hospital beds, wheel chairs, plying patients who have cancer portable toilets, and other sick-room items will be under the direction of Mrs. Lowery.

The loan closet system will be worked in conjunction with the towns of Wendell and Zebulon. Mrs. Lowery and Mrs. Mallie Todd of Wendell are the co-chairmen of the project.

"I'm awfully interested in seeing this project accomplished," she said. "I feel that it is something very much worthwhile and very much needed for the two communities."

She said final plans for the system will be made by her and Mrs. Todd about September.

Mrs. Lowery, whose youthful look and vivacious spirit belie her 42 years, presides over her home with an easy sort of grace. "I like that lived-in look, and we really live in it," she said of the Lowery's comfortable home at the corner of Church and Glenn Streets.

She is an accomplished cook, whether country style or the rich sauce and herb cuisine type of cookery. The needle doesn't daunt her, and she can sit down and whip up a good looking fashionable garment for herself or her daughter in no time flat.

The other arts intrigue her. There is piano, which she plays moderately well; singing (she has a delightfully clear soprano); reading, light and heavy, done mostly at night when she's in bed; a modicum of painting; and dancing.

Right now, she has been learning to water ski. "And I have the bruises to show for it," she laughed. The family owns a cottage at White Lake.

With her outgoing personality and picturesque speech, Mrs. Lowery is looking forward to working with the local and Wake County Cancer Societies.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Winstead of Wakefield. After graduating from Wakelon High School she attended Campbell College where she took a commercial course.

Mrs. Lowery is the mother of two children, Ted, 12, and Elisa, 2.

Local Seamon Aboard Navy Picket Destroyer

The radar picket destroyer USS Southerland is operating as a unit of the Seventh Fleet in the Western Pacific. Serving aboard the ship is Norman W. Beasley, seaman apprentice, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. William C. Beasley of Route 1, Zebulon.

Card of Thanks

We wish to express our sincere gratitude and appreciation to all for the many kind expressions of love and sympathy during the illness and death of our beloved husband and father. We wish it were possible to go to each person and thank them for their services rendered.

We especially wish to thank the florists for the nice arrangements and for their time they gave and especially each minister for their prayers and reassuring words of comfort in our time of grief and sorrow. And without the prayers of our friends we could not have gone on.

To all, for their visits, food, flowers, cards, prayers and comforting words, we will be forever grateful. May God richly bless each of you.

Mrs. A. D. Parrish and Craven

Near Tragedy at Pool; Parents Are Warned

grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Massey of Zebulon.

Hull urges all parents to explain the dangers of deep water to their children.

He explained that children are daring and will wander off into the deep water, which can be tragic.

He said that the life guards try very hard to keep a close check on swimmers but that it is almost impossible when the pool is teeming with persons, such as on holidays and weekends.

Parents should do their part too in keeping tabs on their youngsters, Hull said.

And if the parents find their children are over stepping the bounds of safety and cannot manage them, tell the life guards. The life guards will immediately take action, forbidding them use of the pool.

Parents came in for criticism, too, from life guards Hull and Buddy Cagle. Hull and Cagle said some parents are taking their children to the deep end. This can be dangerous, they said. Suppose the parent developed cramps, or the child got into trouble. Which would the life guards save first, the parent or the child?

Hull and Cagle urge the parents to let the children stay in the designated water area above the rope for their safety.

Hull said every precaution is being taken for the protection and safety of lives. He wants the members of the pool to enjoy it and have fun in it.

But, he urged, let everyone be very careful. Observe the rules and regulations. And heed the life guards. All water can be dangerous. Even pool water.
