POLICEMAN REPORTS

Negros Not Identified As Riders

Between 30 and 35 Negro men and women poured out of four cars Sunday night on West North Street, alarming the white residential section of Zebulon.

Night Policeman Wendell Perry, who investigated, discounted the report that the group was Freedom Riders. He said he discovered no evidence to prove they were Riders.

Perry said he was told by the group that they came from Raleigh and Wilson and lost their way in Zebulon.

Perry said indications were that the group planned to turn around in front of the duplex home of Jimmy Spivey. One car made the turn; the second did not, becoming stuck in Spivey's newly-made lawn.

The driver of the car which was stuck was charged with no operator's license by Policeman Perry. This driver posted bond and returned Monday and paid the fine.

Perry encountered no trouble with the group, he said. He said it was reported to him the entourage was seen at the corner of Liberty Street, near the Ferd Davis residence.

The milling crowd of Negroes set off an alarm of feeling among the whites and one householder was reported standing in his doorway armed with a double-barreled shotgun.

POWER OFF

Electrical power from Tant's Crossroads to Peaces, the Town of Bunn, and Highway 98 to Louisburg will be interrupted from 5 to 6 a.m. Sunday, August 27, local Carolina Power & Light officials have announced. This interruption of power supply is so the company may make emergency repairs to the lines.

Wakelon Principal Lists Staff; Program for Coming School Year

WAKELON TEACHERS

Eight New Additions

Wakelon School's new teachers and a thumbnail biography of them appears below. The faculty is complete now except for the selection of a speech therapist, who is being processed by Principal John J. Hicks.

Miss Martha Lane Farmer, 22, is a native of Bailey. She is a beginning teacher with an A. B. degree in elementary education from Duke University. She has been assigned to the first grade.

Miss Agnes Louise Davis, 24, has three year's experience—two at Princeton in Johnston County and one in the Roanoke Rapids Elementary School. She has an A. B. degree in primary education from Atlantic Christian College, and is a native of Goldsboro.

Mrs. Paulette P. Pugh, 21, will begin her teaching career at Wakelon as its first public school music teacher since Mrs. Robert Daniel Massey. She is 21 and a native of Liberty.

Haywood Roebuck, 32, has a B. S. degree in English and social studies from East Carolina College. Single, Roebuck is a native of Washington, N. C., and is a beginning teacher.

Mrs. Bessie H. Smith, 46, is a Johnston County native and has teaching experience in Lucama and Nashville schools. She has an A. B. degree from Atlantic Christian College and a M. A. from East Carolina College. She will teach French and English.

Mrs. Carol G. Stanley, 33, will teach science. She has a B. S. degree from East Carolina College and has taught two years in Columbus County and seven years in Davidson County. She was born in Columbus County.

Miss Louise Wells, 21, holds a B. S. degree in science and mathematics from Atlantic Christian College. She is a beginning teacher and is a native of Bailey.

Mrs. Frances Hilburne, 23, has a B. S. degree from East Carolina College and will teach instrumental music at Wakelon. She was formerly a band instructor in Lenior County school system. Mrs. Hilburne is a native of Raleigh.

Registration

Mrs. Howard Bunn announces that her kindergarten registration and orientation day will be held Friday, September 1, from 9 a.m. to 12 noon. The first day of school will be held Tuesday, September 5. No school will be held on Labor Day.

Wakelon School opens September 1 with eight new faculty members, a former faculty member returning, a full-time guidance counselor, a full-time public school music teacher, and renovations to both high and elementary buildings.

Principal John J. Hicks has filled all vacated faculty posts except that of speech therapist and has employed a full-time guidance counselor and public school music teacher.

Wakelon has been without a full-time public school music teacher since the resignation of Mrs. Robert D. Massey. The school, however, has never had a full-time guidance counselor.

Hicks said he is still in the process of trying to secure a speech therapist. A therapist was employed in the early summer but resigned for placement in the Raleigh City School system.

The principal reported that the high school has gained a teacher. This is because of the educational program passed by the last legislature which reduced the State teacher allotment. The allotment was reduced from 30 to 20 teachers, thereby putting Wakelon in the category for gaining a teacher.

Renovations have been made to the elementary and high school buildings to the tune of $208,354.43. New windows have been installed, classrooms have been painted and other facilities have been made. Asbestos vinyl tile flooring covers the floors of the high school building.

Hicks said it appears now that all renovations will be completed by the opening date.

Teachers report to work August 30. They must work three days before the opening and two days after the closing of school now. Heretofore, they worked a day before and a day after.

Registration for new students entering Wakelon from other schools will be held Monday and Tuesday, August 28-29, from 9 to 12 noon and 1 to 4 p.m. This registration is for students who have moved into the Wakelon School District from other schools.

Friday, September 1, children who will attend Wakelon will report for pupil orientation. This orientation period will be from 9 until 11:30 o'clock.

Classroom work begins Tuesday, September 5. There will be no school on Labor Day.

Hicks said he anticipated about 855 pupils attending Wakelon this year. Last year's enrollment was 847.

Seventy first grade students are expected this year, which will be about the same number as last year, Hicks reported.

Opening day sales Tuesday averaged the highest in Wendell tobacco market's history, according to Supervisor of Sales E. H. Moser.

The market sold 353,624 pounds for $232,448.02, an average of $65.44.

All three Wendell warehouses had full sales, Moser said. He reported there was a good brake tobacco on the market, and foresees a very good year for the market.

On opening day last year 235,000 pounds of tobacco was sold for an average of $58. Moser said last year's leaf was not of the quality of this year's.

Wendell supports three warehouses, Farmers, Liberty and Northside.

Moser is serving his thirteenth year as supervisor of sales.
