Salute to the Scouts

STRENGTHEN AMERICA—CHARACTER COUNTS

ACC Alumnae Charter Sorority Member

"It was the biggest day I've had in a long time," Mrs. S. G. Flowers said of her participation in the Atlantic Christian College homecoming. "I was a queen."

Mrs. Flowers, who is an alumna of the college, was one of the honored guests during the college's two-day homecoming last Friday and Saturday.

One of the highlights of the homecoming celebration was the 50th anniversary of the Phi Sigma Tau Sorority.

"I was a charter member of the Phi Sigma Tau," she said. "There were only eight charter members. Since that time there have been between 700-800 members."

Only three of the charter members showed up for the celebration: Mrs. Flowers, Mrs. Henrietta Moye Williamson of Farmville and Mrs. Bessie Hodges Byrd of Mt. Olive. The others were prevented coming to the special occasion because of death and illnesses.

"We had such a good time," Mrs. Flowers said. "We were queens of the occasion. Why we even rode in the parade in a white convertible with the top down, bedecked with a corsage of yellow mums tied with black satin streamers. Gold and black are the sorority colors."

Then there was an alumni luncheon in the college dining hall, a tea at three o'clock at the home of the college president, Dr. Arthur D. Wenger, and a banquet at 5:30 in the First Presbyterian Church of Wilson.

"It was all so pretty and nice. Everything was wonderful."

Dr. Mildred Hartsock, head of the English department at A. C. was the featured banquet speaker.

When Marie Bailey entered Atlantic Christian no degrees from the institution were granted. There was only college preparatory training. She finished the tenth and eleventh grades and her

Practical Nurse Is Indispensable Part of Local Hospital Procedure

The practical nurse is an indispensable part of hospital care.

"The practical nurse can take care of almost any situation demanded of hospital or home nursing care," Mrs. Lona Mae Cates said.

Mrs. Cates is a licensed practical nurse at Wendell-Zebulon Hospital. She is a 1958 graduate of the Raleigh School of Practical Nursing.

"In school we studied all the subjects RN's did but not in such great detail," she said.

Practical nurses are allowed to minister to any patient's need except give intravenous medications or anesthesia. General hospital routine—temperature takings and recordings, blood pressure readings, the giving of hypodermics—is part of their duties.

"It's a job that requires great demands," Mrs. Cates said, "but I love it. There is a great satisfaction to me in doing my little bit to relieve someone who is sick

Harm of Excessive Absences to Be Discussed at PTA

Mrs. Ola Mitchell, attendance officer for the Wake County schools, will speak at the Wakelon School P.T.A. meeting Monday, February 19, at 7:45 p.m.

Excessive absences and students' dropping out of school before graduation from high school will be discussed by Mrs. Mitchell. She will bring to the P.T.A. some constructive ideas about how that organization can combat the dual problems of drop-outs and frequent unexcused absences.

Mrs. Mitchell needs no introduction to Wakelon School patrons because she and her husband, Jack Mitchell, are residents of Zebulon. They have two daughters, both of whom graduated from Wakelon High School, and one granddaughter. Prior to accepting her post with the county schools, Mrs. Mitchell was the office nurse of Dr. B. D. Thomas.

In addition to Mrs. Mitchell's talk, there will be a Founders Day Celebration which is observed by the P.T.A. each February.

Polio Drive Tops The $500 Mark

Mrs. Arm Strong Cannady reported this week that the polio cannisters placed in business establishments throughout the town and community netted $35.07.

"I am very pleased with the contributions," Mrs. Cannady said. She was in charge of the cannister placements during the polio drive.

"It is very rewarding to see how people contribute to such a worthwhile cause. The results were very satisfactory. Contributions amounted to approximately the same as the previous years."

Mrs. Ben Thomas, chairman of the drive, reported that collections amounted to $541.89.

Shepard School makes a canvass for the campaign but it is not added to the local fund. This contribution is sent directly to the county headquarters, but credit is applied to the Zebulon area.

Time Drawing Nigh For License Tags

The time is drawing nigh if you haven't gotten your city license plates. March 1 is the deadline.

"After March 1 there will be a $2.00 penalty," Police Chief Willie B. Hopkins has announced.

Hopkins said all town citizens owning automobiles or other vehicles are required to display a license plate by March 1 or the owner of the vehicle will be subject to court citation.

"We are going to see that this ordinance is carried out," Chief Hopkins said. "It is mandatory and we hope that we won't have to arrest anybody for such an offense. People like to put off things until the last minute. But now is the time, before it is too late."

The tags went on sale January 1, and cost $1 each. They are on sale at the Town Office from the hours of 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Saturday.

Proceeds from the sale of the licenses go into the town's general fund.

Paul Foster Keeps Zebulon Safe from Stench and Smell

Paul Foster

Works with Town For Twenty Years

Without Paul Foster the Town of Zebulon might find itself overcome with the stench and smell of garbage.

"I've been picking up the town's garbage for more than 20 years," Foster said. "And it is an interesting job, even though you might not think so."

Foster, a pleasant and friendly person, said he began work with the town during the administration of E. C. Daniel. He has worked through each successive administration without a hitch.

"There wasn't much to do when I started then," he said. "Now, though, every day of every week is filled to the brim."

He has seen the town grow, and the amount of garbage grow. More homes means that more garbage has to be collected and taken to the dump.

Foster and his two assistants, Boot Tuck and Willie Dunn, make the rounds Monday and Tuesday and Thursday and Friday. On these days the homes are canvassed. Wednesday is dedicated to the collection of other debris, such as limbs from the streets and sidewalks and objects from behind business establishments.

"We make from four to six loads each day," Foster said. "And they are full loads. The body of the garbage truck is packed and piled as high as we can get it."

Foster laughingly recalled that he started out with a Model T

Farm Women Plan Meet Wednesday

Zebulon Farm Bureau Women will have their regular meeting Wednesday, February 21, at 7:30. Mrs. Irby Walker, executive secretary of the N. C. Farm Bureau Women, and Miss Mettie Gay of the Department of Civil Defense, will give a program on first aid. Miss Gay will show a film entitled, "Help Needed."

Members are urged to attend the meeting, to be held in the Wakelon home economics building. Visitors are welcome.

Wakelon Sophomore Girl Winner Of World Peace Speech Contest

Celia Hales

Celia Hales was winner of the World Peace speaking contest at Wakelon School February 2. The contest is sponsored annually by Zebulon Rotary Club.

Celia, daughter of Mayor and Mrs. Ed Hales, is a sophomore at Wakelon and an outstanding student in the high school body. She was among five finalists in the contest.

Her speech follows below.

By Celia Hales

Through the ages, man has never learned to live peaceably with his fellowman. The conquest of poverty, hunger, and disease on a global scale has seen little progress. These facts point to the need of men everywhere to work together for peace and a better way of life for all. The United Nations was established in answer to
