Cuban Refugee Fears Native Land May Be Another 'Berlin'

A Cuban who will teach the Spanish language in Wakelon School this year fears that Cuba will become the "Berlin" of that area.
Dr. Jose Louis Rey Barreau said he is afraid that because of the Communist infiltration and influence the tiny country of Cuba might suffer the consequences which the German city of Berlin is undergoing.

Barreau said his country has been and is being taken over subtly by the Russians. He said everyday the Communists are becoming bolder, and are coming more and more out into the open.

The soft-spoken Cuban said the country's situation is awful. He averred that the Communists are in control of every phase of Cuban life, public, private and political.

Barreau said the government is filled with Russian advisors. These Communists "really run the ministry. He thinks that Cuban premier Fidel Castro would not last long if he did not have the support of Russia. He said Castro has had to resort to open violence to maintain his power. Barreau, saddened and frightened at the goings on in his own country, received permission from the Cuban government officials for him and his family to come to the United States. His wife and child followed him a plane.
