Carlyle suffered no injuries, police said, but was charged with improper passing.

Mrs. D. L. Moody and her two daughter, Shelby Jean and Melody, and a neighbor, Mrs. Puckett, were returning from Raleigh in Mrs. Moody's car, a rescue member said.

A second car suddenly entered the highway from a side road and collided with the Moody car. The rescue squad member said the driver of the second car apparently misjudged the nearness of the Moody vehicle.

Mrs. Puckett was thrown into the windshield by the impact and received severe facial cuts. Members of the rescue squad gave her first aid, and rushed Mrs. Puckett, Mrs. Moody and her two daughters to Wake Memorial Hospital.

Mrs. Puckett remained in the hospital for further treatment; however, Mrs. Moody and her daughters were examined, treated, and released.

Closing

Little River Ice and Coal Co. will close at 5 p.m. each Saturday, according to Horace Smith, manager.

A disagreement over listening to the radio ended in death for a Route 4, Zebulon Negro Tuesday.

James Howard, 17, died in Wake Memorial Hospital Tuesday after suffering gunshot wounds in the groin region.

Howard was wounded Saturday, January 19 about 5 p.m. when he was shot by Arthur Edward Hodge, 26-year-old Route 4, Zebulon Negro, according to police officers.

"Who's this nigger?" police quoted Hodge as saying when he came home and found Howard there listening to the radio, which was reportedly playing loudly.

Hodge walked over and cut off the radio and turned on the television, Hodge told the police officers. He then ordered Howard to get out of his house.

A short argument ensued and Hodge reached over and took a 410 gauge shotgun from the corner of the room. Howard grabbed for the gun and in the struggle the gun went off and injured Howard.

Seeing that Howard was wounded, Hodge rushed him to Wake Memorial Hospital. Howard was resting comfortably until Tuesday when he died.

Wake County coroner ordered an autopsy following Howard's death.

There was no indication of drinking, officers said.

Prior to Howard's death, Hodge was charged with assault with a deadly weapon. He was released on a $500 bond.

Hephzibah Pastor to Resume Duties Sunday After Illness

After more than two month's absence from the pulpit, the Rev. James H. Pernell will return to his pulpit duties Sunday, February 3.

The Rev. Mr. Pernell suffered a series of heart attacks in November and was enforced to give up his pastoral duties. During his absence, Dr. Carroll Trotter, professor of preaching at Southeastern Seminary, has been the interim pastor.

The pastor's physical condition demands that he resume other duties on a gradual scale. In making the announcement to the congregation last Sunday, he expressed his profound thanks for the many kindnesses and considerations on the part of so many people during his illness and called upon his congregation for a continued dedication of interest and leadership in an expanded program of services in worship, evangelism and stewardship.

The morning worship services will be broadcast over Radio Station WETC during the month of February.
