Town Manager Willie B. Hopkins estimated that approximately five acres of the 25-acre site will be needed on which to construct the water plant.

The tobacco allotment acreage had been rented for standing rent to Wake Sheriff's Deputy Graham Bunn for a sum of $653.95. The orn allotment will be put in the Thomas C. Bunn of Wendell; and soil bank and a revenue of approximately $150 will be received.

Ground breaking ceremonies took place Wednesday for the low cost housing development to be constructed here during 1963.

Robert D. Massey, chairman of the Wake County Housing Authority, lifted the first spade of dirt, signaling that construction of the development is underway.

Also attending the ceremonies were Melvin Massey, executive director of the Authority; J. T. Stover, Public Housing Administra-tion inspector; P. D. Chamblee, Jr., representative of Weaver Construction Co. which will build the projects in the four Wake County towns, Mayor Ed Hales, and the Rev. David Daniel, Zebulon Baptist Church minister.

James H. Parish of Wendell, vice chairman of the Authority, was not present for the ceremonies. He and his wife were on a Caribbean cruise.

The property for the white and non-white projects here will cost approximately $15,950. It was purchased from Avon Privette, L. E. Long and the Zebulon Five County Fair.

Three acres were purchased for the white development and four acres for the non-white. The white development is located on the south side of East Horton Street. The non-white development is opposite Devil Dog Manufacturing Co.

Commissioners of the Authority are J. E. Wooten of Wake Forest, F. M. Taylor of Cary, and W. J. Booth of Apex.
