

Wendell Merchant Is Located In Hospital Monday Morning

Hyman Katz, 64-year-old Wendell merchant, was found Monday after an extensive search followed the report he was missing. He had not been seen since last Thursday.

Katz was located in Wake Memorial Hospital. He used the name "George Alexander" on the hospital records. He reportedly underwent surgery for a strangulated hernia.

Katz has operated a mercantile establishment in Wendell for more than 30 years. Prior to coming to Wendell he owned stores in Wilson and Fairmont.

A White Russian Jew who is now a naturalized American citizen, he holds bachelor of arts and master of science degrees from the University of Berlin, a theology degree from Union Hebrew College, and a law degree from Harvard Law School in Boston. He also attended the University of Maine and had a year at a medical college in Atlanta.

Katz has been a candidate for the House of Representatives from Wake County. He is a bachelor.

hanger. He now makes his home with his daughter, Mrs. Wayne Cook, Jr., of Wendell.

The couple had two sons who died in infancy.

Now the 25-room brick structure stands vacant. Missing from its big dining room are the hoards of hungry boarders. Its halls are silent, the footsteps of the many tourists tramping now in the beyond. The lobby with its lumpy, overstuffed furniture is quiet as a mausoleum, with no talk of the day's latest happenings, political gossiping, newspaper rattling in a tired businessman's hands, or a sleepy snoring customer.

The town is now without a place for the tourist. An end of Americana died in Wendell last month.

merchandising, tours and any other means; 5) to establish a working relationship between tobacco farmers and all other segments of the tobacco industry in order to promote the welfare of the total tobacco industry; and in order to properly prosecute the objects and purpose set forth above; the cooperation shall have full power and authority to receive dues, donations and borrow money.

Chapters of the association have been organized in Wake, Pitt, Johnston, Nash, Franklin, Carteret, Wayne, Sampson, Robeson, Columbus, Bladen, Duplin, Harnett, Wilson and Mecklenburg, Va.

Plans are being made to organize chapters in the remaining counties of North Carolina where tobacco is grown, and chapters in Virginia, South Carolina and Florida.

There are two types of members, active and associate. Regardless of the type, the membership fee is $5 a year.

An active member is any individual who is a resident of North Carolina or any other State in the United States who derives a major portion of his income from producing tobacco.

An associate member is any individual, firm or corporation who is interested in tobacco farming and derives, either directly or indirectly, from a farm income.

The board of directors determine who is eligible for membership. The board is composed of W. A. White, C. R. Taylor, Walter Painter, Joe W. Todd and Walter Dean, Jr.

It will be impossible for a few individuals to gain control of this new tobacco organization. The business will be conducted by a board of directors. Each county will be allowed one director for each 4,000 acres of tobacco but will not exceed five. The term of office of each director is two years.

Dean, president of the organization, said: "The Flue Cured Tobacco Growers Association, Inc., was not formed to fight existing farm organizations. The organizers recognize the value of such organizations. However, it was felt that the importance of tobacco, the number one crop in the state, justifies an organization of its own, an organization controlled by tobacco farmers."

Doctor Sick

Dr. J. R. Hester, prominent Wendell doctor, suffered a severe heart attack Sunday night at his home. The 81-year-old doctor is undergoing treatment at Rex Hospital.

Dr. Hester is the father of Mrs. Sidney Eddins of Zebulon.

Pfeiffer Student On Honor Roll

Miss Priscilla Bereik, a freshman at Pfeiffer College, is one of 57 students named to the academic honor list for the fall semester at the college.

Miss Bereik maintained a straight "A" average during her first semester at Pfeiffer. She is an English major and was enrolled in the advanced freshman English course.
