ests in making Zebulon a better place to live, work and play."

Alford, 55, is married to the former Roselyn Hollingsworth David, a freshman at the University of North Carolina School of Medicine, is their only child.

G. Kermit Corbett, a commissioner with six terms to his credit said: "I am going to do just like I have always tried to do, what I think is right for the betterment of the town and community and the people I am trying to serve."

He added: "We make mistakes. Mine have been honest ones. I try to do what I think is right."

Corbett, 61, is married to the former Mae Narron. They are the parents of two sons, one deceased, and Frederick of Zebulon, and three grandchildren.

"We got a job we need to finish," Thurman Hepler, who is ending his third term on the board of commissioners, said.

Hepler, 46, is married to the former Bernice Marley. They are the parents of one daughter, Connie, a sophomore at Greensboro College.

Mrs. Elizabeth Ellett, the only woman commissioner on the board, feels deeply for the welfare of her adopted town. "I am glad to serve the people as best I can. I would like to see the water and sewer project completed," she said.

Mrs. Ellett, the first woman to be elected to the town government, is rounding out her fourth term. A widow who is "a little above the voting age," she is a member of Wakelon School faculty.

P. O. Farmer, finishing his second term on the board, said: "I would like to see the projects started completed, especially the water and sewer project."

He indicated that there are some more important projects for the benefit of the town which the board hopes to get underway in the near future.

Farmer, 49, is married to the former Alice Medlin. He is in the mercantile business here.

Bill Bowling, making his first try for a commissioner, said: "I feel that I don't know enough about the city government so that's why I want to get into it and find out."

Bowling said if he is elected he will try to improve the local government "or cause a big argument." He agreed that the town has good governmental representatives now but sometimes "things go stale."

"If I wasn't interested in the town I wouldn't be planning to put up an $18,000 home on a lot nearby. I intend to live here the rest of my life."

Bowling is married to the former Margaret Parker of Mount Olive. A retired Greyhound bus driver, he and his wife are the parents of two children, Cherrie, 12, and Mike, 9.

Elsie Wrenn, another novice, said: "I feel like a younger person can see things better for the future of the town."

He is married to the former Rachel Parrish and they are the parents of two children, Jimmy, 11, and Mike, two. He is a furniture manufacturer.

Jimmy Medlin, another making his first effort to become a part of the town government, said: "I feel that I might contribute something to the government of our town. That's the reason I decided to file."

Medlin, 29, is a teller at the local branch of Peoples Bank & Trust Co. He is married to the former Martha Poole and they are the parents of two children, Donna Sue, 6, and Jimmy, Jr., 3.

Floyd Edwards is making his second try in the commissioner's race. He was a candidate in the last town election and was defeated only by a small margin by Mrs. Ellett.

Edwards, 32, a building contractor, is married to the former Josephine Batchelor of Spring Hope. They are the parents of four children, Mac, 11, Deborah, 9, Gilford, 6, and Wilton, nearly 4.

cents touches of burnt orange, gold, apple green and russet colors were used.

In order to sectionalize the gallery match stick bamboo screens are used.

As is evident in this gallery, the drama of black and white is used. In a world of color, the absence of color calls attention to itself.

Mrs. Norman Screws, the firm's interior decorator, said: "Black and white is very chic and sophisticated for those who spurn the obvious and flamboyant. Too many times women forget the beautiful use of these two colors."

As in this and the two other galleries—the two others are on an upper level—Spanish touches appear in many of the furniture items. Spanish accents include deep moldings, quatrefoil patterns on commodes and chests, balustrade wood trimmings, and deeply incised designs.

All gallery entrances have an Oriental feeling in their decorative effect. The keynote for this effect was taken from a Chinese mural hanging in the second gallery.

Whitley Furniture Co., Inc. is Wake County's largest retail furniture store. Leading makes of fine furniture are stocked by the firm.

Corvair Monza Club Coupe

Who needs muscles?

Do you know how easy it is to take a corner with a Corvair or park one? Turn this newspaper sideways and it will give you a pretty good idea. The wheel handles just about that easily.

The Corvair's engine is in the rear, for not only greater traction, but more balanced weight distribution. And that's what makes the steering so completely effortless.

The engine is air cooled, too. No radiator. No water or antifreeze. No boiling over or freezing up to worry about. It takes the weather and the terrain as it comes.

So think about those trips to the beach this summer, those bright sunny days and balmy moonlit nights.

And besides, looking at it from a very practical point of view, it's Trade 'N' Travel time right now at your Chevrolet dealer's. He's got some beautiful buys.

But you had better hurry before somebody muscles in ahead of you. Spring's here. Summer's coming fast. And with these sporty good-looking Corvairs selling the way they are, he who hesitates will want to kick himself.
