Telephone Talk

Your Telephone Manager

IF YOU'RE A DOODLER, be careful of the kind of scribbles you leave around while making phone calls. You may give away some personal secrets. According to psychologists, if you doodle animals or birds, you're affectionate and understanding. Squares and checks show logic and emotional stability. Circles mean you're a daydreamer; stairsteps mean you're ambitious.

THIS IS THE NEW TOUCH TONE PHONE . . . with buttons instead of a dial, and musical tones for each signal sent! The new phone has undergone two years of testing, and users are so enthusiastic it will be introduced to the public on a limited basis some time in the next couple of years. One of its chief advantages is faster dialing . . . as one test-user said, "It's like magic!" The Touch Tone Phone—another result of continuing Bell System research and development.

FROM LUXURY TO NECESSITY . . . that's the kind of progress your telephone has made. Back in the late 1800's when telephones were first coming into use, a phone call anywhere at all was a big event! Today, phone calls are as much a part of life as going to work in the morning, or sending the children off to school. A telephone call is no longer a major project! It's simply an easy, pleasant, low-cost way to get things done, keep friendships warm, stay in touch with the world. Use your telephone . . . for all it's worth.

TEEN-AGERS ARE SPECIAL PEOPLE! (Any one of them will be glad to tell you so!) They have special problems and needs and likes and dislikes. If you have teens in your house, why not consider giving them the privacy and sense of importance provided by an extension phone of their very own. It'll be good for them, and for the rest of the family, too.

There've Been Some Big Changes Made

► The bus at the top was fine for 1938. It made frequent stops, operated on two lane roads, and encountered little traffic.

Today's bus is designed to run hundreds of miles without stops. Its motor is more powerful, yet quieter; and the coach is air conditioned, rest-room equipped.

But one thing is the same—the Trailways spirit of neighborliness and helpfulness to the traveler. This spirit, we feel, is why Trailways has grown in service to your community and the nation.
