RENOVATIONS . . . The local branch of Peoples Bank & Trust Co. exterior and interior recently underwent complete renovations. An added addition at the rear of the bank is now being used for conference, cashier, bookkeeping and filing departments. The changes, completed recently, cost nearly $50,000. The first picture, above, shows portions of the lobby and banking area with bank personnel waiting on customers. The lower picture is the bookkeeping department, manned by Mrs. Jane Pearce, foreground, and Mrs. Peggy Murray and Miss Sarah Eaton, in the background.

Bunn Post Office Dedication Set for Saturday Afternoon

Congressman L. H. Fountain, Judge Hamilton H. Hobgood, and Ernest King post office department post programs officer of Chapel Hill will be the principal speakers at the dedication ceremonies for the new Bunn Post Office Saturday, August 24, at 2 p.m.

The welcome will be given by Mrs. Evelyn B. Gay, postmaster, and guests and staff members will be introduced by E. Gene Mullen, master of ceremonies.

Others taking part in the program include Mrs. Jane Winstead, organist; W. A. Andrews, Jr., soloist; the Rev. H. L. Hicks, pastor of Bunn Methodist Church; the Rev. R. L. Coffman, pastor of Bunn Baptist Church; and member of Boy Scout Troop 520, who will conduct a flag-raising ceremony.

An open house will follow the ceremony.

On July 31, Mrs. Evelyn B. Gay, completed 15 years as postmaster of Bunn Post Office. Mrs. Gay succeeded Robert White, who retired after 25 years of service.

Mrs. Gay is the wife of Decimo Gay, who is engaged in farming. (Continued on Page 9)

TAKING TEA . . . Mrs. Margaret Charlesworth Stanley of London, England, and Richmond, Va., was recently a houseguest of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Eddins and daughter Ginny. Mrs. Stanley has been associated with a Presbyterian operated book store in Richmond for the past 13 years. The Englishwoman finds North Carolina "fascinating," and has steeped herself in the state's history. While here—it was her second visit with the Eddins—her hosts took her to visit some of the historical places of interest in the state. When Robert Hester, Mrs. Eddins' brother, was studying several years ago in London he became acquainted with Mrs. Stanley and her family, who reside in the Chelsea district of London. Mr. Hester is now on the faculty of Richmond Professional Institute.

Pictures Needed For Hospital Walls

The lobby walls of Wendell-Zebulon Hospital have remained bare since the hospital was built two years ago.

Mrs. Mary Temple, unit supervisor, said this week that the hospital is hopeful of securing some pictures for the walls. She said the pictures need to be rather large and should be appropriately framed.

Persons or civic organizations who would like to donate pictures for the walls should contact Mrs. Temple. Hospital officials will be the deciding factor for the selection of gift paintings.

Baptist Pastor, Wife Honored

The Rev. and Mrs. David Daniel were entertained Friday night, August 16, by the members of Zebulon Baptist Church Junior Board of Deacons. The occasion was held at the King of the Sea Restaurant in Raleigh.

The Rev. Mr. Daniel has submitted his resignation from the church and will become affiliated in September with Louisburg College. He will serve as a professor at the Franklin County Methodist institution.

The couple was presented a sterling silver tray appropriately engraved. Mrs. Charles Weathersby made the presentation on behalf of the board.

Members of the board present were Mr. and Mrs. C. V. Tart, Mrs. Weathersby, Mr. and Mrs. James Debnam, Mr. and Mrs. Elton Chamblee, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Daniels, Mr. and Mrs. Amos Estes, Mr. and Mrs. Grady Chalk, Mrs. Dayton Parrish, Mr. and Mrs. George Massey, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Maiden, Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Brannan, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Corbett, Mr. and Mrs. Crafton Hudson, Mr. and Mrs. Horace Gay, and Wilbur Hales.

"Contrary to all rumors, children are to report to school on (Friday) August 30," Wakelon Principal J. C. Hawkins said this week. Some have believed the opening date had been postponed or changes had been made in the schedule.

Principal Hawkins said the opening date of Friday, August 30, was set by the Wake County Board of Education, and has not been changed.

Wakelon faculty is now complete, the principal announced. A former member of the elementary faculty is returning and a Brockton, Mass., native will become a member of the high school faculty.

Mrs. Ruth Allen Moss, who retired from the faculty two years ago to become a mother, will return to fill a vacancy in the elementary department. She holds a bachelor of arts degree from Meredith College and a master of arts degree from the University of North Carolina.

Mrs. Marilyn Mackenzie Reynolds has been elected to fill a science-math vacancy in the high school department. A native of Brockton, Mass., Mrs. Reynolds has a bachelor of science degree from Framingham State Teachers College of Framingham, Mass. The 33-year-old new-comer to the faculty is the mother of two children.

Two members of the faculty completed requirements for master of arts degrees this summer. Miss Blanche Gay was awarded a MA degree in counseling and guidance from State College in June. She is the guidance director at Wakelon.

Mrs. Ann Strickland was awarded a master of arts degree in physical education from East Carolina College in June. She holds a bachelor of science degree from Atlantic Christian College. She has been a member of the math department at Wakelon for several years.

License Examiner Gives Advice to Bicycle Riders That Can Save Lives

If you intend riding your bicycle to school, Driver's License Examiner Clarence Hocutt has some important things you should do.

You should always be on the alert when riding your bicycle. And remember, an accident prevented may be a life saved and that life may be your own.

If your local city ordinance allows you to ride on the sidewalks, always be on the alert for pedestrians. Be courteous to those persons sharing the sidewalk with you.

Bicycles are considered vehicles. So far as the flow of traffic is concerned, bicyclists must ride on the right side of the road. The rider must give hand signals for turns or stops, as auto drivers are required to do. The bicyclist is like the pedestrian in one important respect; he is likely to be seriously injured in almost any collision with a motor vehicle.

If your streets are thick with motor vehicle traffic do not ride in the traffic unless it is an emergency, and then at crossings always dismount your bicycle and walk the bike across in the pedestrian area.

If you ride your bike at night, be sure to have the bike equipped with a headlight and a red rear light or red reflector on it. Don't ride anyone on your bike with you. This prevents a clear view and makes balancing of the bike difficult.

Keep your bike in good condition, and do not practice any stunt riding, day or night. Do not ride your bike too far and too fast at any one time. This practice will make you tired and any tired bicyclist is not a safe rider.

Some 43 million young Americans will head back to the class rooms in the early fall. Let's prepare ourselves and be on the alert to cut down on the accidents and hope for no deaths during the coming school year.

License Examiner Hocutt urges bike riders to observe the above rules and follow them when traveling to and from school. He urges bike riders to make this the safest year ever.
