KIDS LOVE FLAMELESS ELECTRIC HEAT

Meet Dean and Keith Alsop, sons of Mr. & Mrs. John Alsop of Lake Waccamaw, N. C.

Dean and Keith like flameless electric heat, because it's evenly warm all over the house. It's safe too—no flames or fumes or red-hot surfaces to touch. Their Dad, John Alsop, puts it this way, "After using our electric baseboard heating for over a year, we are well satisfied with both performance and economy. Having thermostats in each room is a desirable unique feature of electric heat."

A thermostat in each room is a unique feature of electric heat—it allows the bath to be warmer when small boys are taking a bath, and it means their bedroom will be just the right temperature for sleeping even if Mom and Dad want the living room cooler at the same time.

This room control is just one of the many benefits you will enjoy with flameless electric heat. The Alsop family and over 7,000 other families served by CP&L are enjoying them now. Why not join them? Call your nearest CP&L office, today. Your new home or your present one—either can be equipped with flameless electric heat.
