

SECOND SESSION COUNTY COUNCILS AT CHAPEL HILL

Secretaries Colby and Lane Will
Be Among Principal
Speakers

CHAPEL HILL, July 13.—The second session of the state and county council, to be held at the University of North Carolina, August 17-19, is going to have as its principal speakers Secretary of State Bainbridge Colby, former Secretary of the Interior Franklin K. Lane, and former Assistant Secretary of Agriculture Carl C. Vrooman. Announcement to this effect has been made here recently by Professor E. C. Branson, following a conference in Governor Bickett's office with the heads of the departments at which tentative plans were agreed upon.

Subjects of Talks.
The exact dates and subjects of the talks to be made by the outstanding speakers have not been definitely fixed, but the topics will certainly relate closely to North Carolina problems. "The federation of the public welfare forces of the commonwealth, state and county," is the general subject of the first day's sessions, and as at the first meeting, the plan will be to bring together state and county officials engaged in all manner of public welfare problems so that they can relate their work more closely and tie in with other agencies doing the same manner of work.

State Officials Session.
One session will be handed over to the state officials, the heads of departments, commissions and bureaus, who will try to see if they cannot hitch their work up a little more closely than they have been able to do heretofore. Governor Bickett will lead off in this meeting with the opening address. Another session, with Dr. Howard Odum, of the University faculty as the opening speaker, will give the county officials dealing with public finance, schools, welfare, health, highways, and safety a chance to see how they can fit into a federated scheme of doing business.

A third session will include both state and county officials. Present plans call for this discussion to be led by E. D. W. Connor, of Raleigh, T. M. Pittman, of Henderson, Henry A. Page, of Aberdeen, D. C. Brummitt, of Oxford, W. C. Jones, of High Point, Victor Bryan, of Durham, J. H. Matthews, of Windsor, John Sprunt Hill, of Durham, Joseph Hyde Pratt, of Chapel Hill, and others.

Dormitories for Visitors.
Visitors coming to the Hill for the council will be accommodated in the more modern of the University dormitories and at the University dining hall, but the number will be limited. Professor Branson said, to 400. Music, recreation, and moving pictures are promised in abundance, and the University and state officials in charge think they are going to beat the first session of the council, which met here in September, 1918, the first of its kind in the country. That council attracted wide attention in educational and public welfare circles throughout the United States and is regarded here as the father of the courses for social workers of all kinds which are now being given in the summer school and which will be continued in the new school of public welfare of the university.

ENTER PSYCHOLOGY, EXIT ANGRY WIFE!

Woman Charges She Worked as Servant White Husband and
Girl Tutored Her

LOS ANGELES, Cal., July 10.—Mrs. Festus Edward Owen, wife of a professor of psychology at the university of Southern California, who was dropped from the faculty because he started divorce proceedings, has filed an amazing cross complaint in the superior court.

Mrs. Owen mentions Miss Margaret Hamilton as the mentor of Professor Owen and as having been appointed psychology tutor by the professor to give his wife instructions in the difficult subject.

Among the mental cruelties alleged the wife declares that between the recitations and study hours of her psychology class her teacher compelled her to drudge, scrub and wash, and do other menial labor in the home of her teacher, where, she asserts, her husband took her for study.

It was only a short time after her husband began his study of psychology with Miss Hamilton, the wife declares, that she noticed that he began to manifest a lack of love toward her.

Miss Hamilton, who conducts the association of applied psychology, declined to talk at length on Mrs. Owen's charges, but summarized her denial with the sentence: "I hope the poor woman comes to her senses some day. Professor and Mrs. Owen and their family live here in my home as my friends."

YOUNG CHURCH WORKERS ARE TENDERED A SOCIAL

One of Groups of Mutual Endeavor
Union of Free-Will Baptist Church Honorees

Group number one of the Mutual Endeavor Union of the Free-Will Baptist church, gave a very delightful entertainment Monday evening, at the home of W. E. Gaskins, No. 80 New street. The social was tendered as a result of a contest for new members during the past six weeks, this group winning. However, there has been splendid work on both sides, and the entire union has been greatly strengthened.

Mr. Gaskins had the lawn around his home illuminated, and the arrangement for the enjoyment of those participating was perfect in every way. Refreshments were served on a long table, on the lawn, and consisted of cool drinks, ice cream, cake and watermelons. The occasion was enjoyable in every way, and was largely attended, not only by the young people, but several older ones participating in the pleasures of the evening.

"CRUELLY HANDSOME" IS WIFE'S TERM FOR MATE

"Hopeless Flirt, Too," Says Spouse,
Now Divorced—A Sad
Story

SAN FRANCISCO, July 10.—An elopement in 1912 in which social and university circles were interested, came to an unhappy ending when Judge E. E. Morgan granted an interlocutory decree of divorce to the beautiful Mrs. Frances F. Cordova, from Joaquin F. Cordova, secretary of the Ecuador legation at Washington, D. C.

"My husband is handsome, cruelly handsome," testified Mrs. Cordova. "He is the son of wealthy South American parents who sent him large remittances. In addition, he earned a good salary. That was the cause of my unhappiness—that and the fact that he is a hopeless flirt."

Mrs. Cordova said she and her mother, Mrs. Clarissa McDonald, were sent by Cordova from Washington to California "to make a visit." She said he ceased sending her money and later quit answering her letters.

The pair formerly were students at Stanford university.

PHYSICIAN FINED, FAILED TO REPORT VITAL STATISTICS

Dr. Brooks, of Blowing Rock,
Cited as Warning to Others

RALEIGH, July 13.—As a result of investigation and prosecution by the state board of health, Dr. J. E. Brooks, of Blowing Rock, has been convicted in five cases for failure to report births, as required by the state vital statistics law. In the first case a fine of five dollars was imposed, and in the four succeeding cases a fine of ten dollars in each instance was imposed, making a total of forty-five dollars, in addition to the court costs.

The law requires the prompt reporting of both births and deaths. The attention of Dr. Brooks was called to the act that he had failed to file the necessary birth certificates in these cases, but no response was received by the state vital statistics registrar. The prosecution follows.

Dr. Brooks is one of the most prominent physicians in the state, a man who has played a leading part in the state medical society. He was formerly superintendent of the state sanatorium for the treatment of tuberculosis, and has recently, with the endorsement of the state health officer, been appointed whole time health officer for Chatham county, the latest county in the state to inaugurate a whole time health department.

Commenting on this and other recent prosecutions instigated by the state board of health, Dr. S. W. Rankin, state health officer, said:

How the Law Reads.
"The laws with regard to the accurate keeping of vital statistics and the prompt reporting of contagious diseases are fundamental in health work. Their enforcement is a duty imposed upon the state board of health, and the board intends to continue its policy of making prosecutions when other methods of securing compliance with the law fails. In this the board is no respecter of persons. While there is no personal feeling attached to any of the cases which are brought into court by this department, at the same time most good is accomplished through the conviction of some prominent citizen who is a leader in his community or section of the state than in the case of a more humble defendant. The whole purpose of the prosecutions brought by this department is to give warning and thereby deter others from violations of the law. It is for this reason that publicity is given to convictions secured."

COUNCIL MEATS

Better Meats That Cost Less
No Waste · No Ice Needed
Always Tender
Ready-Cooked To Perfection

Stop Buying Water- at the price of meat

A GOODLY part of the meat you buy is water, and when the meat is cooked much of the water in it—for which you have paid—goes off in steam. The water is just so much more waste for which you pay, just like the uneatable trimmings.

Council Meats in cans are ready-cooked—the water isn't counted in the weight for which you pay. Neither is there any waste, for every bit of a can of Council Meats is good nutritious food.

And it is so easy to prepare Council Meats!

Take Veal Loaf for instance. To prepare it yourself at home means a good bit of work and trouble and time. But when you buy Council Veal Loaf it is all ready-cooked and it only has to be warmed in the can—opened—sliced—served. All the other Council Meats are just as easily served.
