

USING GAS TO GET CRIMINALS

Kentucky National Guardsmen Drive Murders Out With Gas Bombs

(By Associated Press.)
JACKSON, Ky., Dec. 15.—First use of gas in the case of criminals in Kentucky was scheduled to be made by Kentucky national guardsmen who are hunting three members of the mob of mountaineers who last Saturday attacked the Brevert county jail, killing a man and fatally wounding a woman.

Tear gas, which the guardsmen brought here in hand grenades were to be thrown into the cave where the three men are hiding.

LEAVE ON A HUNT FOR ZOOLOGICAL SPECIMENS

(By Associated Press.)
NEW YORK, Dec. 15.—Equipped with "dust" shooting pistols to bring down high flying insects that cannot be netted, Jesse H. Williamson and John W. Strohn, a retired army captain, will sail from New York tomorrow on a steamer for the jungles of Brazil on behalf of science. They are carrying 2,000 grains of quinine, for they plan to penetrate beyond the River of Doubt in their hunt for hitherto undiscovered specimens of zoology for the University of Michigan.

EIGHT BURNED TO DEATH; OTHERS INJURED IN DETROIT

DETROIT, Dec. 15.—Eight persons were burned to death and three others critically burned early today when the two-story frame house they occupied in Ton-Mile Road burned to the ground.

Seven of the dead are children ranging in age from one to ten years. The father of four of the children perished with them. Three of the other children were those of a sister of the dead man's wife.

SOCIETY

Mrs. Wadsworth is Hostess

The Country Club was the scene of another brilliant social function yesterday afternoon when Mrs. Harvey Bryan Wadsworth entertained at one of the season's most beautifully appointed bridge parties in compliment to Mrs. Hunter Holmes Elmore.

Newspaper the club took more picturesque than on this occasion, with the Yule-Tide decorations of the famous long leaf pine, mistletoe and holly. Miniature pine trees were arranged around the entire ball room as to have the effect of frowning, and the bright open fires with glowing yule logs lent cheer and charm to the decorations which breathed the spirit of the holiday season.

Mrs. Wadsworth, who received her guests in a lovely gown of gold and black, was assisted by Mrs. Elmore, who wore a becoming gown of coral gorgette and silver lace, with a corsage of violets and orchids; and Mrs. Hayward Gulon, in black lace and satin.

Attractive and unique place cards marked the guests' places for the enthusiastic games of auction bridge and parcheesi.

Each table had, as a prize, a beautiful silver pencil, which was presented to the fortunate one making the top score of the table. These prizes were presented by Mrs. Hayward Gulon at the close of the games.

The serving of delicious refreshments was a finishing addendum to the pleasures of the afternoon. Each guest's place bore, as a favor, a miniature basket, artistically filled with bon-bons.

There were fifteen tables and those enjoying Mrs. Wadsworth's hospitality were Mrs. Mark DeWold Stevenson, Mrs. Wade Meadows, Miss Margaret Bryan, Mrs. George T. Willis, Mrs. Tom Williams, Mrs. R. L. Dashiell, Mrs. Robert Wilkins, Mrs. Chas. Abernethy, Mrs. George Roberts, Mrs. Royal Turner, Mrs. Carrie Moore, Mrs. John T. Hollister, Mrs. Tom Marriner, Miss Mary Louise Waters, Miss Bessie Hollister, Mrs. Joseph Patterson, Mrs. Raymond Hollock, Mrs. C. S. WHY COUGH AND COUGH AND COUGH?

ARE you going to let it stick and become a chronic condition? Of course not! Not when you know you have a preparation like Dr. Bell's Fine-Tar-Honey to loosen it up and so allow Nature to rid you of it.

This preparation is second to none for its soothing, relieving effects. Coughs, colds and bronchitis, quickly relieved by Dr. Bell's Fine-Tar-Honey. Keep it on hand. All druggists, 30c.

President Asks Careful Study of The New Treaty

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15.—The Treaty of Washington was signed today, in the simply furnished diplomatic room at the State Department, the representatives of the four great Powers of the Pacific affixed their signatures to the new treaty, designed to replace the Anglo-Japanese alliance and to guarantee the peace of the Pacific for at least ten years.

The treaty was signed as privately as it was negotiated. Only the plenipotentiaries of the four great Powers participated in the simple ceremonies in Secretary Hughes' outer office. There were scarcely any spectators other than a few State Department clerks and attaches. Press representatives were not admitted. The Americans were the first to sign, then followed the delegates from the British Empire, France and Japan in the order named.

Following the signing of the treaty and explanatory appendix was signed by the four powers. Its text follows: "In signing the treaty, this day between the United States of America, the British Empire, France and Japan, it is declared to be the understanding and intent of the signatory powers:

1.—That the treaty shall apply to mandated islands in the Pacific Ocean; provided however, that the making of the treaty shall not be deemed to be an assent on the part of the United States of America to the mandate and shall not preclude agreements between the United States of America and the mandatory powers respectively in relation to the mandated islands.

2.—That the controversy to which the second paragraph of article one refers, shall not be taken to embrace questions which according to principles of international law lie exclusively within the domestic jurisdiction of the respective powers."

Russian Peasants Are Now Adopting "Show-Me" Policy

(By Associated Press.)
RIGA, Latvia, Dec. 15.—Russian peasants and laborers tired of promises of a Communist utopia, and have come to the "show-me" stage, Premier Nikolai Lenin said in a recent speech before a congress of Political Educational Workers, at Moscow.

The full text of this sensational speech, parts of which relating to Lenin's admissions of economic failure were cabled from Moscow at the time it was delivered, has just reached Riga, as reported by the official Moscow Pravda.

"There was a time," Lenin said, "when declarations, proclamations, decrees, etc. were necessary. We have had plenty of them. There was a time when it was necessary to show the people what we wanted to build. But can we continue to show and only tell the people what we want to build? No! Even the simplest laborer will then scoff at us, saying: 'You are always talking of what you want to do, but show us now what you can do. And if you can do nothing, then go to the devil! And he will be right!'"

Speaking about the absence of education and the prevailing illiteracy of the Russian population, Lenin said that the very fact that a commission had to be appointed for the liquidation of illiteracy "shows, to say it as gently as possible, that we are something like half-savages. For in a civilized country, it would be considered a shame to create commissions for the liquidation of illiteracy. In other countries they have schools where they liquidate illiteracy. They teach, in the first place, to read and write. As long as this fundamental problem is not solved, it is ridiculous to talk of a new economic policy."

Lenin said that Soviet laws and propaganda were good, but could not succeed until the masses of people helped the regime.

Several hundred thousand "obnoxious and useless Communists," he said should have culture which will teach us to fight red tape, corruption and bribery. Experience has shown that a politically educated states knows no bribery, whereas with us, bribery is rampant."

Lenin said the government was facing three principal foes, first, Communist arrogance, second, illiteracy, and third corruption and bribery.

W. C. T. U. LEADER HAD STATUE OF BOOTH ERRECTED IN HIS YARD

(By Associated Press.)
PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 15.—The short skirt of it, if nothing else can be said in its favor," Mrs. Elizabeth O. Middleton, of Kansas City, Mo., director of the world's and world's and national Women's Christian Temperance Union, said yesterday in an address to a group of high school girls.

It is only natural girls should want to wear short skirts, she said. "of course, the length should be a happy medium. But the short skirt and unrestricted waists are a boon to girls because of them they are healthier."

METHODIST MEETING TO ADJOURN TONIGHT

(By Associated Press.)
MEMPHIS, Tenn., Dec. 15.—Draft of recommendations to be made to the next general conference to be held in Hot Springs, Ark., was on today's program of the annual meeting of the educational association of the Methodist Episcopal church in session here.

The convention went on record last night as favoring closer co-operation with other denominations in the interest of Christian education and named committees to confer with the educational boards of other churches.

The conference will adjourn tonight.

FIXING PRICE OF EGGS ENJOINED IN CHICAGO

(By Associated Press.)
TROY, Ala., Dec. 15.—Burial here today of Pete Carter marked the passing of a man who erected a monument in his own yard to John Wilkes Booth, slayer of President Lincoln. Carter died at the home of his son and his body was brought here for burial.

Soon after the war between the states Carter bought the monument and attempted to erect it in the town square. His plan, however, was frustrated. Not to be outdone, he erected the shaft in his own yard where it stood until removed by unknown persons a short time ago.

CHICAGO, Dec. 15.—A mandatory injunction against the Chicago Mercantile Exchange—"the butter and egg board"—was issued today by Judge Rush, of the Circuit Court.

The injunction was issued on petitions of Barney Kauffmann, a wholesale butter and egg dealer, who said he had a carload of eggs on the tracks but could not move them. The injunction restrains the board from fixing the price of eggs speculating in eggs or controlling the influx of eggs. Egg prices in Chicago have advanced sharply of late.
