FIRE FIGURES MADE PUBLIC

State Suffered Half A Million Dollar Fire Loss During Month of October

RALEIGH, Nov. 20.—Fire figures for October depress Insurance Commissioner Wade, who put on a grand program, sent the gospel to the uttermost parts of the state and then had a foot up one of the most disastrous totals in many months of campaigning.

The state suffered losses of $740,123 and there was a salvage of more than $1,300,000. Rural fires ran to $53,350. Two of these blazes alone cost $415,000 and the two almost matched the whole of September which was $400,393. The $200,000 fire at Clinton and $215,000 at Farmville reached the magnitude of great disasters and North Wilkesboro had a $30,000 burning.

Greensboro, Salisbury, Mount Airy, Hickory, Rockingham, Elizabeth City, Nashville, Sanford, Benson, Pinehurst and Wake Forest had no fires at all. These were the most delightful names to Mr. Wade. Wake Forest is a miracle. That city and college of the deep water faith had no fire for 12 consecutive months. No other town with an organized fire department anywhere in the state has any such record. The Foresters have finished the year summa cum laude while the other towns mentioned have come through with an ordinary cum laude, or at best magna cum laude.

Fifteen of these fires last month were in the $5,000 and more class. There were only 10 such the month before. Of the 158 fires in the state, 143 made a total of less than $125,000. This is a decidedly agreeable aspect of the losses. But 80 residences suffered and that is not encouraging. Defective wires and sparks on shingle roofs caused 44, 38 came from unknown causes, six from short circuit.

HENNESSEY SAYS HE MADE NO MISTAKE

"Tanlac has overhauled my whole system and fixed up my stomach so I digest what I eat better than I have in years," is the unqualified statement made, recently, by Harry Hennessey, a well-known railway trainman, living at the Railroad Y. M. C. A., Gibson, Ind.

"After I got a good start on Tanlac my stomach trouble, headaches, nervousness and backaches which I had suffered from for a year or more pulled right out and left me. Up to this time I always got up mornings tired and worn out and it was all I could do to keep going through the day."

"One of my neighbors told me there was nothing like Tanlac for building a man up to good health and I soon found out he was right, for three bottles of the medicine has put me in as good condition as I could ask to be. Tanlac is sold by all good druggists."

The unwritten law has been recognized so much lately that it seems as if they might as well get it written.
