NO MESSAGE FROM PRESIDENT HARDING

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5.—President Harding made no appearance today by presenting the second day of Congress to pass without delivering his annual message reporting on the state of the union, and outlining the administration's recommendations for legislation.

It was said at the White House that no date had been fixed for the President's appearance before the Senate and House, but that he expected to be able to complete his message in time to deliver it before the end of the week. Officials add no formal explanation for the delay but indicated that pressure of public business had prevented compliance with the usual custom under which previous presidential messages had been placed in the hands of Congress on the first or second day of the session.

The population is reported fleeing from the city. The bandits according to the telegrams demanded $100,000 ransom for the delivery of government officials and police in their hands. The outlaws hold out for the appointment of their chief as governor of the port.

DOUGHBOYS HELP HUN CHILDREN

American Soldiers Making Up Purse To Give Children A Big Christmas

COBLENS, Dec. 5.—The American doughboys in the Rhineland are making up a purse of many millions of marks with which to give German youngsters a real Christmas. The Rhineland post of veterans of foreign wars started the purse with 300,000 marks, and every soldier in the American forces is giving at least the equivalent of one dollar, which is more than 3,000 marks. Top sergeants are entrusted with the task of seeing that none of the soldiers forget to contribute. Relief work already has begun among the German poor. A number of soup kitchens are operating, supported largely by officers, and the veterans committee is collecting clothing and toys which are to be distributed to the German children at the customary Christmas tree of the American forces in Germany.

N. Y. SUBMERGED ONE TIME; SAID

New York, Dec. 5.—Though many people have a general idea that large parts of the United States have at times in the past been covered by the ocean, it is perhaps not so generally known that the continent is even now rising in some places and sinking in others. Not so very long ago, in a geologic sense, the Hudson River flowed through a deep canyon or gorge at New York City. Soundings show that this ancient gorge extends through New York Harbor and far out to sea. The land surface in this region has evidently been lowered, allowing the ocean to creep in on the land, fill the old river channel, and in places wholly submerge it. The ocean at one time submerged more of the land about New York than it does now, for in excavations made for some of the skyscrapers the remains of oysters and other salt-water animals have been found. By the nature of fossils they found, the paleontologists of the United States Geological Survey have been able to tell approximately when and how far the ocean invaded the land. They have found evidence of a submergence that was wider and older than that which now floods the ancient Hudson River gorge. New Yorkers need not, however, feel alarmed about the up and down of their island, for though this submergence is not so very old geologically, the geologist thinks and speaks in terms of thousands and even millions of years.
