

A REPLY TO THE EDITOR

"Walk into my parlor," said the spider to the fly," and the editor walked in. In a bitter tirade and criticism of our article in the paper last week, addressed to the voters of Caldwell county, the editor has thrown the fat in the fire, and now a discussion of the bond issue is in full swing, and what seemed to be a certain victory for the bonds ten days ago seems now to be a doubtful issue. If the people can only understand what they are voting for, the bond issue will be voted down, but such misleading statements have gone out that the people do not understand the real issue. The impression is being made that if the bond issue should carry the State and Federal governments would give $750,000 to help the county, when, as a matter of fact (and every intelligent man knows it) the State and Federal governments will not give one cent if the bond issue carries to work in the rural districts. The State and nation will only give such amount in case the county will give one-fourth, and there is no necessity for an election in order to obtain State and Federal aid. The commissioners already have the power to issue bonds for the State highways roads, and if they will the State will give one-fourth, the nation one-half and county one-fourth. Why don't the county commissioners act on that law? As stated before, it does not require an election to do this, and when the highways are built, which will take several years, then if the rural districts want to build branch lines from their districts into the State highway the matter can be voted on.

The editor says we are making a desperate effort to get the matter into politics, and to help line up the Republicans against the measure. He intimates that the Republicans will follow his leadership and judgment rather than this writer's. That may be so, but we are willing to accept the challenge. This editor has been running a newspaper in Lenoir for several years, pretending to be independent, when he has never lost an opportunity to hit the Democrats, even to refusing the Republicans space in his paper for pay to state their views. Now is this not independentism with a vim? Again, the editor says that the new registration was not called in order to aid in voting for bonds, but to aid in selling the bonds to better advantage. Now, we do not know whether the editor meant to be facetious or did not know what he was talking about or was attempting to mislead the people. There is not an intelligent man in the county but knows that the registration was ordered in order to carry the bond issue, and that fourteen Democrats and only two Republicans were named as registrars, and yet he says there is no politics in it. We confess we are surprised at the three gentlemen who did this, for they are usually fair men. With fourteen Democratic registrars and the election machinery behind them, when they apply the steam roller and the election machinery as they usually do in this county, the Republicans know what that means, for they are past masters in manipulating an election. If the Republicans want to follow that sort of leadership the opportunity is offered to them.

The editor again, under the heading, "Why the change of heart?" attempts to misrepresent this writer, when the article itself shows that I favored working public highways by State and Federal aid, and favor it now. Be fair, Mr. Editor, and do not make such palpable blunders. You say my argument is not legitimate and that I am resorting to political prejudice. You know, or ought to know, better. The people pay for your paper and you should not pervert or conceal any public matter, and if you are not informed about these things you ought not to attempt to discuss them. You are getting up a splendid paper in our county; you are energetic, newsy, and have a promising future before you, if you will be fair, but you cannot make it by concealing matters of public interest from your readers.

Chapter 67 of the laws of 1917 expressly states that a new registration shall be required at the first election, which was held two years ago, and still the county commissioners had no registration. If the bonds had been carried in 1917 it would have been null and void. See section 9 of this chapter. Section 11 provides that a second election may be held, and that election has been called for next month, and the law says no new registration for such second election shall be required; and yet in the face of all law the commissioners have ordered a new registration. In our opinion, if the bond issue should carry the election would be null and void and no bonds could be issued. Why the commissioners made such a blunder we do not understand. What the commissioners ought to do, in our opinion, is to take advantage of the Pharr-Matthews bill and issue $100,000 in bonds, ask the State to give a like amount, and the Federal government $200,000; go to work on our highways, and when they are completed the people can see whether

THE RESULTS VERY WONDERFUL

Wilmington Man Claims Dreco, the New Herbal Remedy, Did Him Much Good

Just because you are not incapacitated from your business or pleasure, the warning of stomach trouble should not go unheeded, or serious results are bound to follow. These warnings take the form of dyspepsia, indigestion, dizziness, nervousness, constipation, headache, backache, pains the back and side, that tired, rundown feeling and various other symptoms of a deranged stomach, which can be restored to its normal condition by Dreco, the great herbal compound. Under the influence of its great restorative effect these symptoms rapidly subside. It clears up the liver, kidneys, bladder, and enables these organs to perform their proper functions; eliminates uric acid from the blood, which causes rheumatism, and brings back the flush of health to pale cheeks by enriching and purifying the blood.

Mr. F. B. Futrell of 102 Orange St., Wilmington, N. C., says: "I have been bothered with constipation, and stomach full of gas, indigestion and dyspepsia. I have taken Dreco and the results are wonderful; all my troubles are over and I feel fine again. I am glad to endorse this medicine."

Dreco is sold by all good druggists throughout the country and is highly recommended in Lenoir by the Lenoir Drug Co.

they like what is being done and ask for an election to vote on a bond issue for the rural districts. I admit it is doubtful if the county could get State and Federal aid. There is so much red tape about it, but that is the best we can do. The Federal government offers $40,000 a year for ten years.

If the discussion of this bond issue can be carried on and the people informed as to the true meaning of what is going on the bonds will fail, and the editor has fallen into the hole and the people are interested in what is being said and done. Did you ever see a minnow dart at a piece of bread thrown in on the water and pull the bread in a few inches, when it rebounded and threw the minnow high and dry? See?

Under the present operation of the election, in our opinion, if the bond issue carries, no bonds could be sold, and if they were our courts would not hold that they were legal and valid. We trust the editor will continue his bitter and sarcastic attack upon our article, for nothing can do more to bring about the defeat of the bond issue than these attacks. I surmise that the editor did not consult with older and wiser heads when he wrote his bitter editorial last week criticizing our position. It is a mighty bad time right now, in our opinion, to build public roads. Never before has labor and material been so high, and it perhaps will never be so again, but who cares for expenses when the county has to pay them? And how many men right now have their eyes on realizing liberally should this $250,000 be spent in the next few years in this county? But the boys in the sticks will have to pay the bill, while the gentlemen in town will be comfortably fixed. This is largely a fight between the country and the towns, and we are with the country boys.

We again urge all voters to see the registrar in their township and have their names put on the books. These registrars will see that the names of all voters who favor the bonds are placed on the registration books in time to vote, but if a man is opposed to the bonds his name will not be on there unless he asks the registrar to put it there. Again we say this is the most important matter ever submitted to the voters of this county. Two hundred and fifty thousand dollars principal and $750,000 interest is a pretty big amount to pay for the little work that the county would receive from this bond issue. In all matters the party who makes the first move is entitled to close the argument, and we shall see if the editor is fair enough to follow precedence of this kind. We hope it will not be necessary for us to have anything further to say in the paper about this matter. If the editor treats us fairly in his rejoinder we shall be content. M. N. HARSHAW.

DR. SOLF TO BE GERMAN AMBASSADOR TO THE U. S.

A dispatch from Berlin says that Dr. William S. Solf, former German minister of colonies, will probably be the first German ambassador to the United States after peace is signed, it was learned at the foreign office. After the revolution Dr. Solf became foreign secretary, but resigned on Dec. 11 last because of the unfriendly relations between himself and the independent socialists. He was colonial secretary in the Kaiser's government, and one of the most uncompromising imperialists until the war went against Germany.
