ing North Carolina.

The figures also give the country who were born in England, 932 in Russia, 703 in Germany, 650 in Cantada, 669 in Asia and 551 in Greece. written. Altogether 43 nations are represented in the population make-up of the State. The foreign-born residents range from England with 967 to one for Bulgaria and one for the Atlantic Islands.

The census figures attest to the "native stock" composition of the folks of the Old North State. The same is true of South Carolina, also covered in Saturday's statistics. Of the group of states announced along with North Carolina the totals of foreign-born white citizens are given as follows:

Illinois, 1,204,403; North Dakota 131,486; South Dakota, 82,372 South Carolina, 6,401; Ohio, 678,647; Oklahoma, 39,951; Oregon, 102,149; Pennsylvania, 1,387,298; Utah, 56, 429; Texas, 630,071; Tennessee, 15. 479; Virginia, 30,784; Washington, 249,818; West Virginia, 61,899; Wisconsin, 459,904; Wyoming, 25,243.

Against the few thousand foreign born in North Carolina, which has long been noted for its pure American stock, the census finds that there are more than 13,000,000 foreignborn white persons in the entire United States. Figures for the whole of the United States have been prepared by the bureau for the early use of Congress and are subject to revision, but are regarded as substantially accurate.

In the United States, according to these preliminary figures, there were 13,703,387 foreign-born white persons enumerated as of Jan. 1, 1920, as compared with a total of 13,345, 545 in 1910, an increase of 358,442, or 2.6 per cent. This small increase is due to the almost complete cessation of immigration for more than five years preceding the taking of the 1920 census, as well as to emigration tion of immigration for more than on account of the war.
