The fine roads in Nashville township offer an unsurpassed invitation to automobilists of Rocky Mount and Wilson, who come over in good numbers and who pronounce our roads the finest they have seen in eastern North Carolina.

While Rocky Mount District has some very fine roads, in several instances the worst public bridges in the county can be found on some of the main roads leading to that place. Especially bad and dangerous is a bridge about two miles from Rocky Mount on the Nashville road, near the Watson place. The fellow who built it is certainly deserving a medal for his lack of reasonable judgement.

The largest number of rats (the real article, not the kind usually used by the ladies) ever seen in Nashville were piled up near the barn of Dr. John T. Strickland on Monday when a force of carpenters were moving the building. More than one hundred and twenty-five of these pests were killed by the men at work. The sight was enough to have made a John Chinaman's mouth water.

Mr. Atlas B. Windham, representing the Atlantic Coast Realty Co., of Greenville, N. C., was in the city yesterday and to-day in the interest of his Company, who are going to conduct a big sale of valuable real estate near the border of Nash county, in the vicinity of the old Mann Arrington gold mines, about eleven miles north of Nashville. An will be seen by reference to the advertisement elsewhere in The Graphic, the Atlantic Coast Realty Co., are planning a big day in that section on Monday, June 3rd.

With Mrs. McCauley.

The members of the Friday Afternoon Club drove out to the lovely colonial home of Mrs. J. A. Matthews, near Castalia on last Friday, where Mrs. McCauley most charmingly entertained from four to six o'clock. The period between the revolutionary war and the war of 1812 was the subject for the afternoon. Mrs. Cockrell gave a very fine paper on the social and political situation of that period. Mrs. Burton entertained the Club for a short while by reading and speaking of some of the most prominent men of that time, and Mrs. Vaughan gave a very good and instructive talk on the Indians of that day. After the Club adjourned the hostess presented each one with a dainty card and pencil, and with much laughter and merriment a floral contest was indulged in for fifteen minutes. Mrs. Vaughan and Mrs. Ward having answered the same number of questions correctly, drawing straws to decide which should have the prize, resulted in Mrs. Ward being the successful one, and a lovely cut glass olive dish was presented her by the hostess. The guests were invited into the dining room where dainty refreshments were served in two courses. The table was beautifully decorated with cut flowers artistically arranged, and ribbon coming from the center of the table to each place with a pretty souvenir attached gave a beautiful effect. Those present were Mrs. Cockrell, Mrs. Burton, Mrs. Bissette, Mrs. Strickland, Mrs. Ward, Mrs. Creech, Mrs. Vaughan and Mrs. Matthews. Mrs. McCauley made a very charming hostess and all spent a most delightful afternoon.

The County Primaries.

Unofficial reports from all the townships have been received and show that in the primaries held last Saturday the following nominations were made for the various county officers:

For Sheriff, Joseph G. Wheelless, Treasurer, Samuel S. Gay, Register of Deeds, J. B. Boddie, Coroner, James P. Battle, Commissioners, Albert F. May, A. Frank Manning, W. H. Glover, W. E. Jeffreys, John N. Taylor, House of Representatives, John L. Paul R. Capell, Senator, T. T. Thorne.

While some figures have been given out as to how the votes were polled in the various townships, they are unofficial and inaccurate, hence The Graphic will not attempt to give a full tabulated statement until the correct figures can be secured from the canvassing board, which meets in Nashville next Saturday.

Railroad Fare Paid.

On account of Charlotte's being the largest city in the State of North Carolina, and in the heart of the manufacturing interest of the Carolinas-making it easy to get positions for students, the Draughton College at Raleigh had been consolidated with Draughton's Business College at Charlotte. Draughton's Charlotte and Knoxville Colleges are now offering to pay railroad fare as a special inducement. Write Draughton's Business College, Charlotte, N. C. or Knoxville, Tenn., for particulars.

It will take more than millions to compensate for manhood lost when the supreme test comes.

PORTRAIT OF AYCOCK

Presented to The Graded School at Spring Hope.

An interesting and happy event attendant upon the closing exercises of Spring Hope Graded School last week was the presentation of the portrait of the late Charles B. Aycock, by Miss Frances Blount Renfrow, through Mr. John C. Matthews, who in making the presentation speech said:

"Ladies and Gentlemen:—It often happens that a man who has risen to prominence among his fellows, and whose actions for good have won him fame, is made the recipient of a grand public ovation from the people among whom he has lived, and to whom his living presence is an inspiration. It seldom happens that such a life, having completed its career and passed out of the world, leaves a memory, the mention of which will evoke the sweetest response from the public heart.

"No such tender tribute can ever come to the man, whose record for good is but an incident to his place of power. It has been decreed that honors, elections promotions to power shall proceed just as their receiver has rendered people service in their civil life.

"No man in our time has quite so well lived up to this ideal as the great Educational Governor, whose mighty will and force still speak to us though his golden tongue is silenced. Not a flatterer, not a time server, not a cringer not a crawler, not a worshiper of ancient mistakes, not a slave to the clamor of the mighty and man, but the fellow servant of a whole State, Charles Brantley Aycock is to have that peculiar place in the hearts of his people, made by manifold affection of man for man. We love him because he first loved us.

"A few years ago, there passes from these schools one of your own, the first child born in the good town of Spring Hope, the daughter of that former sterling citizen, Mr. Perry V. Renfrow. It was her lot to live near to Governor Aycock, first as his stenographer, and later as his political secretary. She served him faithfully, and of her he himself said: 'A finer little woman does not live. There's nothing too good for her,' and she knew the great soul of the man and loved him. As one who has received much from him, she wishes to give back to those whom she loves, some of the joy of that daily contact. This, she has chosen to do by this splendid picture, whose tender, loving features you may behold every working day. She gives it in the spirit in which her precious friend gave all to a State struggling up from poverty and ignorance into knowledge and general power; who shortened his days on earth in preaching the gospel of Universal Education and equal opportunity to every child born on the earth, and died in the heat of the conflict sending his burning message to the people of a sister Southern State—his last word the word he loved—EDUCATION! She sends this portrait to her girlhood school, and her wish is that you may catch from it the joy to face hard tasks bravely and to meet the call of every duty with joy and hope; that you may catch the spirit that filled the life of our dead hero—the spirit of service. It is the gift of love out of the pure heart of Miss Francis Blount Renfrow, and if you may find half the happiness in the receiving that she does in the giving, her reward is great indeed.

"It is with pride, we sent from our town a young woman who of all the women in the State, was fitted by heart and hand to serve so closely the greatest man our State has produced, and we share with her the honor and glory. We are proud and happy that a Spring Hope girl was the only soul to hear fall from his immortal lips the words of the last message he left for his people, and that she had so trained herself that she was able to give to the world those last words of his which more clearly than all others tell us how he loved us:

"We stand a-tiptoe on the misty mountain height and see the morning sun make purple the glories of the east. We are entering upon a new day, the day of equality of opportunity, the hour when every man shall be free to work mightily for himself until his soul, filled to satisfaction,

These may be prosaic days, but every now and then comes proof unmistakable that "greater love hath no man than this, that he lay down his life for his friend."

What Texans Admire is hearty vigorous life, according to Hugo Tallman, of San Antonio. "We find," he writes, "that Dr. King's New Life Pills surely put new life and energy into a person. Wife and I believe they are the best made." Excellent for stomach, liver or kidney troubles. 25 cents at the Nashville Drug Co.

faction, shall overflow with a common benefit to mankind, owing no tribute to anyone and bound only to love his fellow-man and serve his God as to him may seem best.

"Equal! That is the word. On that word I plant myself and my party—the equal right of every child born on earth to have the opportunity to bourgeon out all that there is within him."

"I present to you, children of the Spring Hope Graded Schools, this portrait of the beloved Educational Governor of North Carolina, Charles Brantley Aycock."

STRAYED!—Large, black mald hog. To anyone capturing or returning same, or notifying me of capture, suitable reward will be paid. L. W. BODDIE, Nashville, N. C.

DON'T SAY YOU'RE OLD

You Only Feel Old

Digestive organs are weak—don't assimilate food as they used to. Other organs act more slowly and less effectively.

Blood is thin and sluggish. Renewal of strength does not equal the wear and tear of your system.

That's what makes you feel old. Nothing in the world will tone up and invigorate those weak, back-sliding organs, make rich blood and create strength so quickly as Vinol.

Vinol is not a secret nostrum, simply the medicinal elements of the cod's livers, with the useless nauseating oil eliminated, and tonic from added. Try a bottle of Vinol with the understanding that your money will be returned if it does not make you stronger, feel younger and give you an added interest in life.
