SWINDLING THE LADIES.

Cheap Department Store Lace Sold to Concord Ladies as the Real Irish Article.

The Irish girls who fleeced the ladies of Charlotte by selling them department store lace for "real Irish lace," evidently made some handsome profits out of their business. Like most other business enterprises when prosperity knocks at the door, they decided to increase their business and cover more territory making Concord one of their places of operation. As a result there are a number of ladies in this city who possess a large supply of lace and an equally large supply of wisdom. If the Irish girls secured as much business in Charlotte as they did in Concord they themselves can wear real Irish lace or real anything else they might take a liking to.

The Irish ladies, as they termed themselves came over to Concord the latter part of the week and succeeded in selling a large supply of lace at fancy prices with very little effort. About all they had to do was to show their goods and collect the good coin, although they did meet with two ladies who required them to show something of the art of salesmanship before they made the sale. After inspecting the lace very closely and comparing the prices of Irish lace with just plain, common, ordinary lace for several minutes, these two ladies succeeded in "jeweling" the Irish girls down on the price from $7 to $4. One of the ladies said that she did not regret being fleeced so much, but if she could only keep her husband from knowing the fact. As a result of the Irish girls' visit here there is little doing in the lace market.

Mr. Taylor, of Reelfoot Lake Fame in Asheville.

An interesting visitor in Asheville is R. V. Taylor, of Trenton, Tenn., and his daughter, Mrs. Anthony. Mr. Taylor was the person who made the miraculous escape from the night riders of the Reelfoot Lake district about two years ago at the time Capt. Quinten Rankin was killed. At that time the night riders, claiming that they were enraged because the fishing privileges of Reelfoot lake had been revoked they proceeded to break their vengeance upon these two men. Mr. Taylor, escaping from the night riders, jumped into the lake, and as he did, the night riders turned their guns upon him. He dived under the water and by his powerful swimming was enabled to make a hairbreadth escape. In fact, the night riders thought they had riddled his body with bullets. However, a day or so afterward Mr. Taylor made his appearance.

News from Forest Hill.

Mr. June Sapp, of Charlotte, is spending a few days in the city with his mother on North Church street.

Messrs. Chester Howard and Chas. Cress have gone to Rockingham, N. C., where they have secured work with the Thompson Construction Co.

Miss Cordie Bunton returned to Kannapolis yesterday after spending a week in the city with home folks.

A great improvement is being made on North Church street in adding a sidewalk to the west side. It adds very much to the general appearance also.

Mrs. Evvie Kime Emery, of Saco, Maine, expects to arrive in Graham today and will spend some time visiting with her sister, Miss Annie Kime.

An Insult to the World Young Egyptians Say.

The young Egyptian committee, at Geneva, Switzerland, has issued a violent protest against the sentiment expressed by Theodore Roosevelt in his London speech, in which Mr. Roosevelt declared Great Britain should show a firmer hand in Egypt. The committee declares the speech was an insult not only to Europe and Egypt, but to the whole civilized world.

James J. Hill Refuses to be Alarmed.

James J. Hill, the railroad magnate, noted as an optimist, is undisturbed, despite the government's action to restrain railroads from advancing freight rates, and the Wall street situation.

"The present uneasiness in Wall street is more feignings than otherwise," he declared; "there is no excuse for alarm upon the part of anybody."

Early "Roasting Ears."

Mr. J. P. Allison tells us that he had "roasting ears" for dinner today from the fine patch of corn in his garden which we wrote about some days ago.

The Lenoir News says that Mr. Hoses Bradford, of Caldwell county, was a Confederate veteran and his six sons and three sons-in-law were also Confederate soldiers.

AN APPEAL TO PATRIOTISM.

North Carolina People Should be as Patriotic as the French and Buy the State Bonds.

On June tenth the State Treasurer will open bids for the last time for State bonds. Unless there are bids for the $2,211,000, unsold bonds by that date, the Legislature will meet on June the fourteenth to authorize a temporary loan to pay the bonds that fall due on that date and give time for placing the full issue of bonds.

The stringency in the money market, and the glutting of the bond market with two hundred million dollars of securities at this time have made it impossible for New York or Philadelphia or any State to float four per cent. bonds this year. Rich investors who are offered five per cent. securities, in a time when interest rates are going up, do not desire four per cent. securities. Just as the North Carolina bonds were offered, the Carlisle committee representing the Repudiated Fraudulent Reconstruction bonds, issued a circular containing false statements intended to injure the sale of the present bonds. It was shrewdly worded as are the attacks upon a woman's honor. Bonds, "like Caesar's wife, must be above suspicion." The name of Carlisle gave weight to the unfounded damaging statements about North Carolina's credit, and in a time of money stringency these statements hurt the sale of the bonds.

Now is the time for North Carolinians to come to the rescue and take these bonds. They are as good as gold. This is to you: Write today to the State Treasurer or see your banker and subscribe for as many bonds (they are in $500 and $1,000 denominations) as you can take.

You can do your State great service now. See the State Treasurer's advertisement in this issue and let North Carolinians subscribe for this bond issue before the tenth of June.

North Carolinians in this emergency should show the same patriotism as France showed. The most gilt-edged security in the country is a North Carolina four per cent. bond.

"Fug" Hicks Manager.

It was currently reported late last night that Rowe Hicks, first baseman and field captain of the Greensboro baseball team, had been made manager of the club to succeed the late Manager Beusse and that Beusse had been signed as catcher for the local club.

The Daily News reporter called at the headquarters of the ball club at the McAdoo hotel last at about 11 o'clock last night and inquired if there was "anything doing" in a baseball way and was told that no decision had as yet been arrived at.

As a matter of fact President Sterne told a Daily News reporter yesterday afternoon that he was negotiating, through Manager Bradley, of the Richmond team for a first-class man to take hold on the Greensboro club and that he had hopes of being successful in his endeavors.

Whether or not Hicks has been made permanent manager remains to be seen.

Meeting of Board of County Commissioners.

The board of county commissioners is in session today. The usual routine was gone through with at the morning session, the only matter of interest being the question of granting the drug stores license to sell whiskey on prescription. It developed during the discussion that the drug stores had been handling whiskey since the first of June without county license. All of the drug stores that held license last year were granted renewals and the Means Drug Co. and the Eureka Drug Store were also allowed license. There was no evidence before the board that any of the stores had sold whiskey since the first of the month and if it develops that there has been a sale it was intimated at the meeting this morning that the board would take some action in the matter.

TAFT FEARS SOCIALISM.

Next Great Problem that Confronts People, He Declares.

President Taft last Saturday in a speech at Jackson, Mich., proclaimed socialism as the great problem that confronts the American people, the issue that is soon to come and that must be skillfully met.

On the question of socialism the President said in part:

"For the future all I can say is that the issue that is being framed, as it seems to me, is the issue with respect to the institution of private property. There are those who charge to that institution the corporate abuses, the greed and the corruption that grew out of those abuses the unequal distribution of property, the poverty of some and the undue wealth of others and therefore say:

"We will have none of it and we must have a new rule of distribution that for want of a better name we shall call socialism."

"On the other hand it is contended that it is not the institution of private property that should be abolished, but only that the time has come in which it is necessary to lay down certain rules restricting the use of that private property which shall not deprive the world of individual effort but which shall still keep the law and the opportunity to use private property under such control that those abuses may be wiped out and the boon of individual effort still be left us.

"Now, that presents a great and difficult problem that I am quite willing to admit we have not yet solved, and the question which the country will have to determine after all is which party it is which has heretofore shown sufficient skill and effectiveness in dealing with great issues, will have determine after all is that problem than which we have had no greater in the history of the country."

Railway Bill is Passed.

Washington Post, 4th.

The Senate passed the so-called administration railroad bill at 10 o'clock last night, thus ending a contest between the insurgents and Republican regulars which has run on, fore or less generally, for almost three months.

The closing scenes in the debate on the bill were characterized by a grand rush on the part of the insurgents to seats on the organization band wagon. Not an insurgent voted against the bill, which went through by a division of 50 to 12.

All who voted against the bill were Democrats, so that President Taft will have the satisfaction of reflecting that, notwithstanding all the dust and smoke that had been kicked up in the long Senate fight, the bill has finally emerged a real party measure.

Says He Saw Cook at Peary Lecture.

A London dispatch of June 4 to the New York World is as follows: Dr. Frederiek A. Cook was in the audience at Albert Hall when Peary lectured before the Royal Geographical Society, according to a man who says he recognized him and informed The World correspondent today. Apparently Dr. Cook came to London especially to hear Peary.

The informant further said that Dr. Cook by bleaching his hair, growing a beard and adopting other disguises has so altered his appearance that his identity is well concealed. He seems to have plenty of money.

Frost Predicted for Every Month this Year.

Frost every month in the year, except perhaps in July, is the sad intelligence communicated to a cold and chilling populace in Western North Carolina by the oldest inhabitants. According to Deputy Sheriff C. F. Williams, there was frost in 1835 in every month except July. This was the year that Halley's comet made its appearance, and that year was known as one of the coldest. It was also, it is said, the year when the people of that section came very nearly starving to death.

Inland Waterway Will be Opened in November.

The work on the inland waterway is being pushed rapidly and the canal will be opened for traffic in November. The two dredge boats are about one mile apart. The United States government dredge Cape Fear is working on the bar. The sand is pumped aboard and taken to sea and dumped. There is about 18 feet of water on the bar now.

Kayser's Chamoisette Gloves, 50c
 There Are Many Cheaper Gloves but None so Inexpensive

Chamoisette is the favored glove of the hour with the particular woman. It possesses all the advantages of real chamois with its own desirable features of lightness and coolness.

Cleaned in a minute, dried in a minute, ready for wear—a new glove—in a few minutes, and such a smart, practical Summer Glove.

KAYSER'S—REAL—CHAMOISETTE
 We emphasize these three words because so many inferior grades are offered as chamoisette at 5c. or 10c. less than this price. They are not the true chamois color and are not nearly the VALUE that these are. Of what significance is a lower price if the quality is unworthy?

KAYSER'S 2-clasp length, fine soft nap, made and finished like a kid glove with the double drawn backs, all so closely resembling real chamois that it is difficult to tell them apart. The color wanted is the soft, creamy natural chamois color; perfect washing and drying. Exceptional value at 50c

Complete range of sizes in Kayser Silk Gloves—the Glove that wears.
