The work is well under way on improvements at Peace Institute, Raleigh, to cost about $8,000, and be completed during the present vacation season. A special art studio building and another for music and a complete laundry building are among the most notable features of the work in progress.

Of course the pugilist should stand up for his rights, but it's the left that generally hands the knock-out.

Mrs. Garsed to Entertain.

Charlotte News. A pretty hospitality will be extended by Mrs. Edward Garsed to her attractive little guest, Miss Lucy Richmond Lents, of Concord, this afternoon, in a party which she will give from 5 to 6:30 at her lovely home on North Church street. Invited to meet the little Concord guest are:

Misses Margaret and Marie Washburn, Adelaide Caldwell, Mab Harrison, Susie Herndon, Jean Hughes, of Lancaster, S. C., Ada Heath Montgomery and Jack Montgomery, Helen Finch, Julie and Marie Hagood, Mary Brock, Mary Brevard Alexander.

About 5:30 Miss Elizabeth Sherrard is to join the children and will tell them kindergarten stories. This, with Mrs. Garsed's charming hospitality, will make the afternoon epochal with all her young guests.

Charlotte News: The Concord Tribune has celebrated its tenth birthday. It begins its new year with bright prospects, but makes no boasts of what it has done or of its intentions for the future, simply stating that "the city of Concord will be given the very best daily paper the patronage will admit," a pledge we know The Tribune will keep. Nothing more can be demanded of it by its patrons. Here is long life and increasing prosperity to it.

ELK NOTICE

Corsets and Corset Fittings.

Corseting today is not the mere matter of form it used to be—the buying of the necessary size without thought of the model you were getting. Today it is the real art in dress—the secret of why your gown does not fit. In American Lady Corset we have a corset for every figure. Each and every distinct model has straight and perfect lines, giving your figure perfect shape and allowing your garment to fall in straight lines.
