CONCORD, N. C., Sept. 1, 1910

Anent the publication of one-sided accounts of the Doughton-Cowles debates at Lenoir and Sparta, the Greensboro News says:

We suggest that the Salisbury Post, Concord Tribune and other Democratic papers which severely criticised the first report as well as those which garbled and distorted it, apply their rule of fairness to this one.

The Tribune did not publish either of the accounts, as each was so manifestly warped by the partisanship of the writer as to make both unworthy of acceptance. We publish today a non-partisan report, which is probably nearer the truth. And in passing we want to add that in our opinion, very little, if any, good is ever accomplished by joint political debates.

More Brains in His Belly Than in His Head.

News and Observer, 30th.

Some weeks ago, Mr. Bob Doughton, the Democratic candidate for Congress in the Eighth District, invited his competitor, Charlie Boy Cowles, of Force Bill notoriety, to a joint canvass of the whole Congressional district. Charlie Boy would and he wouldn't, and after Doughton declined a partial joint canvass, Cowles went to Doughton's county and there they had a joint debate. An editor or reporter of the Wilkes Patriot (doesn't Charlie Boy own that paper?) sent out a telegram that Cowles chewed up Doughton and then swallowed him. Some days later a Republican paper complained that, whereas certain other papers printed the report that Cowles had eaten Doughton alive, the News and Observer had refused to print the story.

We plead guilty to the charge. This paper did not print it for three reasons: 1. We knew that it wasn't true; 2. We knew that if Cowles had swallowed Doughton he would have more brains in his belly than he ever had in his head; 3. We knew that if Cowles ever got in into his head that he had got the best of Doughton, he would be so elated that he would strut himself to death and therefore be out of the race before November.

All this talk about one speaker eating another alive is generally partisan braggadocio. Usually each side thinks his man has done well and occasionally some noted speaker like Vance, or Glenn or Ayecock or Kitchin demolishes the argument of his opponent. So far as Cowles and Doughton are concerned, those who have heard them speak know that neither is a Vance. Doughton is a vigorous and frank speaker, who deals sledge-hammer blows and wins armed with a righteous cause, will win over his competitor. Cowles is more plausible than able, and while he can talk smoothly, is not a debater and couldn't eat alive anything more virile than a last winter's hogchoker year of wesofoif year's bird nest. Monday, these two candidates met at Lenoir, Caldwell county. That is good debatable ground, being a close county, which the Republicans have now carried three times in succession. Elsewhere is a report of the debate by a fair-minded correspondent. It shows that Mr. Doughton is well able to take care of himself and that while he didn't eat Cowles alive, (fearing indigestion from the force bill Charlie Boy), he gave the Congressman all he could stand and made votes for the Democratic party in Caldwell county. That county will go Democratic in November—that will be the answer to the debate.

If Mr. Cowles, with his force bill and advocacy of full negro suffrage, thinks he can make votes by joint debates with Mr. Doughton, he will at once withdraw all his "ifs" and "ands" and partial appointments and agree to a full canvass of the entire district with his opponent. Words do not count. It is deeds.

NAGGED HIM INTO PNEUMONIA.

Anyway That's What Charles F. Winters Says in His Petition for Divorce. Kansas City Star.

Many a man has been "nagged" into his grave by a scolding wife. Charles F. Winters, a Kansas City accountant, says his domestic troubles drove him to pneumonia and mighty nearly cost him his life. Just as soon as he was able to do it he brought suit for a divorce from Bessie A. Winters and announced his intention to tell the court all about it.

Married life, Mr. Winters says in petition, has been one long quarrel; no grand sweet song in it for him. He and Mrs. Winters were married in 1903 in Bourbon, Ind. It wasn't long, he says, until he discovered he had worries in sight, for Mrs. Winters scolded him day and night until it drove him into pneumonia. Furthermore, the petition continues, the wife acquired an annoying habit of holding a revolver to her head and threatening to kill herself if Winters moved. He didn't move until January last when he left home and stayed away. Now he asks his freedom.

Bed Bugs Live Forever.

Charles C. Tharpe, of Iredell county, writes The Landmark thus:

How long does a bed bug live? Can some one tell me? I examined a few days ago the cracks of an old house, known to us as the Dr. Gage old house, below Harmony, which had been moved some 14 to 15 years ago and converted into a corn crib. The house was vacant four or five years before it was moved and made into a crib. The good lady has set a hen in a box nailed to the crib and she noticed that the hen was very restless and would come off the nest frequently. She examined the nest and says she found at least a pint of bed bugs—chinchies—in the straw in the nest. The writer happened to be at the place and examined the cracks in the old crib and found them full of old-looking live chinchies as thin as wheat bran. If any one doubts this come to me and I will take you to the crib. In no other way except by being in the old building could they have come there.

Ballinger May Not be Whitewashed.

Secretary of the Interior Ballinger may not be exonerated by a majority of the committee which investigated charges against him, after all, according to a report which gained circulation in Washington Tuesday, and which in some quarters was looked upon as bearing great political significance.

Common report has given credit for months to the statement that the committee would vote 6 to 5 in favor of Ballinger. With Root not voting and with McCall on the other side, the result would be reversed, and the verdict would stand 6 to 5 against Ballinger. In such event Ballinger would practically be forced from office.

Gale is Lashing Coast of Texas.

The gulf storm, sweeping in shore along the western coast of Texas increased in severity Tuesday, and the gale shows little indications of abating.

Near Point Isabel several large fishing smacks are reported beached.

A Rio Grande passenger train, which left Brownsville Tuesday morning, reached Point Isabel shortly after noon minus the roof of one coach blown off en route.

Heavy rains are reported over a large area of the Rio Grande valley.

A Spongy Cow.

Siler City Grit.

We have often heard of raw-boned horses being treated to a good dose of soda just before court-week by the inveterate horse-swappers in order that they might present a sleek appearance, but we have never before heard of an inflated cow made so by natural means. A friend was in The Grit office some time ago and told us of a cow he owned recently. This cow apparently was a fine robust cow that should have dressed, when killed, at least 400 pounds. When she was killed and weighed, she only dressed 325 pounds, 75 pounds less than she should have. The flesh was there in quantity but not in quality, for when pressed in the hand it would ball into a small knot and when the hand would be opened that small knot would expand in a heap the size of a large pan. This curious freak was investigated and was found that the cow was a self-feeder, in other words, she sucked her own milk, and consequently instead of acquiring fat she filled her tissues with false fat that was spongy and not material.

The inflation of stocks and bonds on the stock exchanges of our country might find a parallel here; also the increased value of property in this country after the tax listing period in June. That old cow was saving herself the trouble of earning her own living, but in doing so, she reckoned not of her future nor of the drop in values that would result. As ye sow, so also shall ye reap!

Beware of Agents.

Progressive Farmer.

Once again, don't be led to buying sewing machines, ranges, or any sort of household or farm equipment from traveling agents. These men must have a living from their work, and you pay the extra cost this entails above the profit of the manufacturer, wholesaler, and retailer. In many cases this added cost is 50 to 100 per cent of the price of the article obtained direct from the manufacturer or from local merchants. The agent's story that his goods are better than those you can get at less cost from your merchant or from the manufacturer can always be safely disregarded. The agent may believe what he is telling you, but that is no reason you should. The highest grade articles can often be had from the merchant, and invariably at a lower price.

$100 Reward, $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address: F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. Sold by druggists, 75c. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

About as good a way to study human nature is when you are driving on the public road. If a man is willing to observe the laws and the courtesies of the road, he will duly give his share of it when meeting another, and shows he is willing to do the gentlemanly thing about it. But when you meet one who takes every advantage of those he meets, and holds the road for his own selfish self, often to the great discomfort of those he meets, or will not allow them to pass, we are almost sure to think of pork in connection with such drivers of teams.

Greensboro Telegram.

Neither Democratic nor Republican Congressmen have any business using their franking privilege for mailing personal letters. We mentioned Sunday a case where Congressman Morehead, a Republican, abused his franking privilege and The News on the same date unearthed a letter written by Congressman Webb, a Democrat, and with equal impropriety franked in an official envelope. Men in high place are the ones who should have the keenest scruples about resorting to anything that is the least bit questionable.
