RAILROAD.

One of the most prominent eitizens of Norwood writes us as follows: "Your railroad article was read by our people with a great deal of interest.

"How would it suit Concord to agitate a line out by Mt. Pleasant and then on down the Buffalo creek country and merge into the proposed Charlotte and Mt. Gilead road at Locust Stanly county?

"The writer hears that a pioneer party will go over the proposed line just ofter the Christmas holidays locating roughly the best course certainly there is considerable interest aroused in Stanly county and we think it will lead to material devel-

'Of course the writer is very anxious for Concord to figure. It is possilble that the old survey of the Concord and Aberdeen until it cuts the Charlotte and Mt. Gilead would appeal more strongly to the people of Concord than to go by way of Mt.

"At any rate we hope you will con-tinue to advocate a road wherever it seems most practicable."

We publish this letter to show our people what others are thinking of and to help arouse interest in the building of this proposed railroad. We shall have much to say anon.

NO PAPER SATURDAY AND MONDAY.

The Tribune has not missed an issue since the office was moved into its present quarters, not even Thanksgiving day. However, at this glad Christmas season we know our readers will not want to deny the editor and his force a little respite from the strenuous work and grind of the print shop. No paper will be issued tomorrow or Monday and the next issue will appear Tuesday.

Farmers in this county are much concerned over small grain they have sown, most of which is barely up. The dry and cold weather have combined in keeping it back. G. G. Aldridge, of the Cottonville vicinty, says he is yet in good hope. Last year, seed sown in November stayed in the ground until February, and very little of it had "come up," and the past season's crop was one of the best. Mr. Aldridge is clearly an optimist, and one of his remarks to us was "the man who can't pay for his paper this year is a poor sort of fel-

A Marry Christmas Jest.
An old chronicle contains the following quaintly worded ane-dote:
There was some time an old knight who being disposed to make himself merry in a Christmas time, sent for many of his isnants and poor neigh-bors with their wives to dinner, when having made meat to be set on the table would suffer no man to drinke till be that was master over his wife. should sing a caroll; great niceness there was who should be the musician. Tet with much adoe, looking one upon another, after a dry hemme or two, a dreaming companion drew out as much as be dare toward an old fashoned ditty. When having made an end, to the great comfort of the beholders, at last it came to the women's table, when likewise commandment was given that there should no drinke be douched till she that was master over her husband had sung a Christmas caroll; whereupon they fell all to such a singing that there was never heard such a catterwaling peece of musicke. Whereat the knight laughed heartily, that it did him halfe as muche good as a corner of his Christ-

First Christmas Observance. Christmas gets its name from the mass celebrated in the early days of the Christian church in honor of the birth of Christ, its first solemnication having been ordered by Pope Telespho-rus. This was in or before the year 188, for in that year Pope Telesphorus

At first Christmas was what is known as a movable feast, just as Easter is now, and owing to misunderwas relebrated as late as April or May. In the fourth century an occlesiastical investigation was or dered, and upon the authority of the tables of the censors in the Roman es Dec. 25 was agreed upon as the date of the Saviour's nativity. Traon fixed the hour of birth at about nt, and this led to the celebration of a midnight mass in all the ches, a second at dawn and a third in the later morning.

Christmas Candle and Tree. The old custom of the lighting of the Christmas candle, which is still observed by the Irish peasantry, chiefly at Candlemas or Old Christmas day, ne quite obsolete in England. A relic of the observance in England is, however, preserved. An old stone socket carved with a lamb is shown in the buttery of St. John's college, Oxford, which was used in former days for holding the Christmas candle. The Christmas tree was practically unknown in England a little more than half a century ago. It was introduced into this country from Germany, where the Christmas tree has been a popular Books, for 1911,have arrived, and feature of Christmas eve festivities for we ask all our subscribers to come in centuries, by the prince consort shortly after his marriage.-Westminster Ga-

Dogs are more numerous in No. 2 (in some homes) than all other ani-mals combined. The dogs had taken charge of the doorway and play-ground at New Gilead, and when Auerey, the 8-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Misenheimer went out of the school room, he was attacked by one of the dogs and bitten slightly in the face before it could be driven way. The boy's father, who lives 100 ards from the school house went out to the school yard and killed the dog. Mr. Misenbeimer was going to slay all the other dogs were a thing of the shells would have been enough, but when the one dog made his death yell the other dags were a thing of the past and have been at the Gilead

One of our farmers finished sowing wheat this week. The land had been too hard to plow. It may be on time as early sown wheat is just showing up since the recent rains.

Mr. P. G. Cook, of Concord, killed ed two hoge eleven months old that weighed 755 pounds net. Mr. Cook got 184 pounds lard from the two ogs, and yet some people in Concord kick about hog raising in the town and the same people kick about high priced hog of any kind. Why, Mr. Editor, there could be 70,000 pounds f pork raised in anl around the suurbs of Concord, (owners keep high iry pens) and the hog stench would not be as much danger to humanity, s some other things too plain to be seen without any comment.
