A BOND ISSUE.

An editorial in Wednesday's Charlotte News in regard to a proposed bond issue makes interesting reading, and just now it is applicable to Concord, as a bill has been introduced at Raleigh to allow the Water and Light Board of Concord to issue bonds for $50,000. It is all right to make public improvements when they are needed, but at the same time, it is also advisable to look into the methods of spending large amounts of money. We reproduce a part of the News' timely editorial for the benefit of the Concord public.

The News is anxious to hear more details of the plans of the bond advocates.

What means are to be adopted to increase revenue to such an extent as to meet heavily increased interest burdens? And if such plans are formulated, where is the million to be spent—exactly where and how? Also who is to handle the amount? Will all sections of the city share alike the vast investment of improvement funds? These are matters about which the average voter, who pays the freight desires to know. The city needs improvements. There is no doubt of this and the News yields to none in its desire to see the pressing needs supplied. But, before we bond future generations, is it not the course of wisdom to sit down and soberly count the cost?

Supposing all property in the city were assessed according to its true value, would there be any necessity for issuing one million dollars in bonds? If there are no other means by which these needs can be supplied, The News favors bonds—that is for specific purposes, and under certain conditions. As stated before, it is a matter upon which it is almost impossible to form an intelligent opinion until more light is thrown upon the subject.

A very bad state of affairs seems to exist in Albemarle according to a dispatch in the Charlotte Observer of this morning from that place, and the same conditions exist in other places and would be made public if the officers only had the nerve to enforce the prohibition law. We congratulate the good people of Albemarle on having an officer of the law in Justice Ewing, who, on learning of the situation, did his duty in arresting the guilty parties.

Three Delightful Entertainments at Mt. Pleasant This Week.

Three numbers of the Lyceum course provided by the Collegiate Institute and Mount Amoena Seminary will be given in the Auditorium this week. The first of these will be the dreamy old legend of Rip Van Winkle which clings to the American people more closely than any other written story. This will be presented January 25th by Herbert A. Sprague, who is ably assisted by Floy Mahan Sprague. Mr. Sprague is regarded by American critics a worthy successor to Joseph Jefferson in his mastery interpretation of Rip.

On the evening of the 27th and 28th, Hamibal A. Williams will appear in King Henry IV and Othello. Mr. Williams is a Shakespearean scholar of international reputation, and is certain to please in his interpretation of the great dramatist. Lovers of high class entertainment will appreciate the entire program.

Harriman Record: W. C. Fink, who has been manager of the local office of the American Telegraph and Telephone company for over two years, has been promoted and will go to New Orleans to take charge of that district the first of the month. Mr. and Mrs. Fink have made many friends during their residence in the city who, when they are glad Mr. Fink has received a well merited promotion, are very sorry to see them leave Harriman.

REFORMED BREAD TOO SUCCESSFUL.

Old English Squires Delighted With Orders for Loaves.

Mr Oswald Mosley, master of Rolleston Hall, Burton-on-Trent, England, has found himself suddenly benefitted by his wonted peace and his large estate overwhelmed with the clamorous importunities of the world.

Mr Oswald recently announced his intention to start a national bread reform. The newfangled methods of milling and the artificial non-nutritious white bread, according to the Rolleston squire, were ruining the teeth of people and undermining their health. He purposed, therefore, with his little stone mill and the aid of the baker of Rolleston village to produce a whole meal loaf of the saving perfection of English bread in the days prior to false teeth, indigestion and appendicitis.

Stream of Messenger Boys.
For the first day Mr Oswald confined his purpose to supplying sample loaves to the villagers about Rolleston Hall. Then, urged by outsiders, he consented to forward a sample loaf to anybody in the country who sent three pence (3 cents). Scarcely had the announcement been made when telegraph boys began to stream to Rolleston Hall, and the next post brought the biggest mail ever seen on the estate.

Mr Oswald had a shooting party at his house and wished to go out a little, but this became impossible, and the guests were compelled to shoot alone, while the astounded squire was bottled up with a flood of telegrams and letters asking for whole meal bread baked in the old way.

Compelled to Cancel Offer.
After a few hours' struggle, during every moment of which they say the squire became more perplexed and distracted, he dispatched telegrams to the newspapers withdrawing his offer, saying that the little stone mill and the village baker already had more than they could do in five years.

Mr Oswald and a clerical staff are busy returning money to the great landowners who wished to start similar enterprises on their own estates and to health societies, millers, bakers, doctors and all sorts and conditions of men.

However, the master of Rolleston, who is one of the few really typical John Bulls left in the country, with sawed off top hat, mutton chop whiskers, broad face, short, thick body, knickers and top boots, hopes eventually to help others carry bread reform to success.

BISMARCK MEMOIRS HELD UP.

Volume Criticizing Present Kaiser Secret Until His Death.

It is announced from Berlin that the third volume of Bismarck's memoirs will not be published during the present kaiser's lifetime. The first two volumes were published some years ago and contained many interesting revelations concerning political events of the period of Bismarck's official career and many side lights on the history of those times.

The third volume is known to contain an unfavorable account of the present kaiser, written in connection with the circumstances which led to Bismarck's dismissal from office in 1890, two years after William II's accession to the throne, when the Iron Chancellor conceived a fierce hostility toward the young, impetuous monarch.

SWISS HAVE ELASTIC ROADS.

Tar Coated Gravel Proves Inexpensive, Lasting and Noiseless.

An interesting experiment has been made with promising results at Zurich, Switzerland. Fine gravel, the grains averaging from one-twentieth to one-twelfth of an inch in diameter, the whole carefully freed from earthy substances, was coated in a revolving drum with tar. These pellets were then carefully dried and hardened and after eight or ten weeks were spread during dry weather in a thick layer upon a prepared roadbed and rolled.

The road thus formed is inexpensive, possesses a certain elasticity and is said to withstand well the effects of heavy traffic. The durability of a slightly elastic road for saving wear and tear and suppressing noise is evident.

Railroad Built Quietly.

An eighty-nine mile railroad in North Carolina, in the construction of which no wood was used, recently was completed and opened for service in fifteen months from the time work was started.
