There is a church in New York city, on Fifth avenue, which is accessible only to people who come in automobiles. It pays its pastor $12,000 a year to minister to the depraved souls of the congregation. He likes the job for its salary and tone. If Christ could walk into the pews occupied by trust magnates and cruel monopolists and listen to a speech by a man who gets one thousand dollars a month, what would He say?—Winston Sentinel.

And yet some people wonder why the churches in New York and other cities do not reach the people, and why their influence on the life of a large city is so little felt.

Charlotte's newspapers are not free horses to be ridden to death. A hot municipal campaign is on in that town and the brethren are pinning all about it at space rates.—Greensboro Record.

A newspaper's space is its stock in trade, and there is no more reason why it should be free to a political advertiser any more than any other sort.

Wife Weary of Life Tries to End It.

Charlotte, March 15.—While Police-man Joseph McCarver, of the Charlotte police force, was sleeping soundly at his home at midnight last night, he was suddenly awakened by the deafening noise of a pistol shot in the room. Springing from his bed he was terrified to behold the prostrate body of his wife, Mrs. Ella McCarver, stretched out on the floor, apparently dead, with a pistol lying near her head. The woman had arisen, switched on the lights, and standing between the beds occupied by her husband and by her little children, had placed the weapon to her temple and pulled the trigger. Her nervousness in all probability saved her life, for today at St. Peter's hospital, where she was immediately taken, it was given out that her chances of recovery were good.

The cause of the woman's attempt to thus tragically end her life is not fully known, though neighbors and friends had entertained fears for some time that she would make such an attempt on account of unhappiness. Mrs. McCarver, after regaining consciousness today, murmured these words, "No one to blame, I was tired of living. I did it myself."

Miraculous Escape of Man Caught in Cotton Mill Machinery.

Durham, March 15.—The Erwin cotton mill operatives yesterday witnessed the most miraculous escape from awful death ever recorded in the mill work. A. H. Hardson, who was engaged in the work of adjusting oil cups under the hangers of the shafting, was caught by the machinery and whirled over the rods. He thinks he made the revolution five times and was the coolest of all the men who saw it. As his heels struck the overhead ceiling, they were knocked from his shoes and thrown with violence fifty feet away, almost striking an old man. After tearing the clothes from his body, the machinery threw him to the floor ten feet below and as he dropped his companion fainted. The call for the doctor found Mr. Hardson without injury, even to the breaking of the flesh or a bone and he went to his work while the doctor had to administer to the fainting companion, who was sickened and almost frightened to death by the spectacle. Mr. Hardson is a large 200 pound man and he struck both the wall and the floor with tremendous force but is sore simply as the result of the experience.

Stripling to Stay in County Jail Pending Pardon Hearing.

Atlanta, Ga., March 16.—Pending the final disposition of his case by the prison commission, Edgar Stripling, erstwhile chief of police at Danville, Va., and rearrested after fourteen years freedom on a charge of murder, will remain in the county jail at Columbus, Ga., and will not wear prison stripes. His hearing by the commission has been set for April 6.

Governor Brown takes the position that while Stripling had been sentenced to life imprisonment, he escaped before he began sentence and since application for pardon is pending, which will come up to him for final action, he felt that he should take no action in the matter at this time.

Has Proved a Great Surprise.

It seems that Root Juice invariably proves a great and agreeable surprise to those who have lost all confidence in any kind of medicine, as many throughout the country who were persuaded against their will to try Root Juice are now as loud in praise of it as anyone. Many of our local people have tried Root Juice for nervous weakness, stomach trouble, rheumatism and kidney complaints, and those who gave it a fair trial seem eager to recommend it to all who suffer as they did. The remedy removes irritated and sore conditions from the inside linings of the stomach, bowels and bladder. It heals and strengthens the liver and kidneys and soon rids the system of uric acid and other poisons. The local agency is proud of the wonderful merits of Root Juice, and will gladly tell all who are in need of it of much of the great good it is doing here. Marsh's drug store.

Warning to Railroad Men.

Look out for severe and even dangerous kidney and bladder trouble resulting from years of railroading. Geo. E. Bell, 639 Third St., Fort Wayne, Ind., was many years a conductor on the Nickel Plate. He says: "Twenty years of railroading left my kidneys in terrible condition. There was a continual pain across my back and hips and my kidneys gave me much distress, and the action of my bladder was frequent and most painful. I got a supply of Foley Kidney Pills and the first bottle made a wonderful improvement and four bottles cured me completely. Since being cured I have recommended Foley Kidney Pills to many of my railroad friends." M. L. Marsh, druggist.

Serious Injury to Fruit by the Cold.

Norfolk, Va., March 16.—With a drop from balmy weather to eight degrees below freezing last night the early fruit crop is believed to be seriously damaged. Pigeon peas and peas were caught in bloom or with young fruit. Crops were reported to have suffered heavily.

In Eastern Carolina the potato crop is believed to be severely injured.

A Special Medicine for Kidney Ailments.

Many elderly have found in Foley's Kidney Remedy a quick relief and permanent benefit from annoying urinary irregularities due to advancing years. Isaac N. Regan, Farmer, Mo., says: "Foley's Kidney Remedy effected a complete cure in my case and I want others to know of it." M. L. Marsh, druggist.

SUNDAY SCHOOL.

Lesson XII.—First Quarter, For March 19, 1911.

THE INTERNATIONAL SERIES.

Text of the Lesson, 1 Kings xx, 12-21. Memory Verse, 13—Golden Text, Prov. xxxi, 4.—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Staarna.

When godly people seek the help of and rely on the ungodly it is not only a testimony against God on the part of those who bear His name, but it encourages the ungodly in their ungodliness. In II Chron. xvi we read that Asa, king of Judah, was rebuked by the Lord through Hanani the seer because he relied upon Benhadad, king of Syria.

It may have been that this fellowship of Asa with him afterwards encouraged Benhadad to ill treat Ahab, king of Israel, as he did, first demanding of him his silver and his gold and his wives and children and then threatening to send his servants to search the houses of the king and his servants and take away all their desirable things (verses 5, 6). Ahab seems to have borne the first demand with wondrous submission, but the second was too much, and Ahab by the advice of his elders so returned answer to Benhadad. This drew from him a great threat, to which Ahab replied in these words: "Let not him that girdeth on his harness boast himself as he that putteth it off" (verse 11).

We cannot but be impressed with the pains which God takes to win people to Him and to deliver them from the wrath to come, and we are amazed to see Him working even on behalf of such a one as Ahab. But it was all for His great name sake that Ahab might know Him as Jehovah (verses 13, 28). Compare Job xxxiii, 27-30, and remember always II Pet. iii, 9. What He has done for Israel in the past and will yet do for them in the future was and will be wholly for His name's sake that He may be known and trusted (Ezek. xxxvi, 22; xxxvii, 28; xxxviii, 23; xxxix, 27-29). Even to this day He is wont to show Himself strong on behalf of very unworthy representatives if only He may be known through them as the living and true God, who loves to save and is not willing that any should perish.

The great hindrance to His saving and blessing people and showing Himself strong on their behalf is their unwillingness and unbelief. How often He has had to say: "And ye would not" (Isa. xxviii, 12; xxx, 15; Matt. xxiii, 37; John v, 40). "My people would not hearken to My voice, and would despise My counsel: they have not in God and trusted not in His salvation" (Ps. xxxi, 11; lxxviii, 22).

Ahab's record is, "There was none like unto Ahab, who did sell himself to work wickedness in the sight of the Lord" (chapters xxi, xxv). The only good thing written of him is his penitence, which caused the Lord to delay judgment on him (xxi, 27-29). And yet in this lesson the Lord gave the Syrians into his hand twice, though his people were but few and the Syrians a great host. He even caused a wall to fall upon 27,000 of the Syrians. Such a manifestation of the power of God on behalf of such as Ahab is most unusual. We must think not of Ahab, but of Israel as the people of God, though in rebellion against Him, concerning whom He said: "How shall I give thee up, Ephraim? How shall I deliver thee, Israel?" (Hos. xi, 8). "O Israel, thou hast destroyed thyself, but in me is thine help." "O Israel, return unto the Lord thy God" (Hos. xiii, 9; xiv, 1).

As to the Syrians, who were at this time overthrown, it is plain that drunkenness was one of the sins of their leaders, for Benhadad and his thirty-two royal comrades were drinking themselves drunken (verses xii, 16) even while they were boasting against the God of Israel. It was not sinful Israel that they were talking against, but the wonder working God of Israel, who counts all that is done to His people, however unworthy they may be, as done to Himself (Zech. ii, 8). After the first defeat of the Syrians they said that the God of Israel was a God of the hills, but not of the valleys, and for this they suffered their second defeat, though the children of Israel were like two little flocks of kids, while the Syrians filled the country (verses 23, 27). The Lord loves to show Himself strong on behalf of all who trust in Him (II Chron. xvi, 9).

But proud, haughty, self sufficient people will always be overthrown. There is nothing that develops the self in man like wine or strong drink, and self or the carnal mind is that part of us that is incurably bad and can never be improved (Rom. viii, 7). As to the way in which wine or strong drink works—and some instances of it in the Scripture—the cases of Noah, David and Uzzah, Nabai, Elah and others might be studied with profit (Gen. ix, 20, 21; II Sam. xi, 13; I Sam. xvi, 26; I Kings xvi, 9). The record stands that drunkards shall not inherit the kingdom of God.

And even such guilty ones have been and may still be saved. Then there is that staggering and drunkenness of unbelief always to be considered in which neither wine nor strong drink is at all in evidence (Isa. xxxii, 17-18). Sinners of all grades and kinds are all about us, whom God is ready to save, and we do well to consider whether while we are busy here and there they get beyond our reach (verse 49).
