The amount so far collected through the public schools of the State for the Bill Nye cottage at the Jackson Training School, as reported in the Charlotte Observer, is $1432.00. The Observer says that all returns are now about in, and adds;

"As had been predicted Mecklenburg county takes the banner for the largest subscription of any county or city in the State, Superintendent Cochran's check being for the sum of $90.00.

While this statement may be technically correct, yet we think it is but fair to state that Cabarrus county as the Cabarrus schools, including the eity schools, amounted to about $130,00. This, we believe, was in excess of the amount contributed by the Mecklenburg schools, including the city of Charlotte.

After May 1, under an ordinance unanimously passed by our city board last night, no intoxicating liquors can be sold in Concord by the drug stores. This plan has been tried in Statesthe State, and our information is that it has been most successful. The towns that have adopted this plan have shown no disposition to revoke it. We think the action of the aldermen a wise one and they are to be commended for it.

Suppresses the News.

The Blue Mound (Kas.) Sun admits that it does not publish all the news. "For instance, this week," it says, "we have the story of a man who had his hide tanned by a combination of a girl and a buggy whip that would be good for a column. We also have the atory of a man who deserted his wife, a woman who had a shady deal with an out-of-town doctor, one man who went up against a skin game in Kanwent up against a skin game in Kan-sas City, a ladies' free-for-all street fight, an attempted suicide, and elope-ment, and a couple of puppy love scandals. No, we don't try to print all the news, and there are some peo-ple who are glad we don't.'

FOUR BIG NAMES FOR 1912. Harmon, Wilson, Clark and Bryan In Public Eye.

Special to Baltimore Sun. Washington, April 18.—Harmon, Witson, Clark and Bryan are names on the lips of nearly every one in Washington. The tariff, the Mexican situation, Canadian reciprocity and general legislation are the immediate and surface topies of discussion, but leep down underneath it is Presilential candidates in which the real interest lies, and Democratic Presidential candidates at that.

No one discusses the Republican Presidential nomination except languidly. It is taken for granted that Mr. Taft will be renominated and the hostile element of his own party is quite certain be will be beaten-and they think he wholly deserves it. Many of his own friends are depressed over the poverty of his chances, and it is so secret that Republican hopes generally are centered upon 1916 and on 1912. This situation makes the Democratic Presidential possibilities loom larger now than ever before at a period so far in advance of the choice of a candidate.

Harmon Boom First.

There have been some developments since Congres opened. In Washingon sentiment shifts and changes with kaleidoscopic swiftness, but it invariably reflects the feeling of the country. Back in January the Harmon movement was dominant here and the Harmon steadiness, conrage and conversation stood out overshadowingly. There was a decided list of the Demo- given to Mr. Clark, cratic ship toward the Ohio man and his friends felt his hand was closing on the helm. And then came a shift.

The singular success of Woodrow Wilson in electing Martine to the Senate in the face of a heretofore impregnable organization, his legislative triumphs at Trenton and his lumi-nously "progressive" speeches in the South resulted in a tremendous boost of his cause and a corresponding ville, Ashboro and other towns of slump in the Harmon stock. Southern Congressmen came into Washington with glowing reports of the over whelming sentiment in their districts other circumstances, his friends say. for Wilson. New Jersey politicians will be again make the fight. did not hesitate to declare that, so far from injuring him in his own State. his attack upon the machine had made it impossible for any combination to get that delegation away from him if he were a candidate. Taft's friends seemed quick to recognize that Wilson is a more formidable man than Harmon and more likely to be the Presi dent's opponent, and they

Bryan Upon the Scene.

Then Congress opened and William Jennings Bryan came here and put cured and has stayed cured? another crimp in the Harmon candiin many respects and to discuss the dacy. Harmon was here too; but his presence aroused no great enthusiasm. and aside from recognition of him as a residential aspirant, his visit made hardly a dent in the political situa-been a decided rise in the Champ Clark residential stock. Many peo-ple think this is due to the Bryan visic, the present speaker being accepted as the choice of the "peoriess lead-er." The tribute paid him in the William Bandolph Hearst interview is likewise considered something of a factor in the promotion of his chances but others look upon the increasing striousness with which the Clark-for President idea is being taken as largely due to Mr. Clark and the wisdom with which he has conducted himself since the November election that gave the Democrats control of the House and made him the choice of his party for the Speakership. Mr. Clark is today the most con spicuous Democrat in Washington and will continue as such for two years at least. Analists of the situation regard his opportunities for the legitimate promotion of his own Presidential aspirations as greater than those of Governor Harmon or Governor Wilson. While the Democratic caucus-Mr. Clark consenting-stripped the new Speaker of his committee-appointing power and revised the rules so as to lessen his authority, it s recognized that his is the dominaing influence in his party in the House and that the admirable Democratic program maped out for this session has been in line with his advice and wishes. If it is successfully carried through it will constitute the record meon which the residential and date of the party must rely to win in the 1912 campaign, and a large part of the crudit for the construction of this re-ord must and will be Republicans Scoming Bryan.

An interesting feature of the situation here just now is the manner in which certain prominent Republicans eratic nominee. Most of the Bryan talk in this direction during his visit here came from Republican sources, ator expressed his belief that political progress in the last four years had been such and the issues now before the people are of a character to demand Bryan's nomination again by the Democrats.

This talk has not unsettled things much, but it has given rise to the suggestion that Bryan would again be a candidate if that were the only way, in his judgment to prevent the renomination of a man considered by him a "reactionary," backed by the "Wall street interests." Under no

Listen, Senator Simmons. barlotte Chroniele.

The Washington Herald figures it out that President Taft has practically won the fight for Canadian reciprocity, as a poll of the Senate shows it will pass that body. Thirty Senators oppose the bill, but most of these, according to present reckoning "are expected one by one either to change their votes, or cease their efforts to defeat the bill by debate." The hope can be scarcely en-certained that Senator Simmons may be found in the first named class. but it is not too much to hope that he will fall into the latter, like a good fellow. He has done so many good things in Congress, that we could forgive him his anti-reciprocity vote, and we have said so, but he ought not to make any more fuss han necessary about it.
